SMALL BOY and father were killed and more than 300 people evacuated from their homes near Pickering, Ont., after a sand truck and a CPR freight train collided Tuesday. Among the derailed cars is the white propane tank car which developed a leak and threatened the nearby area.

CHILD, FATHER KILLED

70 Families Evacuated After Truck-Train Crash

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — More than 70 families, numbering some 300 persons, remained away from their homes north of here today after a level crossing accident which killed a small boy and his father.

The families were evacuated Tuesday night by police, who feared a possible explosion of 2,600 gallons of liquid propane, leaking slowly from a railway tank car wrecked in the crash of a loaded five-ton sand truck and a 115-car CPR freight train.

The crash piled railway cars as high as 80 feet, derailing two diesel locomotives and 22 cars. Two train men suffered minor injuries.

Police said they believe the dead are Allen Feeney, 30, of Pickering and son Stephen, 4.

While experts gingerly pumped the propane into tank trucks today, police said it will probably be late Thursday before the residents are allowed to return home.

Some jammed nearby motels but most found shelter with friends or relatives. Two public schools in the area were closed until the risk passes.

The boy's body was found at the side of the tracks. The man's body was not found because the tangled mass of wreckage cannot be cleared until the propane is dissipated.

Extra provincial police were brought into the area 20 miles east of Toronto to notify residents that homes must be evacuated over a three-square-mile area.

Railway officials said they expect the main line to Montreal will be blocked for at least 48 hours. Wrecker trains stood by, waiting for word it was safe to move into the scene.

Britain Resists Blockade on Oil

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Britain sought today to dissuade African members of the UN Security Council from pressing for a tight oil embargo of Rhodesia which could only be enforced by a naval blockade of all southern Africa.

Britain's Lord Caradon asked for urgent consultation with the Africans after Uganda introduced amendments Tuesday to a British resolution calling for mandatory sanctions against 12 Rhodesian exports.

The amendments call on Britain to "prevent by all means the transport to Southern Rhodesia of oil or oil products."

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 15-nation council last week his government would consider applying a limited oil embargo. Britain had in mind, however, a ban that would affect only Rhodesia and not involve a confrontation with Portugal and South Africa, Britain's fourth biggest trading partner.

The Africans said that an oil ban only on Rhodesia would be meaningless since both Portugal and South Africa have said they would continue supplying the rebel regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith. Both ship by overland routes.

British sources said the only way to stop this trade would be to bomb the land routes or to stretch a naval blockade from

AIRPORT WORKERS

Strike Killing Bill Set

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave notice in the Commons today of emergency legislation to block a threatened strike of air traffic controllers next Tuesday and immediately ran into opposition criticism.

Conservative House Leader Michael Starr said he would press for an emergency debate on the affair—a move denied Tuesday by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

"They're using a club," Opposition Leader Diefenbaker interjected at one point just after Revenue Minister Benson announced the plan to introduce legislation that would outlaw the strike.

Mr. Starr said the government didn't have to resort to legislation. It could end the dispute at once by agreeing to accept wage recommendations made in an inquiry report by J. B. Robinson.

The former Conservative labor minister referred to Judge Robinson as a "conciliator."

Mr. Benson leaped to his feet in protest. The judge had not been appointed to conciliate the wage dispute.

Mr. Starr said Judge Robinson "certainly was an arbitrator." Anybody with knowledge of labor matters knew exactly what the judge's job had been.

He said there has been "an aura of mystery" in the government's approach. It kept insisting that negotiations were going well at the same time as it threatened legislative action.

It was "pretended progress."

HOPES ARE HIGH

Mr. Benson reported that negotiations Wednesday morning indicated both sides were prepared to show greater flexibility and hope remained high for a voluntary agreement.

There would be further talks with representatives of the 800 airport controllers. These would go on today and Friday "as long as there is any hope of a settlement."

Mr. Benson said the anti-strike legislation would be introduced as soon as the rules permit. The government has also proposed overtime sittings Friday night and Saturday to deal with it.

He emphasized that he hoped this action would not be needed.

A strike deadline of 8 a.m. local times Tuesday Dec. 20, was set after the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association reported that members voted 578 to 33 in favor of strike action.

However, J. D. Lyon, president of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association, told reporters that no significant progress could be reported.

CAN'T SAY

Was the situation hopeful?

"At this stage, I couldn't say either way," Mr. Lyon said.

The union is demanding that the government adopt wage recommendations made by Judge J. B. Robinson in a report he handed to the cabinet

RED THREAT REDUCED

NATO Eyes Peace Role

By HAROLD MORRISON

PARIS (CP)—A Canadian official said today the first morning session of the NATO ministerial conference produced a strong consensus that vast political changes in Europe had reduced the nature of the Soviet military threat, thus opening the way for a sweeping East-West peace offensive.

The official also said that virtual unanimity on the decline of the Soviet threat led to agreement that "realistic" military goals can be adopted from the alliance—an indication that the so called force goals may be reduced.

Aside from the formal exchange of views in the NATO council chamber, the official reported that corridor talk indicated gathering opinion that Canada should become a member of the planned NATO nuclear strategy group which likely will be nailed down in the afternoon session.

He said this feeling that Canada should become one of the rotating members of the group appears to be based on arguments that Canada has a nuclear operational role, that she has displayed a commonsense approach and is capable of imposing a "moderating" influence on the Western nuclear trigger.

MARTIN AND RUSK TALK

'Can't Confirm Or Deny'—U.S.

(Times News Services)

The Communists charged that United States jets raided Hanoi and its suburbs today for the second day in a row. Radio Hanoi declared eight American aircraft, including a pilotless reconnaissance plane, were shot down.

There was no immediate comment from the U.S. command; which earlier said it could not confirm or deny the Communist claim that American bombs fell inside the North Vietnamese capital Tuesday and that women and children were killed.

North Vietnam called on its army and the Viet Cong today to retaliate for the U.S. air raids.

In Washington, the State Department said today American policy was to bomb only "military or military-associated targets" in North Vietnam.

But it still left unclear whether any U.S. bombs may have fallen on civilians or homes on the edges of Hanoi.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said in a Hanoi dispatch relayed from Moscow that American planes raided the city today for about 90 minutes.

"As yesterday," the Tass correspondent said, "they bombed the right and left banks of the Red River, the embankment and the area of the bridge linking Hanoi with its suburb Zyalam.

'Pirates Met by Dense A-A Fire'

"The air pirates were met with dense anti-aircraft fire. Numerous bursts clouded the clear sky. A rocket soared up, leaving a white trail behind. I saw a U.S. plane catch fire and parachute detach from the plane."

Agence France-Presse in a Hanoi dispatch from its correspondent, Jacques Moalic, said U.S. planes carried out their largest and heaviest raid yet on Hanoi. He quoted Hanoi radio as saying that eight planes were shot down and more damaged. Moalic quoted the North Vietnamese foreign ministry as saying that more than 100 persons were killed or injured in the raid Tuesday and today.

The Hanoi correspondent for the Italian Communist party organ l'Unita said that U.S. planes dropped bombs and napalm (jellied gasoline) on two populated districts only 1,200 yards from the centre of Hanoi. The correspondent in what was claimed to be an eyewitness account said "there was a massacre" among the 500 families living in the area.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported that American bombers attacked a rail yard six miles northeast of Hanoi Tuesday and a truck depot five miles south of the capital.

Targets in Swamp, Rice Paddy

He said both targets were in swamp and rice paddy areas well outside the city proper.

The North Vietnamese charged that U.S. pilots bombed and strafed "many quarters inside and near Hanoi" and said the raids constituted "an extremely dangerous step of war escalation."

Nhan Dan, organ of the North Vietnamese Communist party, called on its army and the Viet Cong to "avenge the people of Hanoi." Following the last American raids near Hanoi early in December, the Viet Cong attacked Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base.

Viet Cong guerrillas inflicted heavy casualties on a detachment of U.S. marines and South Vietnamese troops at separate outposts before dawn today.

One target was a post manned by a platoon from a company of the 3rd Battalion, U.S. 5th Marine Regiment, on the perimeter of the big marine base at Chu Lai, 52 miles south of Da Nang.

The other was the headquarters of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Regiment of South Vietnam's 2nd Division, about 70 miles south of Da Nang.

No figures were announced on specific losses.

WE SHOULD QUIT NATO, SAYS GREEN

VANCOUVER (CP)— Howard Green, former minister of external affairs, said Tuesday Canada should consider dropping out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization when the present treaty expires in 1969.

"Canada is overplaying her hand trying to help run Europe," he told a service club.

Mr. Green said that during his term of office as external affairs minister, 1959 to 1963, there was "a terrible tension" between the United States and Russia.

But he said the reduction in tension between the U.S. and Russia has downgraded the position of many of the middle - power nations, including Canada.

FOUR BLOCKS CLOSED OFF

Tanker Truck Crash Dumps Gas on Ice

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Police blocked off four downtown blocks today while firemen spread non-inflammable foam over a tanker and 400 gallons of gasoline that spilled when the truck crashed through the wall of a building.

The truck skidded on an icy curve, rolled down a 12-foot embankment and crashed rear-end-first through the wall of the Kamloops Curling Club.

About 400 gallons of the truck's 1,000-gallon load splashed onto a sheet of ice inside the curling club.

Fire Chief Tom Slater said 34-degree temperatures may have made the gasoline less volatile. Buildings in the area were not evacuated but pedestrian and motor traffic in the immediate vicinity was prohibited.

The driver of the truck escaped without serious injury.

JACKIE THREATENS ACTION TO STOP MAGAZINE PRESSES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite a threat of immediate court action by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, officials of Harper and Row and Cowles Communications said today William Manchester's "Death of The President" will be published as scheduled.

The former first lady is reportedly concerned about publication of intimate things she told Manchester in the belief that nothing would be published without her approval.

Mrs. Kennedy told Manchester about such things as personal letters she wrote to her husband from Greece a month before he was killed.

The late president's widow had a summons served on both publishing companies Tuesday notifying them of imminent court action to block publication of the book and its serialization in Look Magazine.

The book is scheduled to be published in hard cover next April 7. Look plans to begin publication of the serial version in the Jan. 21 issue, which goes on newsstands Jan. 10.

JACKIE
. . . story too personal

Ironically, Manchester was hand-picked by the Kennedy family to do the definitive writing on the assassination to prevent distortion and sensationalism.

Close associates say that Mrs. Kennedy bared her innermost personal feelings to Manchester in about 10 hours of tape recording sessions. But Mrs. Kennedy believes she had an understanding that the book would not be published until Nov. 22, 1968, and that nothing would be printed without her approval.

It has also been reported that the Kennedy family, notably Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D—N.Y., the late president's brother, was disturbed about the political implications in the book, which reportedly contains an indelicate portrait of President Johnson immediately following the assassination.

"We're going ahead," said William Atwood, vice-president of Cowles. "The presses are already rolling. I don't see any way it can be stopped. There is nothing to interfere with our right to publish. This summons is just a piece of paper. It doesn't say anything."

Atwood said he was "very puzzled" by Mrs. Kennedy's objections to the book. He said it was "hard to say" what she found objectionable about it.

CHILDREN OF ASIA FUND

A SPECIAL WAY OF CHRISTMAS GIVING

By CANDIDE TEMPLE

For one Victoria aunt, Christmas is a special way of giving.

No toys and dolls and ice-skates for her to shop for and wrap with loving care.

Her seven nieces and nephews, ranging from six years old to near adults, get a very special present each Christmastime.

It's a contribution, in their names, to the Times' annual fund to help Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova's Unitarian Service Committee in its worldwide relief work.

And for their aunt, a retired teacher and a widow who lives in Victoria, it's the best way she knows to wish the youngsters a happy Christmas, and teach them a little kindly concern for less fortunate children overseas.

Three of the children, Carol-Anne, David and Janet, live not too far away, in Seattle.

Two more, Gregg and Scott, live in Minneapolis, and two others, six-year-old twins Patricia and Pamela, live in New Brunswick.

That is a long way away—at least "it is for me," says their aunt with a smile.

For 13 years now she has been wishing them happy holidays through the Times USC fund.

And every year to let them know of their present, she sends the Times clipping about her contribution to each of the families.

Other contributions to the Share with Asian Children Fund may be sent care of the newspaper or made at the main branch, Bank of Montreal, 1225 Douglas St.

VICTORIA CROSS WON BY AUSSIE IN VIETNAM

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The Queen has awarded the Victoria Cross posthumously to an Australian soldier for bravery in South Vietnam, it was annouced today.

The medal is the highest recognition of valor given in the Commonwealth.

It went to Warrant Officer Kevin Arthur Dasher Wheatley, 28, of the Australian army training team in Vietnam, who was killed November 13, 1965.

The award's citation, released by Prime Minister Harold Holt, said Wheatley refused to abandon another warrant officer who was wounded during a battle in Tra Bong Valley, Quang Nhai Province.

the previous evening at Rusk's dinner party.

The spokesman said the discussion touched on South Vietnam, NATO structural arrangements and Martin's expressed hopes that an East-West agreement to ban the spread of nuclear weapons can be completed soon. The spokesman said that Canada's policy in relation to China was not discussed.

The NATO ministers, who launched a three-day annual study of the state of the alliance, hope to come up with a permanent nuclear strategy body that will reduce German pressure for a finger on the nuclear trigger.

Informants said Canada will get membership in this key body on a temporary rotating basis with the United States, Britain, West Germany and Italy as permanent members. Other countries being considered as temporary rotating members are the Netherlands, Greece and Turkey.

Once the structures of the nuclear advisory bodies are established and decisions taken on the timing for the removal of the NATO council — the alliance's highest body of ruling ministers—to Brussels, a major debate will be launched on how NATO can best seek warmer East-West relations, an issue on which Canada is taking a leading position.

The East-West debate, and the accompanying pressure by Canada and other countries for progress on an East-West pact to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, can mark an important turning point in the alliance.

SEEK FRENCH VIEW

The 14 member countries are seeking to learn from their maverick member, France, just how far she is prepared to go to co-operate in a joint NATO effort in its approach to the Soviet Union.

France, so far, favors a country - to - country bilateral approach. Canadian External Affairs Minister Paul Martin sought out Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's views in a private pre-conference talk. It is understood he did not draw any enthusiastic support for a united NATO approach.

The meeting today, described as a working session, is known as the defence planning committee, which is simply the 14 countries meeting without France because the main issues are military. France has withdrawn from the integrated military organization and has ordered NATO bases out of France by next April.

Defence Minister Paul Hellyer will play the leading role for Canada as the report by Defence Secretary Robert McNamara of the United States on establishing the nuclear advisory bodies is debated.

Informants said that besides the permanent members, two or three other members will be invited to sit on the nuclear strategy group this year, with a few other member countries taking up replacement positions on a rotating basis. Canada will be one of these rotating members.

MAJOR ROLE SEEN

Within the alliance the group will have a major role to play in management of Western nuclear strategy though it will have no control over American-owned nuclear warheads. It may be able to plan broad nuclear strategy without having any authority to deter the use of American nuclear arms in an emergency.

Nevertheless, establishment of this group likely will eliminate all talk of a nuclear multi-lateral force, as proposed at Ottawa by the late president Kennedy, or an Atlantic nuclear force as proposed by Prime Minister Wilson of Britain.

During the day Martin confers with Willy Brandt, West Germany's new foreign minister.

Martin is placing major emphasis on a nuclear non-proliferation pact. Elimination of MLF and ANF is considered by some experts as a way of reducing Soviet fears of a future Germany as a nuclear power and thereby increasing the prospects for a non-proliferation pact.

INCREASES PROVIDED?

This report has not been made public but union spokesmen said it would provide immediate wage increases of between 14 and 17 per cent. Controllers now start at $4,800 a year and can move through eight grades to a maximum $9,528.

Under the judge's formula, the maximum would jump to $11,820 but would only be attained after 15 years instead of the present 10.

The government says it doesn't want to make a decision on the wage question until it receives the second part of Judge Robinson's report, expected in January. This is supposed to deal with training procedures.

The Congo, on Africa's west coast, all the way around the southern tip of the continent to the northern border of Portuguese Mozambique, on the east coast.

Western sources expressed doubt that the council would approve such a drastic proposal. They predicted that Britain would use its veto if the Africans mustered enough affirmative votes.

The African amendments also would add coal and all manufactured goods to the dozen items named in the British call for sanctions. They would also deplore British refusal "to use every means including force" to smash the Smith regime.

Zambian Foreign Minister Simon Kapwepwe told the council Tuesday that the boycott demanded by Britain would "kill Zambia bit by bit" and demanded that Britain use force to bring the Rhodesian rebellion to a quick end.

IS CHIEF ROUTE

Rhodesia is landlocked Zambia's chief highway to the outside world and Zambia has been hit hard economically since the Smith regime declared independence 13 months ago.

Kapwepwe said that even if oil is put under an embargo, this could only be effective if force is used to compel South Africa and Portugal to respect the sanctions.

In Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, the financial editor of the Rhodesia Herald reported that the 12 exports nominated by Britain for sanctions accounted for about half the country's total exports in 1965.

FIRST CALL with Bowles

W. Germany's Nuclear Role Hit By Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—The Atlantic alliance is giving West Germany the leading role in planning nuclear strategy that it refused to give to France, the Soviet defence ministry charged today.

The ministry's newspaper, Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star), attacked the new nuclear planning group proposed for the alliance and Bonn's role in it.

But, significantly, the Soviet attack still left the way open for signing a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

There was no hint that the Russians regarded the West German role in the new planning group as the equivalent to access to nuclear weapons.

OPPOSE NUCLEAR FORCE

The Russians opposed signing a non - proliferation treaty as long as NATO considered plans for a nuclear multi - lateral force. Moscow viewed this as a scheme to give Bonn access to nuclear weapons.

But the Russians have not raised this objection so far in reporting plans for the new strategy group in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This would give the Germans a consultative role only.

The Red Star article did, however, attack plans for the new NATO strategy group.

It attacked these plans as a scheme to set up a triumvirate of the United States, Britain and West Germany to rule the alliance.

"Bonn is given how what was refused to Paris in its time," Red Star said, "The participation in determining nuclear strategy, and a leading position in the alliance together with the United States and England."

Smith Wins Confidence Vote of Party

SALISBURY (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith won a vote of confidence from his ruling Rhodesian Front party Tuesday, but there were reports of discontent among right wingers of the white-minority party.

Party chairman Col. MacKnox said the vote was unanimous.

The vote was seen as approval for Smith's handling of his Mediterranean summit talks with British Prime Minister Wilson and his cabinet's subsequent rejection of British final terms for a settlement of the Rhodesian independence crisis.

Some observers thought it significant that a vote of confidence should be considered necessary.

It came after Smith explained details of the negotiations and the reasons British demands for a return to constitutional rule were considered unacceptable.

But many members of the far right in the party expressed the belief Rhodesia should abandon all talks with Britain and push ahead on the path of its unilaterally declared independence, party informants said.

Union Bugging Tapes to Be Heard by Prober

VANCOUVER (CP)—The tape recordings that started the British Columbia royal commission on bugging will be heard—if not by the public, at least by Commissioner R. A. Sargent.

The commissioner ruled Tuesday he would hear the tapes, made last month during the bugging of hotel rooms occupied by delegates to a convention of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

"I don't want to create the impression that I am not prepared to go into any avenue or that I want to cover up for anyone," said the retired county court judge.

His decision to hear the tapes came after vigorous opposition by John Laxton, counsel for the Canadian union.

Evidence has been given that Pat O'Neal, regional organizer for the rival International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, hired private investigator Weldon Graham to carry out the bugging.

Mr. Laxton submitted that if the tapes were heard, it would be tantamount to the commissioner prejudging whether electronic eavesdropping should be tolerated.

He told the commissioner: "If you hear the tapes you are invading privacy yourself, and the commission is invading that of my client."

Mr. Laxton's final submission was to relay his client's request that under no circumstances should the tapes or transcripts be made available to counsel, especially counsel for Mr. O'Neal.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A disturbance will cross the south coast this afternoon with a second disturbance following about 12 hours behind. Rain with these systems will spread to all coastal areas. The rain is expected to persist on the south coast until the second disturbance moves inland early Thursday. Temperatures will remain mild with afternoon highs in the low fifties on the lower mainland and 40 to 45 in the interior.

HASSLE IN COMMONS CONTINUES

NDP Doing 'About Face' on Pensions Charges Health Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons has approved the government's old - age pension increases in principle, but the fight goes on over the way they're being raised.

Clause-by-clause study of the bill guaranteeing pensioners $105 a month continued in Parliament today, on the heels of a hassle Tuesday between Health Minister MacEachen and NDP spokesmen.

Mr. MacEachen accused the NDP members, his most persistent welfare critics, of an "abrupt change" in their thinking about pensions policy. In the past they had endorsed the principle of a guaranteed income for pensioners, but now they opposed legislation which provided exactly that.

NDP speakers replied that the amount of payment proposed by the government affected the principle involved.

As in the first three days of debate, criticism was directed Tuesday at the government decision to provide supplementary pensions only to those with little or no outside income.

QUOTES SPEECHES

Mr. MacEachen read extracts from speeches by NDP Leader Douglas and Deputy Leader David Lewis and then said they were an endorsation of the principles contained in the government's bill.

"Of course the amounts are different, but the principles are the same."

The minister said he had asked Mr. Lewis (York South) whether he supported the income-test principle. Mr. Lewis had replied:

"Obviously, . . . otherwise you cannot have an income-maintenance program."

Mr. MacEachen quoted Mr. Lewis as saying "that in order to administer an income-guaranteed program one has to find out what income a person has."

Mr. MacEachen said the two NDP members had declared themselves, in effect, "to be in agreement with the approach of the government to the concept of a guaranteed annual income."

He said he would have had more respect for NDP speakers if they had said they agreed with the basic approach in the bill but disagreed with the amount set out in it.

SAID TOO LITTLE

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said that in talking about a guaranteed annual income "one cannot divorce the principle from the level which is contemplated, and $105 a month is just not the kind of level which can be characterized as amounting to a guaranteed annual income."

Along with most opposition MPs, Mr. Knowles kept up criticism of the income check required to qualify for the proposed supplementary pension. They call it a means test and Mr. MacEachen rejects the term.

Mr. Knowles said the bill's provision says to older people: "You do not get the full amount of this pension unless you report your income. And when you report your income, if you have more than is provided for in the legislation, either your pension will be cut back or the increase will be cut out altogether."

The opposition has maintained that the government should raise the basic old age pension to $100 from $75 monthly and forget about its income-based plan.

Under the bill now before the House, for every $2 above the basic $75 a pensioner earns monthly, his supplementary payment will be reduced by $1.

Stanley Korchinski (PC—Mackenzie) pleaded for removal of the means test.

To other opposition criticisms, Mr. MacEachen promised there would be no army of snoopers checking up on pensioners. The money in the plan would go to those who needed it and this was superior to a flat-rate increase in which the rich and poor benefitted.

The guaranteed-income plan would cost $100,000,000 less than a flat $25-a-month increase to all pensioners. The government proposal would cost some $3,600,000 to administer annually.

The present $75 flat-rate pension, to be paid to some 1,200,000 Canadians in 1967, would cost some $1,110,000,000, of which about $33,000,000 would be recovered in income tax.

A $100 monthly flat-rate pension would cost some $1,552,000,000 next year and about $48,000,000 would be returned in taxes.

The minister said this pointed up the weakness of the argument that a flat-rate increase would return considerable tax revenues.

Mr. Knowles wasn't convinced.

Ky's Wife Robbed

TOKYO (AP) — Mrs. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of the South Vietnamese premier, apparently lost the equivalent of $1,200 to a thief while shopping in Tokyo. The apparent theft was reported by Mrs. Ky's Vietnamese maid.

Gilbey's find merry mixed gin drinks in old English Inns

ENGLAND'S OLDEST INNS have been around long enough to learn that Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance for mixed drinks. You can count on it to give you a fresh, clean tasting drink. Just like the Gimlet that they mix in the Cat and Fiddle at Hinton Admiral, a village on the edge of the New Forest.

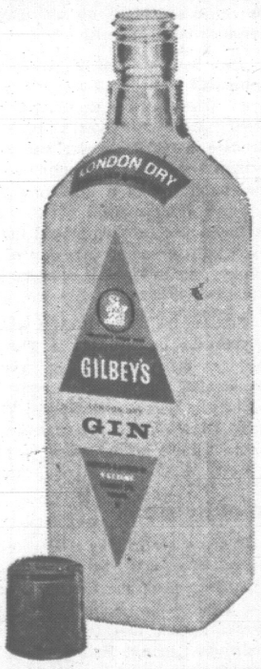
Cat and Fiddle—Gimlet

The Cat and Fiddle is justly famous for its Gimlet, a refreshing drink made from Gilbey's London Dry and fresh lime juice. Close by in Wiltshire, at the Sign of the Angel, we discovered how to give a Gilbey's and orange juice a "frosty" edge. Wet a glass, then put it upside down in the freezer compartment. After half an hour it will have a sparkling "frosty" edge.

Eagle—Gilbey's Weasel

At the Eagle in London they mix a superb Gilbey's Weasel (made from Gilbey's and Bitter Lemon). They say the drink was named after a saddler's weasel (used for making holes in leather). A saddler who had premises at the rear of the Eagle enjoyed the drink so much that he would 'pop' or pledge his weasel when he was short of money.

Up and down the City Road
In and out the Eagle
That's the way the money goes
Pop goes the Weasel



You can rely on Gilbey's London Dry, a perfectly balanced gin that gives you a fresh, clean tasting drink. This gin is an international favourite, sold in 92 countries. It's been made by the Gilbey family for 109 years.

The Old New Hands

MR. BENNETT'S CHRONIC dearth of top-flight administrators is reflected in his latest cabinet shuffle. He has no new blood to add to his council, and the existing ministers must continue to double in important departments—some of which should rightly claim the full-time attention of a man of cabinet rank.

Mr. Black only survived in welfare, and as he now takes over the even more demanding portfolio of health, in addition to his duties as provincial secretary, he will find a good deal of ground to make up. The hospital situation throughout the province, and particularly in the capital region, cries for proper recognition and redress, and Mr. Black should make this his top priority project before he inevitably becomes deeply involved in medicare and its attendant problems. Mental health, too, should claim his urgent attention. This can be no caretaker incumbency.

Mr. Campbell will have his hands full in his dual role of minister of municipal affairs and minister of social welfare. He has shown energy in the former office, particularly in fostering the so-called instant municipalities and in his encouragement of regional authorities. But the pressing overall problem of provincial-municipal relations in regard to financing remains unsolved: there is still a great deal to do in this field, but we may expect it to be pushed into the background as the minister turns his major attention to the problems of a rapidly expanding department of social welfare.

Few areas of government responsibility have expanded in scope or developed in depth as has social welfare. There is still a shortage of qualified workers for some aspects of the work. The problems of the attorney-general's department crowd into Mr. Campbell's new bailiwick, as the need to get at the roots of juvenile delinquency, its prevention and its rehabilitation programs—to cite only one aspect—becomes more and more urgent.

These are major, full-time ministerial offices, but the traditional double-up deployment of Mr. Bennett's government will still prevail.

The addition of three women ministers without portfolio provides an intriguing innovation in the premier's latest cabinet changes. Their duties remain a trifle obscure, despite Mr. Bennett's explanations, but will apparently include services as roving interpreters, ambassadors at large, departmental consultants, governmental publicity agents and other functions, with particular attention to social welfare problems. Their activities could have considerable impact on the province, although much will depend on their individual abilities to carve out careers in what is in many ways a pioneering project.

Mr. Martin leaves active politics after twenty-two years in Social Credit work. He has faced some difficult problems in the health services portfolio and one suspects that overall government policy has frequently prevented him from doing all that he might have wished. Mr. Bennett would do well to give his newly appointed departmental lead horses a loose rein in carrying out such improvements as they can initiate. The field is wide open and the public expects some far-seeing and constructive leadership.

Stop Watch on the Rhine

JUST in time for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers' conference this week, the United States, Britain and West Germany have arranged a patchwork plan to keep the 51,000-man British Army of the Rhine in being for another six months.

The British say that they can no longer afford the $265 millions annually in foreign exchange funds which the army now costs and the Germans, after 20 years of occupation, aren't prepared to pay more than a third. So the United States has stepped in and will now spend $40 to $50 millions on military procurement in Britain to ease the strain over the next six months. The West Germans have agreed to buy British bonds to meet the cost gap.

The chief benefits of the arrangement appear to be in saving face for both the British and the West Germans, and in buying time for the inevitable scaling down of NATO forces in Europe which American military and diplomatic officials have so far resisted so strongly.

For Britain there is a two-fold benefit: it doesn't have to bring home and disband a large number of soldiers at a time when the country is suffering from extensive unemployment; and it has avoided the humiliation of an outright subsidy from the United States, although the effect is the same.

For Bonn the advantage is that the government can maintain its end of the defence cost-sharing agreement without too great a strain on the budget—one of the factors which led to the resignation of former Chancellor Erhard—and can thus press its claim for a larger share in forming NATO nuclear strategy.

Like Caesar's Wife

COMMISSIONER J. D. BAIRD and Reeve Hugh Curtis have defined the indiscretions of several Saanich assessment department employees who formed first a club and then a company to deal in real estate, including Saanich real estate.

Mr. Baird says their actions were reprehensible. Reeve Curtis speaks of the "grey area" typified by their operations but expresses confidence that there was no deliberate dishonesty, no conspiracy or wrong-doing in the strict sense of the word. And no law was broken.

The salient point that emerges is the matter of propriety. A public servant must not only refrain from dishonesty, he must equally avoid any appearance of it; he must avoid placing himself in any situation in which the public might be led to suspect ulterior motives or the existence of a conflict of interest.

This was the mistake of the Saanich employees — one which they did not appear to recognize, according to Mr. Baird, even during the enquiry. In view of the unfortunate incident, he recommends a bylaw which would prohibit municipal employees from dealing in real estate and would restrict their purchase of municipal property.

Such legislation would only put on paper what ought to be in the consciousness of all public employees. Whether or not the incoming Saanich council decides to formalize such a code of behaviour, the responsibilities of public employment should be made clear to all persons on the public payroll. Even a rare lapse can be destructive of the public's confidence in its servants.

REUTERS REPORTS THAT A St. Nicholas-Santa Claus was attacked in Louvain, Belgium, by 100 Flemings because he gave his greetings in French. Scholars may wonder just what language Santa is supposed to speak. Pragmatists will say it doesn't matter: "Ho! Ho! Ho!" is surely the same in any tongue.

FROM UNITED NATIONS — By WILLIAM R. FRYE

'The Right of Parents to Determine . . .

THE United Nations celebrated Human Rights Day this year with a new and highly controversial right—"the right," as Secretary-General U Thant put it, "of parents to determine the numbers of their children." Other basic human rights, including "freedom from hunger, the right to medical services, and the right to education"—the "human aspiration, common to men everywhere, to live a better life"—are "being frustrated and jeopardized" by runaway population growth, the UN was told.

Frye

Twelve heads of state, the leaders of Colombia, Finland, India, Malaysia, Morocco, Nepal, Korea, Singapore, Sweden, Tunisia, the United Arab Republic and Yugoslavia, proclaimed the doctrine Dec. 9 and appealed for a world-wide birth-control campaign to carry it out.

The appeal was seen as a direct challenge to Roman Catholic proscription of artificial birth control, and was considered certain to stir a major furor. Birth control has long been virtually a forbidden topic here.

Thant, releasing the appeal, endorsed its objectives. It was solicited by John D. Rockefeller III of New York.

"Unplanned population growth" brings misery to hundreds of millions of people, the 12 heads of state declared. It "seriously hampers efforts to raise living standards, to further education, to improve health and sanitation, to provide better housing and transportation, to forward cultural and recreational opportunites—and even in some countries to assure sufficient food," they said.

Frustration

"In short, the human aspiration, common to men everywhere, to live a better life is being frustrated and jeopardized."

Without mentioning Pope Paul by name, the appeal took issue with a statement he made to the UN General Assembly last fall.

"Your task," the Pope said, "is to ensure that there is enough bread on the table of mankind, and not to favor an artificial control of births, which would be irrational, in order to lessen the number of guests at the banquet of life."

"Enough bread" cannot be provided in this century, Thant said. "Over the two or three decades immediately ahead, when present world-wide efforts to raise food production will not have yielded the fullest results, the problem of the growing food shortage cannot be solved without in many cases a simultaneous effort to moderate population growth."

"We recognize and fully respect the problems of faith and conscience which many still face in relation to the means designed to achieve this objective.

"But on this human rights day, I feel bound to call attention to (the heads of state) declaration expressing concern with the quality of human life as well as with the number of human beings on earth."

Four-Point Credo

The heads of state pointed to predictions that by 1975, the world will have 4 billion people, and by 2,000 nearly 7 billion, They offered a four-point credo:

"We believe," they said, "that the population problem must be recognized as a principal element in long-range national planning if governments are to achieve their economic goals and fulfil the aspirations of their people.

"We believe that the great majority of parents desire to have the knowledge and the means to plan their families; that the opportunity to decide the number and spacing of children is a basic human right.

"We believe that lasting and meaningful peace will depend to a considerable measure upon how the challenge of population growth is met.

"We believe the objective of family planning is the enrichment of human life, not its restriction; that family planning, by assuring greater opportunity to each person, frees man to attain his individual dignity and reach his full potential."

Polls taken in the United States indicated that in 1965, 53 per cent of Roman Catholic wives were disregarding church prohibitions on birth control. The figure had grown from 30 per cent in 1955 and 38 per cent in 1960.

However, in less-developed countries, observance is believed to be more general.

Many other barriers besides religious doctrine have prevented widespread use of contraceptive devices in some parts of the world. They include cost, inaccessibility, lack of information, legal barriers, superstition, and desire for the security in old age which children can provide.

Answers Required

New York Times

THERE are enough solid doubts of thoughful citizens, among the shrill attacks on the Warren Commission, now to require answers. Further dignified silence, or merely more denials by the commission or its staff, are no longer enough.

We have come to this conclusion not because of any of the specific charges brought by the dozens of books, TV shows and articles about President Kennedy's assassination but because of the general confusion in the public mind.

Since the whole purpose of the commission's appointment and mission is being eroded a little at a time by the clamor, it would seem the commission itself has the most reason to answer. Certainly, it should be given the chance.

Its members and staff, in varying degree, of course, have full knowledge — or should have — of the investigations, evaluations and decisions that went into the report. Until they have spoken, the demands for special Congressional committees, foundation studies and inquiries by prestigious people seem premature. The Warren Commission itself is composed of leading members of Senate and House and responsible citizens, headed by the respected Chief Justice.

Perhaps every detail will not be settled. History can never be as neatly packaged as fiction, and people are still writing and reading about the assassination of President Lincoln a hundred years later. But enough responsible inquiry has been aroused to deserve responsible answers.

Looking Back

From The Times of Dec. 14, 1908.

A friend of the Times has been kind enough to send in some blossoms of wild strawberries picked in the neighborhood of Victoria. He appears to consider this an unusual circumstance at this season of the year. We scarcely agree with our friend's deductions or conclusions. As a matter of fact, willow grouse and other game birds have been feeding for some weeks on the wild strawberry and other blossoms to be found on the sunny slopes of the hills.

FROM WASHINGTON — By JOSEPH ALSOP

Romney—G.O.P. Choice?

THE appearance is almost too good to be true—the silver hair almost too silvery, the blue eyes almost too blue, the squarish oval face almost too clean-cut and resolute-appearing. At intervals, the mode of utterance is almost too bad to be true — the abstract words too numerous and nearly meaningless, the syntax too close to President Eisenhower on a bad day, the sincerity too close to striking the note of an advertising man's "sincere" necktie.

Alsop

But the first thing to remark about Michigan's Governor George Romney is that every bit of it really is true, from the sincerity, which is genuine, to the appearance, which is not contrived. And the second thing to remark is that, although he does not as yet admit it, even to himself, he is just about certain to be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

He has a hearty laugh but a somewhat deficient sense of the ridiculous. When he was deciding whether to leave American Motors in order to become a gubernatorial candidate, he explored the pros and cons so lengthily and publicly that a great many people became a bit cynical about the whole performance. He then topped the exploration with a semi-public day of private prayer, after which his announcement of candidacy was made.

Barring the day of prayer, which may perhaps be omitted, he is going to do exactly the same thing about his presidential candidacy. He really means it when he tells you earnestly: "I like to know all the facts that can be known before I make up my mind" — which is a pretty sensible preference, after all.

Impatience

Hence a good many moderate Republicans are due to become pretty impatient, while the facts are collected and studied by Romney and by his chosen agents like former Republican chairman Leonard Hall. But one comes away from a long talk with the governor with an inward near-certainty that this period of exploration will end as the last one did, with an announcement of candidacy.

Governor Romney is in fact already laying the needed groundwork for his candidacy by beginning to assemble policy consultants and, of course, task forces. (Who can do anything nowadays without a task force?) He makes no bones about his need to know a lot more before he starts taking clearcut stands on problems with which the governorship has not familiarized him.

"One thing I'm determined not to do," he tells you, earnest as always, "I'm not going to talk in areas of great sensitiveness, of great complexity, of great difficulty, until I've got into the facts in depth. That means a lot of hard work here at home, and with respect to foreign matters, it means travelling abroad."

On Vietnam, which he splendidly describes as a "most far-reaching, complex, fateful conflict," he already sounds very much less dove-like than some people have thought him. "We're in there," he says.

"I think we made some mistakes about the way we got in, but we're in there now, and that's what matters. We've got to curb Communist aggression and help the South Vietnamese people to determine their own future. And we must certainly not work out any resolution of the matter that is not in keeping with our basic goals."

Consultants and task forces are being gathered to provide the facts in depth, not just on the Vietnamese problem, but on an enormous range of problems, running from agriculture to education. If you talk to him about these problems now, you have to be patient or else you will be deceived; and one suspects that this will still be the case after all the labors of all the consultants and task forces.

Round-about But Definite

The subject of federal aid to education, for instance, stimulated the governor to a long, admiring reminiscence about a do-it-yourself program of school improvement undertaken in two small towns of northern Michigan. But just when one was beginning to conclude that Romney's position on aid to education was close to Ronald Reagan's, he zig-zagged into a boast that state aid to education had been close to doubled in Michagan during his governorship. And he ended by saying that much greater federal aid was of course needed, although many "improvements in methods" were needed too.

Partly because of this odd conversational habit, and partly because of the things that seem too good to be true, Romney is a very hard man to figure out. Maybe the only way to judge is by results — by the solidity, clear thinking and moral decency of his celebrated letter to Barry Goldwater, for instance, and above all, by his great success as governor of a difficult state.

Some people say that he has been lucky as governor, because good times helped him to balance his budget rather painlessly. But Jean Monnet once remarked that being lucky was the best characteristic a politician could have. In sum, the Republicans could go a lot further and do worse, for Romney is solid and decent and hard-working as well as lucky.

Viking Marauders

I was the owner of property immediately behind the Strawberry Vale School. Several years ago I was forced to sell this property to Saanich, or have it expropriated. The reason given was that the Municipality required it for a children's wild playground, or park, in perpetuity.

Now, to my distress, I find that, outa of three or four beautiful and ancient oaks, two have been wantonly cut down, to be used, of all things, as a centennial project involving the building of a "Viking ship."

Surely, if a centennial project is to have any value, it should be the saving, not the destruction, of beauty spots such as this, and Saanich without doubt could have found plenty of lumber for their Viking ship elsewhere.

I resent very much that this property, taken from me with the firm understanding that it was to be kept in its natural state as a park for the pleasure of one and all, should be thus spoiled for all time. — Gladys Quainton, 1320 Blue Ridge Rd.

Marathon of Faith

I should like to thank the Victoria Daily Times for publishing the picture of "Jim" and "Cindy" Stone, the dog that was well on her way, with 900 miles to go, to get back to Jim in Victoria.

There was a lot of faith in this walkathon. Cindy had it in her nose, Jim in his heart. — H. G. Hardacre, 2250 McNeill Ave.

Democratic Right

During the past year we have experienced the disruption of industry, transportation and various other matters which affect the general public and the phrase "Democratic right to strike" has been frequently used.

Granted, there is this right, but it would appear that as far as organized labor is concerned it is a one way street. How about those who are not party to the dispute but have to suffer the consequences? Have they not also democratic rights?

In B.C. a minority group of less than two hundred, who claimed a grievance, were able to throw thousands of unrelated employees out of work and damage the economy to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars creating what might be termed a national emergency. It would seem that it is time for a long suffering public to rise in its wrath and demand, by legislation if necessary, that democratic rights be extended to those who do not pay union dues and do not receive a substantial increase in pay and benefits, and that the fable of "The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg" be required reading at union meetings. The pendulum has swung too far. — A Democrat.

'Freedom Will Return to Russia'

By MAURICE WESTERN

(Special to The Times)

NEW YORK — In a private home on a quiet street not very far from New York's Central Park lives the man who, nearly 50 years ago, came within an ace of thwarting Lenin by establishing a free, democratic Russian republic.

Today he says of his native country that "immediate revolution" is impossible but the restoration of personal freedom "absolutely inevitable."

For newspaper readers of 1917, Alexander Kerensky was a familiar figure. Most photographs of that time show him in uniform addressing troops or mass meetings for he was a renowned orator, minister of war and the prime minister of a nation locked in a desperate struggle with the Germans and also, tragically, with itself.

Now 85 years of age, he is frail and, after a recent fall, understandably careful on the stairs. But, as he greets a visitor at the entrance to a well stocked library, he is still recognizably the man of the fading photographs, with defiantly square shoulders, an alert manner, a surprisingly firm voice, keen unwavering eyes and the bristling short hair (turning gleaming white after half a century of exile) which has always distinguished him.

So many millions of scholarly words have been expended on day to day and block by block analysis of the Russian revolutions that it is difficult for us now to see the wood for the trees.

Many of these words have had to do with the shifts of power among parties making up the revolutionary Petrograd Soviet. For the fate of the whole vast two-continent country was largely decided in two cities Petrograd and — to a lesser extent — Moscow.

But as Alexander Kerensky said in the course of our conversation, 98 per cent of the people outside Petrograd had no idea of what was going on in the capital during critical days and would have found the various manoeuvrings "absolutely incomprehensible" if they had known about them.

A Demonstration in Moscow's Red Square, February, 1917

Misunderstood

To this day, he protested, foreigners have little understanding of the totality of the breakdown of government and communications after February 1917.

In the first days the Provisional Government had not a single policeman for the whole of Petrograd and it was only step by step, with great difficulty, that order could be recreated out of spreading chaos.

The Soviets, hastily created to fill the power vacuum, were extraordinary and rather amorphous organizations. For many deputies, according to Kerensky, election was virtually by self-nomination.

He was personally elected, without his knowledge, and found himself a vice-chairman of the executive committee.

Some of his greatest speeches were, in fact, delivered in the Petrograd Soviet. Of one, he spoke with particular pride. The executive committee, mostly Socialists, opposed participation of Soviet representatives in the "bourgeois" government. Kerensky, in a dramatic appearance, persuaded the deputies to repudiate by an overwhelming majority, the attitude of the committee.

Turning to the aftermath of the revolution, I mentioned Trotsky's murder in Mexico and asked if Kerensky, in his own exile, had ever feared for his personal safety. He said it had not been a serious worry and offered an interesting explanation.

As an emigre, he had been opposed to the formation of a government-in-exile. In his view, life changes so much over the years that only the people within a country have sufficient knowledge of the local situation to take practical action in respect of it. Thus he has preferred other forms of opposition. Holding these views, he was perhaps not an obvious target of Stalin's liquidators.

As to the future, he is unflinchingly optimistic. It is clear, he believes, that the darkest period — that of total dictatorship in Russia — is now in the past.

What is the evidence? He stressed, first, significant changes in the attitudes of people, especially the young Komsomols, and of various organizations. There is today much more independent thinking in Russia and, accordingly, a greater disposition to explain and persuade than merely to order and direct.

ALEXANDER KERENSKY

What is important is the freedom of the individual and an effective rule of law protecting citizens against administrative omnipotency. And Russia, he thinks, is now moving in this direction.

Such a view derives nothing from the expectation of revolution which, says Mr. Kerensky, is impossible because of the vast disproportion between the power of disarmed people and the military apparatus available to the State.

Not Helpful

Some Western policies, in his opinion, have been unhelpful in the promotion of change. Thus the question, as posed by American policy-makers, has often been; how best to support non-Russian peoples against the Russians who imprison them. Seen by those on the other side, this is propaganda for the dissolution of the Soviet Union.

"I am absolutely sure of the future," Mr. Kerensky concluded. "No, I won't see the restoration of personal freedom and democracy in Russia but it is absolutely inevitable."

It is not often that the leader of a "lost cause" lives 50 years to see the horizon lightening as history, by its strange processes, refashions in new and promising forms the ideas he once defended.

Secondly, he noted that development in the Soviet Union of consumer-oriented policies. The older communism had been conspicuously unsuccessful over a long period even in providing bread. This experience had imposed a shift away from the old economic principles.

Even in the villages, the situation has changed markedly for the better, with the peasants enjoying considerably greater freedom.

Where once the factories concentrated only on quantity, quality and consumer preferences are now becoming important. With some decentralization, there is more consideration for the plans and interests of local populations.

Consumer Goods

Over-all, the change shows up in the budget with a substantial transfer of resources away from defence to consumer goods industries.

There is another change of a quite different order. As he put it, "the idea of world proletarian revolution doesn't exist in the brains of the new generation." Young people are not interested now in a movement for the overthrow of capitalistic regimes throughout the world. They are very much interested in the amelioration of life in the Soviet Union.

They are also interested in the defence of Russia "because the idea of Fatherland, taboo for Lenin, now exists in the mentality of the entire population."

To the degree that international tension is lessened, these tendencies will strengthen and, more and more, the "eternal ideas" of personal freedom will creep back in. It is these ideas and not particular institutions (such as private or state enterprises) in which Mr. Kerensky is interested — after all, as he points out, capitalism has undergone great changes even in the United States.

Marat-Sade Drama Trend Seen as Only a By-Path

By RICHARD L. COE
The Washington Post

"The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade," having been a stunning success, seems to have inspired a trend.

It will prove to lead nowhere because the effectiveness of the Peter Weiss drama lay less in the carefully researched script than in the stunning production Peter Brook did for the Royal Shakespeare Company. A new New York production of this is being whipped together for a January opening and Brook has completed a film version of his English-speaking original which United Artists soon will release.

No Guarantee

But because Weiss wrote his sequel to the French revolution from original sources doesn't guarantee that all these "documentary dramas" are effective theatre pieces and, no matter what some may say, if drama doesn't work as theatre it doesn't rank as drama.

Germany has been at the forefront of this movement, which implies its audiences have a special kind of hunger. The Weiss drama had its beginnings there.

So did "The Representative," Rolf Hochhuth's drama about the dilemma of Pius XII and his dealings with Hitler's Jewish purges. "Der Stellvertreter" also was known to its first American audience as "The Deputy."

Last summer West Germany saw a play by Heinar Kipphardt set in Room 2022 of Washington's Atomic Energy Commission, "In Re: J. Robert Oppenheimer."

It dealt with whether or not the celebrated physicist's security clearance should be revoked, drawing, the playwright declared, all its material from the hearing records.

German novelist Gunter Grass is the author of "The Plebeians Rehearse the Uprising", set in an East Berlin theatre during a 1953 rehearsal of "Coriolanus" while outside the East Germans demonstrate against their Communist rulers. The play was viewed as an attempt to depict the split character of Bertholt Brecht (known in the play as "The Chief"), the hopelessness of the East German revolt and the do-nothing attitude of the West.

Germany also has been seeing several plays on the generals' 1944 bomb attempt on Hitler and one on President Kennedy's assassination, "Dallas — November 22," by Felix Lutzkendorf.

The Kennedy assassination also has inspired "documentary dramas" in both Belgium and England. The former's is "Dallas Nov. 22, 1963" by Jean Francis and the latter is "The Silence of Lee Harvey Oswald," by Michael Hastings.

Under the guise of using only material from the Warren Report, these assassination "documentaries" all play on a European mania for conspiracies. During two recent European trips, I was astonished at so many Europeans' persistence in assuming that President Kennedy's murder was a political plot.

Bloody History

But I shouldn't have been too startled since so much European history is splattered with conspiratorial blood. Euorpeans were equally surprised when I explained to them that the three earlier assassinations of American presidents were by madmen, not excluding John Wilkes Booth. Oswald's personal history, so far as the known record goes, fits perfectly into this pattern of individual insanity, not political conspiracy.

Currently on exhibition in New York is another Weiss documentary, "The Investigation." This totally eschews the fantastics of "Marat Sade" in favor of bald simplicity.

From the court record of the 1964-65 Frankfurt trials, "The Investigation" sets forth the atrocities whereby the Germans exterminated four million people. In his staging Ulu Grosbod also avoids the dynamics of the "Marat-Sade," keeping the accused and the accusers in a constricted witness box, allowing little dramatics from the legal staff and even underplaying the main point—that millions of Germans outside Auschwitz must have known what was going on and made no protest.

The curious effect of this carefully dry recital of gruesome horrors is that it has little effect. One is not truly shattered.

Already Know

The reason for this is that we already know what the play has to tell us. Despite Marshall McLuhan's dictum that the medium is the message, people still do read. Having read the record, or at least heard about it, we already have formed an opinion.

Thus, drama, the development of character and the sense that good drama conveys that this time things may turn out differently, is lacking in this form. It only persuades those who already are persuaded.

Nor is this, as some say a new development. The dramatization of fact is old as history itself and what distinguishes the good from the pseudo is the point of view and genius of the dramatist. It is his imaginative editing and creative skill, which brings the facts to dramatic life.

It took some years and many hands for a novel called "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to achieve satisfactory stage form. The attitude Maxwell Anderson chose for "Winterset" affected a whole generation's view of the Sacco-Vanzetti case. Lawrence and Lee had to use their creative imaginations on the Scopes trial to pinpoint the case with "Inherit the Wind."

Thus, the notion of extracting bald sections of court records for the sake of persuading, impresses only those already persuaded and is merely a bypath of the high road of drama.

Many Gave Up Smoking But Tobacco Revenue Up

By GERALD WARING

OTTAWA — Five and a half million of us must be puffing like the Little Red Engine going up that mountain.

That's the only way I can reconcile the government report that a million Canadians have quit cigarettes, and the statistics that show tobacco tax revenues are up, cigarette releases from bonded warehouses are up, and the industry is so prosperous that some companies, like Imperial Tobacco, are branching out by purchasing wineries and other businesses wholly unrelated to tobacco. "Diversification," it's called.

Waring

The government hired a company called Canadian Facts Ltd., which is run by the Gallup Poll people, to make a survey of cigarette smoking and find out what was happening. Essentially what Health Minister MacEachen wanted to know was the effect of his department's $600,000 anti-smoking program. Was it paying off? Or was it money wasted?

The pollsters reported that more than a million people have quit cigarettes, but they did not say how many of this number went off the weed before and since Judy LaMarsh launched the campaign two years ago. Of the five and a half million who still smoke, they said, two and a half million have seriously tried to quit, and failed.

Excise tax revenue from cigarettes from April 1 to Oct. 31 this year was $136 millions. A year earlier the comparable figure was $126 millions, and in 1964 it was $120.5 millions.

Cigarette withdrawals from bonded warehouses to the end of October this year totalled $38.3 billions compared with $35.6 billions for the comparable period in 1965, and $33.7 billions in 1964.

Barry Mather, the NDP member from New Westminster who founded the "Nevertouchem" society in the days when Miss LaMarsh was still smoking two packs a day, is not satisfied with the anti-cigarette program. He particularly wants the government to curb cigarette ads on TV.

In Britain, he told the Commons recently, the government has restricted TV advertising. In the U.S. the government has required tobacco companies to print a warning on cigarette packages. In Canada, he said, Rothmans are reportedly planning to spend $2 millions on advertising in the next year — and what is Secretary of State LaMarsh going to do about it?

Miss LaMarsh, who is responsible to Parliament for control over broadcasting exercised through the Board of Broadcast Governors, did not reply personally to Mr. Mather. Her parliamentary secretary, Albert Bechard, spoke in her stead and made five points:

★ ★ ★

The government and especially Miss LaMarsh are most interested in cigarette advertising's "connection with the terrible illness which every year undermines and kills an alarming number of people of all ages in Canada."

Indeed, Miss LaMarsh herself gave up cigarettes.

But Health and Welfare has never asked her to do anything about cigarette ads.

The government-owned CBC should not be treated differently from any other advertising medium.

If the government banned TV ads, "it would be fair and logical . . . to prohibit all other similar publicity . . . (in) all newspapers and magazines."

You don't like that cigarette ad? You think it's encouraging people to court cancer? Then flip over to another channel!

'No Thanks. Just Looking' And the Store Dick Watches

By ART STOTT

"My wife," said the crew-cut gentleman in our office, "is coming to the conclusion that I don't like Christmas shopping with her. It has taken a long time, but she's right.

"It isn't," he explained, "that I object particularly to being a wallet with legs, though that's painful. It's just that she and I have different ways of going about the operation. It may be a bit unrealistic on my part to think that you shop by making up your mind about what you want and then going to the store and making a purchase. I'll go along, even, with comparative shopping. Once you decide to buy a certain article, it makes sense to look around, visit different places, and find out where you can make the best deal.

Stott

"The thriftiness of this procedure is usually appreciated by the ladies. They walk all over town to save a few cents and reckon as no cost at all the time they spend, the energy they dissipate, or the shoe leather they wear out in the process.

"It may be a trifle inconsiderate of me, but I object to the time, energy and shoe leather of my own that they expend by making husbands go with them.

"Still," he went on, "this is not the chief source of my discontent when I'm pressed into coolie boy-financier attendance on the good lady while she invades the shops. I pride myself on a certan equanimity as we enter and start down the main aisle, discussing what we have decided to get and how much we should pay for it. The even quality of my temper becomes disturbed when I find that I am not discussing these points with her at all. I'm talking to myself. She's back among the frilly things, fingering the lace on stuff she's not going to take anyhow.

"I'm left standing — loitering, I guess, is the right term. I move over to a counter and gaze idly at goods displayed. Then I'm conscious of a man keeping me under surveillance. He's not a clerk and I have a very fair idea of his identity. It makes a person furtive when the store dick keeps an eye on him."

I appreciate my friend's discomfort. It has happened to me. Once I tried to discourage Pat's inclination to wander among the unmentionables when we went shopping. I joined her, adopted what I though was a debonair look and made facetious, almost daring remarks, to the sales girl. The technique worked in a sort of way. Pat moved off, with an expression that didn't reflect pre-Christmas cheer, muttering "Silly old goat. Why do you have to make a fool of yourself that way?"

There is, of course, a better system. It is possible for a man to enjoy shopping with his wife. All he has to do is part company with her at the emporium's door. Then he can wander down through the hardware section, look at the tools he'd like to own if he had any use for them, size up the mechanics of some of the less intricate machinery and even buy a few small nuts and bolts, or special nails for the woodworking project he has going in the basement.

She can browse around the women's dress goods, women's ready-to-wear, women's lingerie and the furniture section.

★ ★ ★

There is one disability in this joint shopping tour conducted individually. Usually a man and his wife forget to make it clear to one another where they'll meet. Even if they do, the arrangement seldom works out. Either there are too many people at the coffee counter and the male can't get a seat, or, with a couple of cups of coffee under his belt, the waiting patrons begin to look at him as if he's stayed too long.

Alternatively, a man can inform his spouse that he'll be up in the paperback book department when she's ready to collect him, or collect from him. That way he can catch up on a lot of reading — even leaf through some of the books he's heard the boys talking about, but doesn't actually want to have lying around the house in case guests of sensitive appreciations find them in his possession.

I nevertheless sympathize with my crew-cut friend in the office, and fervently hope that his partner will summon the strength to do her Christmas shopping alone. She probably will. Wives, bless them, make careers of sacrifice and martydon.

'MEDDLING IN OUR AFFAIRS'

U.S. Ambassador Draws Sharp Blast From Dief

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker has once again blasted United States Ambassador Walton Butterworth.

This time he has accused the ambassador of meddling in Canadian affairs over the proposed amendments to the Bank Act dealing with the Mercantile Bank.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Commons Tuesday that the ambassador made gratuitous statements and observations about the Canadian government's position in relation to the Mercantile Bank. Mr. Diefenbaker said the ambassador was "interfering in Canadian affairs," to safeguard "the Rockefeller interests."

Prime Minister Pearson refused to comment. He said he had learned that the comments attributed to the ambassador were made in a "private off-the-recored discussion or conference." The prime minister said that therefore it would be quite inappropriate for him to comment on discussions which took place at a private conference.

"If the remarks attributed to the ambassador had been made publicly a very different situation would have been created," said Mr. Pearson.

BUTTERWORTH
. . . draws Dief's ire

The opposition leader's criticism was prompted by an address delivered by the ambassador late last week at a seminar on Canadian-American relations held by the advanced school of international studies of Johns Hopkins University. In his remarks he was sharply critical of ex-finance minister Walter Gordon and of the proposed amendments to the Bank Act now before a parliamentary committee.

CANADIANS PRESENT

About 175 Canadian and American businessmen along with officials and university representatives attended the seminar.

Mr. Diefenbaker has never forgotten that it was Ambassador Butterworth who became involved in the 1963 general election. In that campaign there was the case of famous "forged letter" which was supposed to have originated from the ambassador but which Mr. Butterworth denied having come from his office.

Drinkers Have Difficulty Finding Store

The first government liquor store in Saanich opened for business Monday and did a steady if unspectacular trade.

"A lot of people still don't know where we are but I imagine they'll all know by this weekend with Christmas coming up," said manager Douglas George this morning.

"The customers we had would number in the hundreds but we also received a lot of phone calls asking us where we are."

The new store is in the Lake Hill shopping district on Borden, a block-long side street running south from McKenzie Avenue.

John Tisdalle was elected chairman of the Christian Business Men's Committee International at its annual meeting in the Gosworth Road Community Church Monday night. Daniel Webster was elected vice-chairman; John Hartman, treasurer, and William Broomfield, secretary.

SAIGON (AP) — A second English-language newspaper was suspended by the government today for violating censorship regulations. The suspensions left the capital with one English-language newspaper.

Baptists Support New Divorce Laws

OTTAWA (CP) — The Baptist Federation of Canada proposed Tuesday that grounds for divorce be extended to desertion for five years and legal separation for seven years.

Other new divorce grounds suggested were continuous physical cruelty, insanity, long and repeated imprisonment, drug addiction and extreme alcoholism.

In a brief to the Senate-Commons committee on divorce laws, the Baptists also proposed that uncontested divorces be processed by provincial government officials rather than by divorce courts, with final decrees being granted after seven years of legal separation.

The brief said these changes would reduce divorce costs and perjured evidence in divorce hearings.

"The prohibitive costs of the dissolution of marriage is an incentive to common-law relationship and other social practices. . . . There is in effect one law for the rich and another for the poor."

WOULD ERASE STIGMA

The Baptist leaders said future federal legislation on divorce shold substitute the phrase "dissolution of marriage" for divorce, which carried implication of criminal behavior and a harmful social stigma.

The brief expressed the hope that divorce courts will be set up in Quebec and Newfoundland, the only provinces that now do not have them. Residents of those provinces that desire a divorce must appear at quasi-judicial hearings in Ottawa and petition the Senate to pass a resolution dissolving their marriage.

The Senate now was a divorce court, in effect, and this embarrassment should be removed.

GANGSTERS RUNNING CASINO IN BAHAMAS?

LONDON (AP) — Two Bahamas opposition leaders left Sunday after putting a demand before the British government for a royal commission to investigate gambling in the Bahamas.

Lyndon Pindling, of the Progressive Liberal party, and Milow Butler, of the Liberal party, presented a memorandum alleging American gangsters were linked with at least one casino.

British Colonial Secretary Fred Lee promised to study their report.

Oil Refinery Planned By South Africans

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — The South African government was reported Monday to have decided to build its own oil refinery at Sasolburg, about 40 miles south of Johannesburg.

The usually well-informed, pro-government Afrikaans newspaper Die Burger, said plans for the refinery, which would cost about 35,000,000 rand ($49,000,000), are already at an advanced stage. It would be capable of processing 35,000 barrels or crude oil daily.

There was no official confirmation of the report either from government sources or oil company officials.

Sasolburg is the site of a giant government-owned, oil-from-coal plant, which has been in production for many years and now supplies about 10 per cent of South Africa's needs. The rest has to be imported.

GAIN CONTROL

Die Burger said: "The decision to build a refinery is regarded as a step to gain greater personal control over a product which is a vital importance for the country. . . . 'The owners of the three big existing refineries in South Africa are all overseas companies."

Present refineries, owned by Shell, British Petroleum and Caltex, are near the ports of Capetown and Durban.

Man Arrested In Car Case

A passenger taken off the Australia-bound ocean liner Oriana at Victoria Monday night will be returned to Calgary for questioning in a case involving false pretences.

Henry Strazicker was arrested by RCMP after Vancouver police were alerted to pick up a man who sold a car under false pretences.

Calgary police said the man they sought sold a car which he claimed was free of liens and encumbrances when a finance company was owed $800 on the car.

Police said the serial number on the change of ownership was the wrong one.

Strazicker's wife and child remained on board the Oriana.

OPPOSITION MUZZLED

Franco Made Certain He'd Win Referendum

MADRID (AP)—A huge turnout of voters today indicated that Spain is approving liberalized constitutional changes proposed by Generalissimo Francisco Franco. It was only the second national vote in the 27 years of his dictatorship.

With half of the 19,320,877 registered voters casting votes within four hours after the polls opened, jubilant officials said the heavy vote indicated support for Franco's amendments. Some said these will open the door to a future democratic monarchy.

The officials based their optimism on the fact that the badly organized opposition had urged voters to boycott the election.

Many persons lined up in some sections of Madrid as much as two hours before the polls opened. Many of the early voters were women. Good weather over most of the country favored a heavy vote.

With formal opposition muzzled, government officials predicted 80 per cent of the vote would favor the changes, the first major sign of relaxation of control by the 74-year-old dictator.

CALL FOR KING

Franco's proposals, approved Nov. 22 by the Cortes (parliament), call for, among other things:

—A king or a royal regent to succeed Franco on his death or retirement.

—Separation of the posts of head of state and of government, both now held by the generalissimo.

—Permitting public religious services for faiths other than state-supported Roman Catholicism.

AN INCREASE in the cost of housing and clothing nudged Canada's consumer price index slightly higher in November. The index stood at 145.5 at the first of the month, 1-10 of 1 per cent up from a month earlier and 3.8 per cent higher than a year ago. Index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100. (CP Newsmap.)

Business Curbs Remain Until War End, Says LBJ

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Johnson announced Tuesday that the voluntary but tightly-policed business curbs aimed at cutting the U.S. dollar drain will last until fighting ends in Vietnam.

Stiffer objectives were set for 1967 and Commerce Secretary John Connor said U.S. corporations are being asked to increase their net contribution to the program by at least $2,000,000,000 compared with a total net benefit in the last two years of $2,500,000,000.

They can do it by reducing the outflow of dollars for foreign investment or by a more rapid expansion of earnings from foreign subsidiaries, Connor said.

The policy enunciated for 1967 contrasts with concern expressed by some leading U.S. businessmen that the curbs on direct investment can be self-defeating in time by damping down expansion of foreign operations which are substantial earners for the U.S.

SAYS DEFICIT DOWN

The president said the U.S. deficit after nine months of this year was running at an annual rate of $1,200,000,000, or slightly under the final figure for last year.

But the cost of the Vietnamese war—of which the end seems nowhere in sight—may in terms of the balance of payments "be well in excess of $1,000,000,000 a year."

"When the hostilities in Vietnam have ended, we will reexamine our balance-of-payments program in the light of circumstances at that time."

The direct impact of the 1967 program on Canada and other countries remains to be seen. Canada, Japan, Britain and some less developed countries are assured special access to U.S. investment funds.

But the amount and pattern of 1967 direct U.S. investment in Canada will depend on how each individual U.S. corporation sizes up the investment future around the globe and whether it chooses to meet its target by cutting investment, expanding exports or both.

U.S. officials said Tuesday they feel that the over-all sum of U.S. direct investment next year will be close to the figure of more than $9,000,000,000 projected for this year.

EXTENDED TO CANADA

The payments-control program launched early last year was extended to Canada last December. The 1966 targets raised the number of participating countries to 900. U.S. corporations were urged to expand exports, repatriate more earnings from their foreign subsidiaries, cut direct investment and seek more investment capital from within the host country.

Those objectives remain, Connor and Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler emphasized Tuesday.

Canada expressed fears this year that the U.S. restrictions would impede investment flows and require U.S. subsidiaries, which have more than $15,000,000,000 invested in Canadian industry, to act contrary to Canada's interests.

A March meeting here of Canadian and U.S. cabinet members was represented as providing U.S. assurances that U.S. subsidiaries would be good Canadian citizens.

Last September the commerce department reckoned on the basis of announced plans by U.S. firms that U.S. investment this year in Canada would increase by $354,000,000 over 1965.

Tree Farm Licence Signed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eurocan Pulp and Paper Co. has signed its tree farm licence agreement with the provincial government, giving it management of a large section of Crown timber near Kitimat.

Eurocan general manager Mauri Skogster said Tuesday the company plans to start work on a $70,000,000 pulp mill at Kitimat next spring.

The tree farm licence was placed under reserve following Eurocan's successful application at a public hearing until the firm's preliminary working plan was approved.

In addition to its supply from the tree farm licence, the company has been given a letter from the provincial government granting it 18,000,000 cubic feet of timber annually from the Ootsa Crown forest.

Windup Order For Subsidiary Of Prudential

TORNOTO (CP) — Mr. Justice F. T. McDermott of the Ontario Supreme Court Tuesday issued a winding-up order against Wentworth Insurance Co. of Toronto, a subsidiary of the bankrupt Prudential Finance Corp. Ltd.

The order was issued under the federal Winding-up Act and Clarkson Co. Ltd. of Toronto, trustee of the estate of Prudential Finance, was appointed liquidator. A Clarkson official assumed control later Tuesday.

Wentworth was incorporated in July, 1948. The company conducted a general insurance business and had about 2,500 policy holders.

Province in Running For Big Methyl Plant

By AB KENT
Business Editor

British Columbia is in the running with Alaska for a chance to have one of the world's largest methyl alcohol plants built by Japanese-American interests.

Proposals are still in the exploratory stage, with the result that information is being played close to the chest.

But inquiries have been made at the provincial department of trade and industry — on behalf of an unnamed client — which connect with a joint project under consideration by the Mitsubishi industrial group and Skelly Oil Co., Oklahoma.

Skelly has rich natural gas and petroleum interests in both Alaska and western Canada.

Methyl alcohol, or methanol, can be manufactured from natural gas, which is available in large quantities in northeastern B.C., Alaska; north, central and southern Alberta.

It is the Skelly-Mitsubishi plan to use natural gas in the projected plant at a saving of about 33 per cent over the cost of natural gas imported to Japan.

★ ★ ★

Industrial Japan requires some 600,000 tons of methanol a year, more than half of which could be supplied by a plant of the proposed capacity of 1,000 tons per day.

A logical plan for bringing a methanol plant close to seaboard for bulk loading purposes would be to build a gas pipeline from the gasfields through the mountain passes to the lower mainland or northern B.C. coastline.

But obviously this would represent a far greater outlay of capital than to take Alaskan gas to seaboard, other things being equal.

In this respect Alaska has a considerable edge over B.C. in that its petroleum industry is right on the Pacific shore, notably Kenai Peninsula, Cook Inlet and Bristol Bay areas.

A major boost in electric power capacity for Alberta will come partly as a result of a $15 million Calgary Power preferred convertible share offering of a few weeks ago. The issue went very well.

The west's greatest symbol of private power production and one of the nation's biggest generating companies, Calgary Power Ltd. plans to spend $25 million starting next year.

Wabamun plant will have $7.1 million spent on it to expand facilities, while $750,000 will be spent on Brazeau storage and power devolopment.

A new $2.3 million transmission line will carry power from Bonalto to Calgary through Red Deer, and $1¾ million will be spent on a new line and expansion of substations east of Camrose.

The company's total gross assets are worth $250 million.

SHARP ON FREE TRADE

North America Club 'Bit Too Exclusive'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp poured more cold water today on a scheme of Canada-United States free trade.

He said a North American club is "a bit too exclusive for our taste and very much a second best in economic terms."

His "best" would be freeing trade on a trans-Atlantic and trans-Pacific basis, he told the Vancouver men's Canadian Club.

Mr. Sharp's theme, that Canada-U.S. free trade could lead finally to loss of Canada's political independence, is not new to Eastern audience. But this was the first time he has taken it to the home of the Liberals' most ardent free-traders.

It was British Columbia-led western delegates who won the party's October policy conference over to a resolution favoring outright free trade within North America.

WOULD BAN TARIFFS

Mr. Sharp repeated his contention that industrial countries should start after the present Kennedy Round of tariff negotiations in Genea to eliminate tariffs across whole sectors of industry.

"The competitive weakness of many Canadian industries is due not to bad management, outdated techniques or inadequate euipment," he said.

"Where weakness exists it can most often be traced to an inadequate scale of production. Other countries' tariffs tend to confine many of our firms to the realatively small Canadian market, where in turn they can carry on because of the Canadian tariff."

Mr. Sharp listed three problems facing the world in moving toward freer trade after the Kennedy Round: How to adjust to such regional groups as the European Common Market and European Free Trade Area; how to meet the urgent needs of less-developed countries for export earnings; and how to trade with Communist countries.

Mr. Sharp said he does not believe that the developing countries face tariff difficulties as much as basic inefficiencies in their industries.

He feared that unless their exports can be improved with widespread help from advanced nations the result may be "a series of increasingly anarchic preferential arrangements between the metropolitan powers and their former colonial territories." A second prospect would be establishment in the world of "more clearly defined and antagonistic spheres of economic influence."

Possible Defect In 47 Mustangs Made in Canada

OAKVILLE, (CP)—The Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. said Monday there are possible steering defects in 47 of its 1967 model Mustang cars.

A Ford spokesman said 154 owners have been asked to bring their cars to dealers for inspection in an attempt to find the 47 potentially faulty vehicles.

The spokesman described the defect as a possible faulty worm gear in the steering box which could gradually stiffen with use.

He said Mustang owners, who have not been notified by the company to have their cars checked, do not have this potential problem.

INTERMUNICIPAL COMMITTEE

All Year-End Money Requests Stalled

Greater Victoria's Intermunicipal Committee faced a flurry of year-end requests for money Tuesday and managed to stall them all until 1967.

The Society For The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals wanted the committee to ditch its annual grant formula and go for fixed amount of cash from each municipality each year.

The Symphony Society wanted the committee to review its grant structure and maybe come up with a little more cash.

The Centennial Golf Committee was asking for a special grant to help stage three golf tournaments in 1967.

And the municipalities themselves were asking for a new formula to equalize the cost of running Victoria's jail.

All agreed that the cash had to be found to support the SPCA, the symphony, the golfers and the jailers. And all agreed that the four problems should be shelved until early in January.

Capt. J. D. Prentice of the SPCA told the committee that it was growing increasingly difficult to bedget for SPCA needs when the society was never sure just what cash it would get in the form of grants.

FIXED SUM

He suggested that a fixed sum be set to guarantee that animals were properly taken care of.

The amounts suggested were: Victoria, $13,000; Oak Bay, $6,500; Esquimalt, $6,500 and Saanich, $2000.

On the request for funds to help the golfers stage their 1967 tournaments including the Willingdon Cup and the Commonwealth Tournament civic leaders were divided.

While all agreed that something should be done to show visiting golfers they were appreciated members could not agree on the way to help.

MODEST RECEPTION

Reeve Alan Cox, Oak Bay, said he would support a modest reception for the golfers but could not agree to subsidizing the event by paying caddy fees.

Mayor Hugh Stephen, chairing his first intermunicipal meeting, said he felt the events, attracting world-wide attention, deserved special attention.

"That may be," said Reeve Cox. "I shall not be here when you pass the final vote on the matter in January, but I would like it to be known now that I am against subsidizing these events.

"A modest reception, maybe. But not the caddy fees."

On other matters such as the Oak Bay share of financing the cost of operating Victoria jail, Reeve Cox was more than willing to agree to his municipal share.

"Our share is $4,100," he said. "We couldn't begin to provide facilities for that amount."

TWO BALK

But two other municipalites balked at the cost-sharing formula worked out by city treasurer James Bramley.

Central Saanich objected to being assessed five per cent of "availability" costs.

"We have about 25 per cent of the population of Esquimalt and Oak Bay yet we are being billed on a five per cent availability while they are being billed 10 per cent," said Reeve Gordon Lee.

The committee agreed the Central Saanich reeve had a point and chopped the availability percentage to 2.5 per cent.

Reeve Hugh Curtis, Saanich, noted that his municipality, which has its own jail facilities and only uses the Victoria jail for female prisoners, appeared to be paying ahigh price for light usage.

"We had seven female prisoners this year, six intoxicated and one impaired," he said. "They each stayed in jail one day or one night. We feel that the $2,000 charged to us is rather high for seven nights in jail."

Total cost of operating the jail is $72,000.

Reeve Ray Bryant, Esquimalt, said he thought the formula fair although he resented the fact that there appeared to be three times as many law breakers in Esquimalt as Oak Bay.

"Well," quipped chairman Mayor Stephen, "there are no beer parlors in Oak Bay and it seems that people wander a lot."

"Yes, they do, don't they?" said Reeve Cox. "Some of them even get to be mayors of Victoria."

HOISTED ALOFT with a $452,000 king-sized cheque Tuesday was Jack Noble, co-chairman of the United Appeal, when he announced campaign's end. Target figure was attained after 3½ months of collections. Ken Cox, chairman of the professional division (left), and Bill Hooson, chairman of the public service division, are his "boosters". Jack co-chaired this year's United Appeal with his wife, Phoebe. Woman Injures Head Against Windshield

Mrs. Ruth Williams of 2552 Vancouver is in fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital following an accident Tuesday night on Douglas at Finlayson.

Police said Mrs. Williams narrowly missed cutting her jugular vein when her head shattered the windshield of her car.

She was alone in the car, heading south on Douglas and turning left onto Finlayson when her car was hit broadside by a northbound car.

Driver of the other car was a 16-year-old boy.

Truck Kills Child

FORT ST. JOHN (CP) — Roger Paul Gillie, 7, was killed Monday when he was run over as he played in the front yard at his home by a truck driven by his father. The father, Phillip, was packing down snow with the wheels of a tandem truck.

CRACKNELL

Socred Gains Rattle New Zealand

AUCKLAND (CP) — Startling gains by Social Credit have proved the dominating talking point of the Nov. 26 New Zealand general election.

Social Credit took votes heavily from both major parties, won its first seat in Parliament and almost doubled its proportion of the popular vote compared with the previous election.

Social Credit holds views on debt and monetary reform similar to those of the Social Credit movement in Canada. It deplores the mounting public debt and advocates reform of the banking system. On Vietnam it supports the National party government view that the few combat troops New Zealand has sent should remain.

The Social Credit Political League, formed in 1953, has contested every election since 1954, putting up candidates for most seats at each election.

Although the party scored a shock impact at its first election by winning 11.31 per cent of the total vote, it failed to win a seat and its share of the vote dropped sharply in subsequent elections. In the Nov. election, it won 14.63 per cent of the total vote.

Nobody expected a sudden resurgence in 1966 although at the previous election the party leader, V. F. Cracknell, 54, nearly captured the party's first seat in Parliament.

He was given a good chance of success in 1966, but the chances of the other 79 Social Credit candidates were not rated highly.

However not only did Cracknell win his seat, but Social Credit made substantial gains almost everywhere in New Zealand. In the rural ridings, it displaced Labor as a second party in several places.

Politicians, newspapers and commentators have been busy seeking an explanation of the sudden surge in the Social Credit vote.

Opposition Labor Leader Norman E. Kirk interpreted the result as the emergence of "a new sort of country party — an alternative Conservative party."

But Cracknell denies either that the vote has anything to do with a trend to a new kind of Country party or that support amounts to a protest vote against the major parites.

The swing is a straight-out vote in support of Social Credit, he says. "Social Credit is the truth and the truth will out. This is a victory for the truth."

Man Leaves Evidence Trailing Behind

A man who left a trail of cigarette packages after smashing open a vending machine was convicted in central court Tuesday of theft.

He was remanded for sentence.

Daniel Mills of 1721 Quadra said he had been dringing before he went to the Union Centre, at 3754 Quadra on Dec. 5 to try to arrange for work.

Caretaker Earl Allen said he saw the accused stuffing cigarette packages under his sweater as he stood beside the wrecked vending machine.

At first he was able to persuade Mills to wait for police but the accused later bolted, dropping a number of packages on the street as he ran.

Mills, who pleaded not guilty, said he could not remember the incident because he had been drinking.

Baby Starved

GLASGOW (AP) — Edward Donnachie and his wife were sentenced to prison for two years Monday for starving their baby to death. The court was told the couple admitted failing to provide seven - months - old Alexander with adequate food, clothing or medical aid. The couple's lawyer said they had four other children in perfect health.

DRAGGER HITS REEF, CREW MEMBER DROWNS

PORT AUX BASQUES, Nfld. (CP) — One crew member was dead and seven others in hospital here following the sinking of the 130-foot dragger Zebra off the southwestern tip of Newfoundland Monday.

The dead man was identified as Lloyd Lovell, of Isle aux Morts.

The Zebra went down apparently after striking a submerged reef about a mile off Isle aux Morts. High seas washed away the vessel's dories and the 11 crew members aboard clung to wreckage until picked up.

SHOW ANNOYANCE

MPs Bolt Chamber As Gregoire Speaks

OTTAWA (CP) — Gilles Gregoire found himself almost isolated in the Commons Tuesday as neighboring MPs ran for cover when he rose to speak.

The independent member for Lapointe had barely gained his feet during the daily question period when MPs bolted from the chamber.

MPs have expressed annoyance with Mr. Gregoire both over his outspoken separatist views and for his refusal to grant unanimous consent last week for an emergency debate on the West Coast port strike.

He was undeterred by the departures and remarks and gestures by his neighbors from outside the Commons curtains.

Mr. Gregoire asked Transport Minister Pickersgill to confirm a report that Russia has announced it will send an icebreaker up the St. Lawrence this winter to help its ships.

Mr. Pickersgill replied: "I am not a spokesman for the Soviet government" and drew desk thumping support from around the chamber.

Mr. Gregoire's blockade of the shipping debate was aimed at forcing the transport department to use icebreakers to keep the ports of Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres open all winter.

PHOTO SHOWS

Volcanic Violence On Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Telltale signs of volcanic violence on the moon are shown in a photograph taken Nov. 25 by lunar Orbiter I and released today by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In the picture an array of lunar domes are shown in detail for the first time. Many are quite rough and show cracks and pits at or near their summits.

NASA said: "They are interpreted to be the result of upward movement of magma which has warped the overlying rock and in some cases spilled out on the surface as lava."

This confirms, NASA said, "that the moon has had a long and complicated history of volcanic activity."

The domes are to be distinguished from other, roundish features of the lunarscape, which are craters believed formed by the impact of meteorities. Shown in the upper right is the crater Marius, older than the volcanic domes. It is about 25 miles across and a mile deep.

NASA, besides releasing the picture, put out two enlargements, one of the right half of it and the other of the left.

Youth Orchestra 1967 Leader Named

TORONTO (CP) — Appointment of Brian Priestman, conductor and director of the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra, as conductor of the National Youth Orchestra for the 1967 season was announced Tuesday.

Mr. Priestman, who succeeds Walter Susskind with the NYO, is expected to return to the Edmonton orchestra for its 1967-68 season.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, DEC. 14, 1966—PAGE 17

Arthur Mayse

Until only the other day, I entertained no more Christmas spirit than old Scrooge did before his reformation. Something was missing, or, more correctly, had not yet taken place; and to be honest, I kind of hoped it wouldn't for yet a while.

Once the spirit strikes, I pontificated to my wife in her busy kitchen, we enter upon a period of mass insanity. The prudent resolves made in November are abandoned. Before we fully realize what's happened, we are being swept into the tinsel glitter, the fuss and bother, the crass commercialism of yet another modern Christmas.

Win, while I held forth along these lines, kept right on with her work. This consisted of kneading and balling a flour-powdered mass of dough.

Now she rolled the dough flat, and, reaching for a cutter, began to trim the sheet into little circles.

"Cookies?" I asked; and Win said, "No, mince tarts."

"Kind of early for those," I suggested.

My dear one looked up from greasing a compartmented pan. "Do you realize," she asked, with more patience than a kibitzing husband deserves, "that Christmas is only about two weeks away?"

★

I hadn't, but a check of the calendar thumb-tacked behind a cupboard door made the fact uncomfortable plain. Even so, I still didn't feel in the least Christmasy. Some states of mind you can force, but not that one. You feel it or you don't and there's no middle ground.

By this time Win had lined the compartments with dough, filled them with mincemeat, and crimped the double row of tops in place. She brushed past me where I lounged nibbling a pilfered scrap, took a fork from the cutlery drawer, and with a dainty touch, began to print a row of squirrel-tracks on each tart.

It was a casual minor operation and one I had watched many times before. But all of a sudden, the seasonal preparations took on extreme importance.

Before the oven swallowed the pan, I was into jacket and rubber boots and off to search our wild acre for a likely Christmas tree.

I hadn't been down that way for too long a time. The rain, a nuisance elsewhere, was a familiar and friendly part of the soft grey December afternoon.

From somewhere down the line, a cock pheasant cut loose with a noisy crowing. Our dog Lancer put up a quail covey where the trail forks; the birds were plump and not much alarmed; they buzzed up from cover like brown projectiles, but landed only yards distant.

We followed them in through the sopping tangle of Pacific willow and leafless ocean spray and came on an unsuspected little Christmas tree.

★

It was too small by far; so after time out to check on the snowberry crop, we pushed on toward a maple clump that still carries the floor of a tree-house abandoned by its young builders when they ran out of nails and enthusiasm.

Our Christmas tree, that year had for once pleased all four of us. It had come from just beyond the maples.

I blundered into the pit which is the sole remaining trace of the underground fort that succeeded the tree-house and blinked up from hands and knees at a promising evergreen.

We'd axed that Christmas tree of years ago high on its trunk so it would fit the space between stand and living room ceiling. As sometimes happens, a bough below the cut had bent up to form a well-shaped new top!

I went to tell Win about my find but a wife with mince pies in her oven and shortbread cookies soon to follow has scant time for idle chatter.

She paused just long enough to let me inform her that Christmas has much to commend it in spite of all, then sent me off, whistling "Good King Wenceslas" through a mince tart, with the cards I'd forgotten to mail that morning.

COUNCIL SPARE THAT TREE

Will They Strip Victoria of Her Leafy Beauty?

CITIZENS PROTEST CHOPPING

By PETE LOUDON

A battle to save more boulevard trees from the axe is warming up in Oak Bay.

A number of acacias have been removed from Dunedin Street in Victoria.

And lopping and trimming of leafy boughs along Cook between Fort and Dallas—and the removal of one beautiful giant on Cook near May—has engendered another protest.

Is Greater Victoria to be denuded of the beauties that make it famous, ask the conservationists.

The need for wider streets and protection of power lines must be served, the tree-cutters reply.

●

And one of the community's lengthiest controversies is building again.

Residents of Victoria Avenue in Oak Bay have won the first round. Protests against gradual removal of large old trees there and their replacement by smaller varieties of boulevard trees have come to council.

Council has dropped the proposal. But a municipal committee is eyeing more trees bordering Monterey between Oak Bay and St. Ann. Councillors however, will tour the site before coming to any decision.

Works superintendent R. A. Futcher wants removal of an old flowering crab apple, a laburnum and several flowering ash—and let the chips fall where they may. They are disfigured or aged, he says.

Local homeowners are disagreed on whether the trees should go. In some cases it depends on who must rake the leaves.

●

Edward J. Symons, 1231 Victoria Avenus, says such people "should retire to the Sahara." Mrs. Nita O. Forrest, an artist, told council the large old trees give Oak Bay individuality.

In Victoria, the Cook Street protesters who dislike the generous pruning of boughs which touch power lines have shouted "desecration".

But city parks administrator Herb Warren says he has inspected the trees and he says, "We have to provide clearance (for hydro lines) and that's it."

He said one tree is being removed entirely because it had become dangerous. But where pruning is being done for hydro lines, it is being kept to a minimum.

"At this time of year it may stand out like a sore thumb, but come spring and it won't even be noticed."

●

He regretted the loss of the Dunedin Street acacias. The trees were lost to a road widening project demanded by local industry to accommodate truck traffic.

The cloud had a small silver lining. The wood, coveted by wood carvers, is freely available to them, first come, first served, at Beacon Hill Nursery. Carvers must come during working hours and take it away themselves.)

Mr. Warren wanted it understood the city is planting more trees than it removes. He says, however, the community generally is not as tree conscious as it should be.

●

He said contractors involved in building projects remove many trees which could be preserved. Or else they will damage trees by lashing cables about them and tearing off the bark, or they will dump construction materials at their bases, injuring them.

Victoria's Garry Oaks are being removed faster than they are being regenerated, he added.

This is a sore point, too, with Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist. He fears this area will soon lose its native arbutus, oaks and dogwood.

"We are introducing too many things in replacing the trees which grow here naturally." He said many of the foreign species being planted are beautiful. But do they belong here? he asked.

The Saanich peninsula and Victoria area form the northern boundary of a region of Garry Oak, arbutus and dogwood.

"They occur nowhere else in Canada but here. We should be more conscious of this," he stated. These are the trees visitors come here to see. A Japanese tourist isn't going to be thrilled by Japanese cherries, he added.

●

A glance through the Times files shows numerous pictures of trees which were local landmarks which are just a memory today. Conservationists annually have called for action.

CAROL SINGERS from the Victoria West intermediate choir entertained City Hall staffers and members of the general public at City Hall this morning. The Vic West youngsters were followed by the Monterey School choir. Both choirs were participating in a week-long program which sees the first 30 minutes of the City Hall working day devoted to Christmas singing. Members of the public are invited to join in the singing Thursday and Friday morning at 8:30. (Times photo.)

Teachers to Get 8 Per Cent Hike

Arbitration Terms Effective Jan. 1

An 8.02 per cent average salary increase for Greater Victoria's 1,000 public school teachers awarded today will add $629,080 to the district's wage bill.

The arbitration award concludes 1966 salary negotiations between Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and trustees of School District 61. Its terms go into effect Jan. 1, 1967, for 12 months.

Trustees were taken somewhat by surprise by the basic salary increase granted by arbitration.

They had been expecting about a 7 per cent award as being closer to the average handed down in other parts of the province.

HIGHER RATE

But higher increases have been granted elsewhere—8.9 per cent at Merritt, for example.

Last year Greater Victoria teachers won a 5.412 per cent increase that added $378,830 to the salary bill.

The new award means an increase of 2.27 mills on current assessed values.

Average salary under the new scale is calculated at $7,749. But officials point out that Victoria probably has more teachers at maximum levels of salary than any other district in the province, which weights the balance.

PRINCIPAL PAY

The new scale for principals requires time to be worked out, but the top salary here will be for the principal of Victoria Secondary, the district's largest school, who will get $16,399 including allowances.

He is now paid $15,333, including his special allowances. After three years' experience in the post he will be paid $16,864, according to the new scale.

New basic minimum salary for new teachers ranges from $4,400 to $6,500, depending on qualifications.

TOP CATEGORY

Those in the top category, with 14 years' experience, will be paid $10,840 and with a master's degree they will be eligible for a bonus of $200.

The bonus for the professional category was accepted by arbiters Dr. R. A. Shearer and Gerald Sullivan, but rejected by the third member, Kenneth Murphy, who argued that it represents a double payment.

About 44 teachers in the district are eligible for the top salary of $11,040 including bonus.

The board rejected a teacher bid for special leave with pay.

SHOT YOUNGSTER LOSES FIGHT TO STAY ALIVE

Schoolboy Kevin King died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday afternoon, three days after being shot through the head.

For the last two days, the youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, 1903 Maple, Sooke, had been kept alive by a respirator.

He was rushed to hospital Saturday afternoon after being shot in the forehead while he and a younger brother were using .22 rifles to shoot at tin cans in the backyard.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until an inquest has been set.

Surviving Kevin are the parents, two brothers, two sisters and grandparents.

ACUTE CASES EXEMPT

Most School Building Halted by Cabinet

The provincial government has halted all school construction in the province except in areas where overcrowding is already acute.

The almost total ban on school building means the department of education will not approve construction of Newton elementary and Christie Point elementary schools.

Greater Victoria school board has warned that failure to have these schools ready by this fall will mean a shift system of classes in the areas they were intended to serve.

The cutback also means that Sooke school board will not be able to proceed with the building program approved by voters in last Saturday's election.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said this morning that "school construction is being authorized only on a priority basis and for classrooms only."

He refused to say what constitutes "a priority basis" but it apparently means that construction will be approved only for areas where overcrowding is already acute.

NORMAL PACE

Dr. Neil Perry, deputy minister of education, confirmed that "the normal pace of school construction is much slowed down."

When asked how long the cutback will continue he replied, "Your guess is as good as mine. It is not possible to proceed with new school construction until the extraordinarily tight money market improves."

Mr. Peterson, when asked when approval would be given for construction of Christie Point and Newton schools, replied, "Where is Christie Point?"

APPLICATIONS

He said his department will handle applications for construction of these schools "in the usual way. I'm not going to interfere."

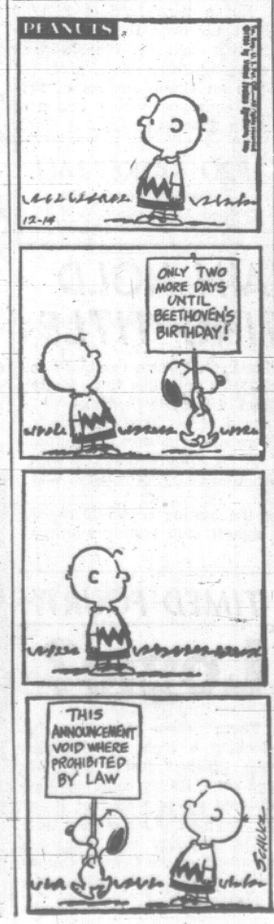
Mr. Peterson said it is not true to say that the government will not approve any school construction but he refused to go into details. He said, "I'll be reporting fully on this matter to the Legislature."

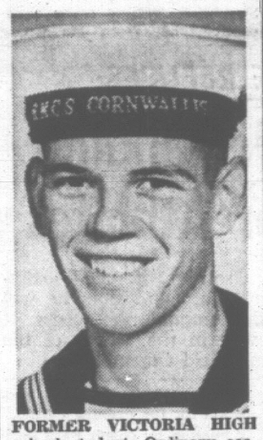
He said all applications for approval of school construction "are being looked at in the light of the needs of the province as a whole."

WITHOUT SHARE

He added, "If they like, school districts can proceed on their own with school construction without the government sharing any of the costs.

Sooke school board only recently learned of the cutback officially although Mr. Peterson warned B.C. school trustees what to expect when he spoke to their annual convention several months ago.





FORMER VICTORIA HIGH school student, Ordinary seaman, Ronald Boughton, has been named best all-round student of the new entry division at Canadian Forces Base, Cornwallis, N.S. The 17-year-old, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boughton live at 1045 Vista Heights, joined the navy last summer.

Health Board Issue High On Black List

B.C.s new Health Minister Wesley Black today said he will delve in the suspended state of the Greater Victoria Health Board "as soon as I possibly can."

A formal break-up of the irregularly-constituted board, which supervises a loose pooling of public health staffs here, was due this month but the city, Oak Bay and Esquimalt apparently have agreed to continue on a month to month basis at the urging of the provincial health department.

The department indicated that a new cost-sharing formula, the chief bone of contention among the components, could be worked out after a replacement was announced for retiring health minister Eric Martin.

Mr. Black, who got the job Monday night, today said there "are 1,001 things for me to catch up on and I just can't do them all at once.

"But I will try to get around to this (Metro Health Board) as soon as I possibly can.

New Bonding For Salesmen In New Year

New bonding requirements for realtors, car dealers, private detectives and collection agents will begin Jan. 1.

A cabinet order Tuesday proclaimed several sections of the two-year-old Security Bonding Act to be effective on that date, supplanting requirements scattered through a number of statutes.

The securities must be posted with the provincial superintendent of insurance as guarantees against dishonest or illegal practices by licence holders or their employees.

Real estate licence holders must post a $5,000 bond for himself and one employee; $10,000 if there are two to 10 employees; $20,000 for 11 to 20 employees; $30,000 for 21 to 30; $40,000 for 31 to 40; and $50,000 for 41 or more.

Vehicle dealers must post $5,000 security and licensed collection agents at least $2,500 or more depending on the gross volume of their collections.

Licensed private detectives must post a $2,500 bond plus $500 security for each of their employees up to a maximum of $10,500.

Band To Play At Prison

Christmas is coming a bit early to William Head Institution this year.

Tonight, members of the Mount Douglas Senior Secondary School band and their bandmaster, John Boel, are paying their own way and hiring a bus to play a special concert of Christmas carols for inmates at the institution. The concert begins at 8 p.m.

UN-SHIPLIKE, but useful, is this bulky piece of equipment aboard the oceanographic research vessel Onar. The 60-foot University of Washington-owned vessel put into Victoria today en route to Nitinat Lake on the west coast of Vancouver Island. the jumbo-type apparatus is used to lower and raise water-testing devices to the ocean depths. Dr. Michael Healy (right) displays one of the temperature guages, while Fred Palmer (left) and David Robare look on. All being well, the Onar will enter the tricky passage into the lake Thursday, returning to Seattle early next week. It is the second such research program carried out at the unusual lake, which has a top layer of fresh water and a lower layer of stagnant salt water. (Times photo.)

Dominion Theatre Being Torn Down

One of Victoria's earliest movie theatres—the Dominion on Yates Street—is being torn down to make way for a parking lot.

The roof has gone, the seats and fixtures are being taken out and, by the end of January, there will be no trace left of a building which has graced the 800 block since 1912.

Last to go will be the massive brick walls, ranging in thickness from two to four feet.

Up for sale are the theatre's 831 steel seats, its doors, windows, toilet fixtures and lights.

The property was acquired recently by the Park and Lot Parking System, operated by Jack Robbins, Paul Arsens and Emerson Calwell. It will be replaced by a ground-level asphalt parking lot with 50-cent meters to be opened to the public next March.

SILENT MOVIES

The Dominion Theatre was built in the early days of the silent movies and was specially designed for the purpose. It replaced Victoria's first steam laundry, founded and operated by the late Harry Bickerdike.

Until recently the theatre was owned by members of the Bickerdike family, but for a number of years it was leased to Famous Players Ltd. When the lease expired in 1955, the property reverted to the family.

"Many famous bands played on the stage of the Dominion during the 20s and 30s," said Martin Cave, one of the theatre's former managers, now with the Royal.

"It was a really fine theatre — one of the most solid buildings in the city — and at one time it was crowded almost every night."

COMPETITION

Due to competition from TV, the Dominion closed its doors to the public in 1961 and has been idle ever since.

But it has not been uninhabited. A large number of bats have taken up residence between the ceiling and the roof.

Thieves Grab Movie Camera

Thieves broke into the 841 Victoria Ave. home of Victor Hemming early Tuesday night and stole a Zeiss Ikon movie camera, and 8-mm movie projector, four bottles of liquor and four Centennial silver dollars.

Value of the goods is estimated at $280.

Mr. Hemming is covered by insurance. It is the second time his home has been robbed, he said.

Ask The Times

Q. Will the men who paddled down the Fraser in a centennial race this year repeat the venture in 1967? H.K.

A. The provincial centennial office reports the same team of six paddlers and two spares will paddle and portage from Northern B.C. to Quebec between May and September, 1967.

An error crept into Tuesday's reply to the question asking what grants are made by the city to trade and industry. Although the total of $64,725 was correct, the breakdown was not. It should have read: Victoria Visitors' Bureau $50,075, V.I. Publicity Bureau $7,150, Chamber of Commerce $2,500 and Spring Flower Festival $5,000.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problmes. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

MIKE'S TURN CAME LATER

Determination is apparent on both sides as Victoria's Mike Laughton looks for chance to bat puck into net and Oakland goalie Jack McCartan tries to keep it protected by leg pad. McCartan won this round but Laughton was back later for goal as Leafs defeated Seals 3-1 in Western Hockey League game Tuesday night at Memorial Arena. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

Oakland Seals today are wishing all the injured and ailing Victoria Maple Leafs speedy recoveries.

It's not that they have become friendly all of a sudden. They just don't want to tangle with the Leafs again when the Victorians are hurting and short on manpower.

Coach Rudy Pilous and his Seals can remember the night of October 15, when they blew into town to open their Western Hockey League season.

With the Leafs having holdout troubles and starting the campaign without the services of forward Bob Barlow and defence aces Fred and Sandy Hucul, the Californians were half expecting an easy victory.

Instead, the Leafs answered adversity with inspiration. With Claude Labrosse, Bill Shvetz and Aut Erickson dividing the defence load in superb fashion, they slapped the Seals 2-0.

That was the first of only three defeats the Seals had suffered on the road this season before returning to Memorial Arena Wednesday night. And they could hardly be blamed for planning on a triumph when they looked over and saw the Victoria bench considerably underpopulated.

Again on the sidelines were the Hucul brothers — Sandy with a toe fracture, incurred last Saturday when the Leafs snapped an eight-game losing streak by blanking Seattle 3-0, and Fred, still out of action with a back ailment.

Also absent were Larry Keenan, still nursing a broken foot, and winger Lou Jankowski, hobbling with a big toe that was gouged and swollen after stopping a Seattle shot. There was still no replacement for centre Neil Clark, shipped to Tulsa last week in a trade for Andre Champagne, who was too ill to report.

Short-Staffed Defence Sparkles

Although it didn't look like a happy situation for Victoria, especially since Labrosse was playing with an infected right arm, it was just like October. Labrosse, Shvetz and Erickson handled the defence chores with efficiency and authority and the Leafs manhandled the Seals, this time winning by a 3-1 count.

It was far from a three-man show. Victoria forwards, who had sessions of shooting practice at the Oakland nets, usually with a perplexing lack of accuracy, were strong on attack and helped their blueline trio with tenacious backchecking.

And goalie Al Smith, quick and always alert, almost made it a personal triumph as he consistently baffled the Seals during a 25-save performance.

Smith lost a bid for his fourth shutout with less than three minutes remaining when George Swarbrick, getting away a deceptive shot from his wrong wing on a solo effort, rifled the puck into a top corner.

By that time victory was almost assured and the Leafs had no trouble finishing with the win that lifted them within three points of fifth-place Seattle and only four away from Oakland and Los Angeles, deadlocked in the third spot.

TOOK TWO SWINGS

Although firing 16 shots on the Oakland net in the opening period, the Leafs had to wait until the seventh minute of the second session before getting their first goal. Milan Marcetta did the honors, connecting on his second swing as the puck slid in front of goalie Jack McCartan after Andy Hebenton and Bob Barlow had battled to provide the opening.

Rookie Mike Laughton, looking right at home as he worked at centre for wingers Bruce Carmichael and Mike Labadie, made 2,022 fans feel more secure when he made it 2-0 at 7:08 of the third period. Laughton batted in a bounding rebound of a shot by Dick Lamoureux for a power-play goal.

GOALIE SUFFERS CUT

Bruce Carmichael gave the Leafs a 3-0 bulge one minute later. Carmichael flipped the puck from mid-ice and watched with surprise and glee as it took a crazy bounce past McCartan and into the net.

McCartan had a busy evening, blocking 35 shots although he was off the ice for more than six minutes. McCartan had 13 saves before getting clipped by a puck at 13:45 of the first period but while he was off for the rest of the period, getting five stitches in his left eyebrow, replacement Jean Guy Morrisette handled only three shots as the Seals carried the play.

ICE CHIPS: Leafs open a five-game road trip Thursday night at Los Angeles and will make their next start at Memorial Arena on Christmas Eve, against Vancouver . . . Sandy Hucul and Jankowski will make the trip and both are determined to get into the lineup Thursday at Los Angeles . . . Shvetz needed a couple of post-game stitches to close a gash in his right elbow . . . Rollie Wilcox was limping after blocking a shot with his left ankle . . . Leafs had to work all the way for the win but they earned far more close-in shots than did their rivals . . . both clubs missed shots at big openings with Hebenton twice shooting wide and Forbes Kennedy and Swarbrick squandering the most inviting opportunities for the Seals . . . watching the game was Lynn Patrick who is on a scouting trip for the St. Louis club that will join the National League next winter . . . Victoria picked up only one of the game's five minor penalties.

BLIND MARATHONER DENIED BOSTON CHANCE

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—The United States Amateur Athletic Union has dashed the hopes of blind Auckland runner Bert Smith.

Smith wanted to run in the Boston marathon, but the American AAU has written the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association stating its long distance and road running committee decided Smith's competition would be unsafe.

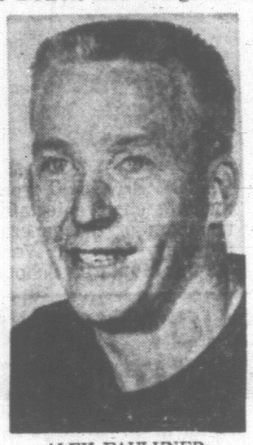
More than 500 athletes compete in the Marathon.

Smith said tonight he was disappointed as he had been looking forward to the race to complete his marathon career.

He has competed in a number of New Zealand marathon and mountain races.

Wings Balked In Young Deal By Hawk Pact

DETROIT (CP)—The deal sending Howie Young to Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League has fallen through.



ALEX FAULKNER
. . . back to Memphis

The Red Wings announced today that Young is not available to them because of a prior agreement between Los Angeles Blades of the Western league and Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL.

The Wings said they knew nothing of the private agreement when they traded two players to Los Angeles for Young earlier this week.

Young, a former Red Wings player, was traded by Chicago to Los Angeles in 1963 with the commitment that Chicago would have first call on his services if he ever returned to the NHL.

PRIOR AGREEMENT

Sid Abel, coach and general manager of the Wings, said from New York that Clarence Campbell, NHL president, had told him there was a prior agreement between Chicago and Los Angeles involving Young's major league services.

However, Abel said he did not know about this until after the deal had been made.

"The deal is off," Abel said. "We shook hands on it, but now all I know is that there was some special arrangement.

Young, perennial bad boy of the NHL until he was shipped down, was involved in a trade early Monday that included the shipment of forward Murray Hall of Kirkland Lake, Ont., and Al Lebrun of Timmins, Ont. Detroit was to give up Hall and Lebrun from their American League farm team in Pittsburgh to Los Angeles.

ANOTHER DEAL

The trade was squelched when an undisclosed NHL team put in a claim for one of them and both were withdrawn from the waiver list.

Then the Wings worked out another deal with Los Angeles involving Bob McCord of Timmins and Alex Faulkner of Bishop's Falls, Nfld.

McCord was to have gone from Pittsburgh and Faulkner from Memphis to Los Angeles.

Abel said McCord has been ordered to return to Pittsburgh and Faulkner to Memphis.

ALL OILERS ON BLOCK

HOUSTON (AP) — General manager Don Klosterman of Houston Oilers has announced every player on the American Football League club is available for a trade.

The Oilers finished with identical 4-10 marks in the AFL Eastern Division in 1964 and 1965 and this year have a 3-10 record with one game remaining Sunday against Miami.

"We will actively pursue trades," said Klosterman.

Esks Declare Small Profit

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference have announced a profit for the year of $23,155, despite an operating loss of $36,429.

Applied to a deficit of almost $34,000 carried over from 1965, the 1966 profit left the club with a deficit of just $10,786.

But a trust fund of $108,970 built up over three years by holding annual dinners and charging $100 a plate, gives the club an actual surplus of $98,184, compared with a deficit of about $100,000 in 1963.

Blood Won't End Grapple Battle

Blood won't make any difference in the feature bout of a professional wrestling card Dec. 20 at Memorial Arena.

Topping the four-bout program will be a "Texas battle to a finish" and promotors say the argument can not be stopped on account of blood. It will end when one man is unable to continue.

When the two met here last, the bout was halted because of cuts on Jardine's head.

Other bouts will send Rene Goulet against the Golden Terror, Bad Boy Shields against Eric Froelich and Tony Orford against Alex the Great. Action starts at 8:15.

One of Eight Sandy's Heir?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Dodgers won't have any problem replacing retired Sandy Koufax in their pitching rotation.

After all, they can always call on either Joe Moeller, or Bill Singer, or Nick Willhite, or Bruce Brubaker, or Dick Calmus, or Allan Foster, or Bill Larkin or even John Duffie.

These eight pitchers were named Tuesday by Dodger general manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi as possible fourth and fifth entries to join starters Don Drysdale, Claude Osteen and Don Sutton.

The Dodgers had bid for Chicago Cubs' left-hander Dick Ellsworth, but the Cubs preferred a Philadelphia offer, taking right-hander Ray Culp for Ellsworth.

Said Bavasi: "We could have gotten Ellsworth, but the Cubs wanted Bob Miller (relief pitcher) or Wes Parker (first baseman). I wasn't about to give up either one of them.

"So we decided it might be time to give our youngsters a chance to find out if they have the ability to pitch in the big leagues."

Bavasi said he may do more trading.

Specifying the Dogers' needs, Bavasi said: "It could be for an infielder, outfielder, catcher or pitcher."

While Bavasi was sizing up Dodgers' prospects, San Francisco Giants and Washington Senators were busy swapping.

San Francisco traded pitcher Bob Priddy and outfielder Cap Peterson to the Senators for Mike McCormick.

McCormick, 27, had an 11-4 record with Washington last season. A one-time Giant, McCormick led the National League in 1960 with a 2.70 earned run average.

'76 OLYMPICS

Florence Proposed For Games

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — This flood-damaged city was proposed Monday as a candidate to stage the 1976 Olympic games.

The idea to offer the city as a site for the Olympics began with a group of sports and civic officials and receiving the backing of Mayor Piero Bargellini.

The local daily newspaper, La Nazione, will publish an interview today quoting Avery Brundage, International Olympic Committee president, as saying Florence would be the ideal place for the Olympics.

Florence, considered by many as the country's foremost cultural centre, was the hardest hit community in the Nov. 4 floods that swept north and central Italy.

BILL CROTHERS

BUT COMMITTEE REFUSES

Crothers Demanding A Voice for Athletes

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Crothers, internationally-known half-miler from Markham, Ont., says he will not compete in Canada's first major track event of 1966 unless he is given a vote in the affairs of the Centennial Ontario Track and Field Committee.

Members of the committee voted 19-5 against his request Tuesday night.

In a four-point letter dated Nov. 16, Crothers said he will not compete in the Telegram-Maple Leaf Indoor Track Meet at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto Feb. 24 unless all four conditions are met by the committee.

Crothers' move was understood to be an attempt to win competing athletes a voting voice on track and field matters. He contended that opinions of prominent athletes are not solicited nor appreciated.

The conditions as outlined in the letter are:

—"That I be given an equal vote with any other member of the track and field association."

—"That my suggestions regarding the position of the 'privileged athlete' be implemented as soon as possible."

—"That I be given a copy of every financial statement of past meets, and all agreements that have been entered into."

—"That I be made a member of the international meet committee, or, that I be completely informed on what is being discussed and be given an opportunity to comment on any decision before these decisions become binding. And that would include the program for the evening events."

A motion by coach Paul Pope of the Toronto Olympic Club that Crothers' issues be tabled for consideration by a subcommittee was also defeated.

Crothers denied a suggestion made at the committee meeting that his move was a power grab.

"It's just that athletes have something to contribute to the association and would like to."

Concerning his point on "privileged" athletes, he said "veteran" might have been a better word.

In effect, he sought a third type of voting member recognized. Only recognized club delegates and elected members-at-large now are permitted to vote, although athletes can submit motions and discuss them at meetings.

Bantam Boosts Weight Record

BANGKOK (UPI)—Mohamed Nasiriseresht of Iran smashed the world record in bantam weightlifting and Japan won every swimming event Tuesday in the Asian games.

The brawny little Iranian from Tehran lifted 313½ pounds in the clean and jerk to better the listed mark by one kilogram (2.2 pounds).

SUPER BOWL GAME GOES JANUARY 15

NEW YORK (AP)—The Super Bowl between the champions of the National and the American Football leagues will be played Sunday, Jan. 15, at Los Angeles Coliseum with joint television coverage by the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

Rights for the game brought a reported $2,000,000.

Under the agreement, the game will be carried exclusively in three subsequent years on an alternating basis with CBS, NBC and CBS in that order.

The total payments for the four-year agreement, running through 1970, will be $9,500,000. The rights will be worth $2,500,000 each year after the first year.

In order to hold the Super Bowl Jan. 15, the AFL title game has been moved from Dec. 26 to Sunday, Jan. 1, the same date as the NFL championship game.

Both title games will be televised, the AFL game by NBC and the NFL game by CBS.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle also announced a rescheduling of the All-Star games of both leagues. The AFL game will be played Saturday, Jan. 14, at the Oakland Coliseum. The NFL Pro Bowl game will be played Jan. 22 at Los Angeles.

The Playoff Bowl, between the two NFL runner-up teams, will be played as scheduled Jan. 8 at Miami in the Orange Bowl.

Reds Accept Centennial Ski Offer

OTTAWA (CP) — Six countries, including Russia, have agreed to send competitors to an international ski jump at nearby Camp Fortune, Que., in February.

The Ottawa Ski Club is holding the event as part of centennial celebrations with financial help from the centennial commission.

Fred Morris of Ottawa, vice-chairman of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association and a director of the Ottawa club, said that Japan, Austria, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Russia and Sweden are sure starters.

He still awaits word from United States, France, Poland, East Germany, West Germany and Norway on their plans.

PIRATES RETAIN HOLD ON NL BATTING TITLE

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates continued to lead National League batters in 1966, only this time Matty Alou took the hitting crown instead of Roberto Clemente.

Matty Alou hit .342, well ahead of his brother Felipe's second-place .327 at Atlanta. Clemente, who won the batting crown in 1964 and 1965, batted .317 for a fourth-place tie with Richie Allen, of Philadelphia. Ricardo Carty, of Atlanta, was third at .326.

The Pirates, who have won the batting crown 19 times since 1900, also turned in the highest club batting average of .279.

ZORRA SCORES . . . . . 80TH VICTORY

Folley Wants Clay Next

HOUSTON (AP) — Second-ranked heavyweight Zora Folley, hungry for a chance at No. 1, took a unanimous 10-round decision over Jeff Davis of Houston with ease Tuesday night.

The 34-year-old resident of Phoenix, Ariz., weighed 207½ to 200 for Davis, eight years his junior. It was Folley's 80th victory in a career that started in 1953.

Folley used a right to put Davis down in the fifth after four rounds of waiting for an opening. Then Folley waited for the knockout chance that never came.

Manager Bill Swift, anxious to gain his man a title shot at champion Cassius Clay before Folley gets any older, has said he may go to court seeking such an invitation.

FINISHED FIRST . . . . . TIMED FOURTH

How's This for Logic?

TORONTO (CP)—Dave Bailey's time of three minutes, 59.1 seconds when he became the first Canadian to run a sub four-minute mile earlier this year will not be recognized.

But the Toronto runner will still be recognized as the first Canadian to shatter the four-minute barrier. His time will go into the record books as 3:59.4.

Bailey was actually clocked by one stop watch in 3:59.1 in a June track meet at San Diego in which he finished third.

Records are not accepted on the basis of a single watch.

There were four watches clocking a high school athlete who finished fourth in 3:59.4 and since Bailey could not have finished worse than that it will be accepted as his official time.

The decision was made by members of the Central Ontario Track and Field Committee Tuesday night.

Heavy Eddie Flattens Hall

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Seattle's Eddie Cotton, making his debut as a heavyweight, stopped Charlie Hall, Phoenix, in the first round of their scheduled 10 - round bout Tuesday night.

The 40-year-old Cotton nailed Hall with a right to the jaw that sent the Arizona fighter to the canvas with 19 seconds left in the opening round.

"It felt good," Cotton said, "but it should have been Roger Rouse."

Cotton lost to Rouse, of Anaconda, Mont., last month in Seattle, halting his bid for another try at the light-heavyweight title held by Jose Torres.

Giants' Coach Gets Support

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Allie Sherman of New York Giants has been given a vote of confidence by president Wellington Mara.

"Sherman is our coach," said Mara, a member of the family that owns the money-making National Football League club.

"He will coach the Giants next year and I hope in the years remaining on his contract."

Sherman has eight more years to go on his latest contract, a 10-year pact signed before the 1965 season.

The Giants are assured of close to a 63,000 sellout for each game.

Packers, Cowboys Dominate All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys dominated the National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press today by a committee of sports writers and sportscasters.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, who have clinched the Western Conference title, placed eight men on the first team—three on offence and five on defence.

Dallas, which can nail down the Eastern Conference title this weekend, placed four on the first club—one on offence and three on defence.

Only nine repeated from the 1965 squad as the positions were divided among 11 teams. Los Angeles Rams had two and no other club more than one. Washington Redskins, Pittsburgh Steelers, New York Giants and Atlanta Falcons did not put a player on the first team.

Bart Starr, the Packers' quarterback who has had his best year, was joined by tackle Forrest Gregg and guard Jerry Kramer on the offensive team.

The Packers' five-man defensive contingent included end Willie Davis, linebackers Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey, cornerback Herb Adderley and safety Willie Wood.

HAYES LONE STARTER

Bob Hayes, the fleet split end, was Dallas's only starter on offence. The Cowboys placed tackle Bob Lilly, linebacker Chuck Howley and cornerback Cornell Green on the defensive club.

Los Angeles had two members of its defensive unit on the first team—end Dave Jones and tackle Merlin Olsen.

Joining Starr in the first string backfield were running backs Gale Sayers of Chicago Bears and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland Browns and flanker Pat Studstill of Detroit Lions.

John Mackey, Baltimore Colts' tight end, was a winner along with Bob Brown of Philadelphia Eagles and Gregg at tackle. John Thomas of San Francisco '49ers and Kramer were choices for starting guards with Mick Tingelhoff of Minnesota Vikings at centre.

The repeaters on offence were Brown, Gregg, Tinglehoff and Sayers.

Jones and Davis were back again as the defensive ends, with Lilly at one tackle spot. Olsen took over the other job from Alex Karras of Detroit, Nitschke regained the middle linebacker job from Dick Butkus of Chicago Bears and Caffey and Howley replaced Joe Fortunato of Chicago and Wayne Walker of Detroit. Adderley and Wood repeated. Green and Wilson are newcomers.

PROBLEMS A-PLENTY

Games Preparations Require Time, Money

WINNIPEG (CP)—Many months of planning went into new sports facilities being built for the 1967 Pan-American Games and an almost equal amount of time was spent deciding where they should be located.

Eight sites throughout Greater Winnipeg were thoroughly investigated for the site of a $2,500,000 indoor swimming pool alone, in a survey that took 2½ months.

In charge was a group of architects and planners appointed by the facilities board of the Pan-American Games Society, directed by board chairman J. S. McMahon.

Mel Michener, technical consultant to the facilities board, described in an interview the work involved in locating the three big facilities being built for the games — the pool, a 20,000-seat track and field stadium and a velodrome.

The group had one main objective — to locate new facilities where they would be of greatest benefit when the games are completed next Aug. 7.

A survey on the pool site also considered area requirements, related open space, parking and service by public transportation.

A site at the University of Manitoba campus was considered but the university already had a pool.

No land was available for an Olympic-sized pool in the area of the Manitoba Centennial Centre under construction on Main Street.

Planners took a good look at the old exhibition grounds off McPhillips Street and found that access was difficult for the public because of railroad track barriers and lack of public transportation.

City-owned industrial land was considered, but it would have had to be purchased.

The only logical choice, said Michener, was public land on Grant Avenue in the south-end residential area where the pool is being built.

Parks Board Will Inherit Pool

The pool will be operated by the Winnipeg parks board. Arrangements are being made between the city and school board for a complete swimming instruction program. Students throughout Winnipeg will have the opportunity to learn to swim, with transportation to the pool by bus.

Originally, planners had considered the possibility of using Winnieg Stadium, home of the Blue Bombers football club, for track and field events rather than build a new track and field stadium.

Then it was discovered that new international rules meant any record established there would not be recognized. Maximum graduation in height of the playing surface is two inches, whereas Winnipeg Stadium has a high centre crown for water grainage.

A feasibility study was made on a combined stadium and velodrome or cycling track. It was found that such a large complex would be more costly to build than separate facilities. The Winnipeg Enterprises Corp. site on Empress Street meant the velodrome could enclose a regulation football field for future school and minor league use.

Construction of major sports facilities for the games is on schedule.

Improvements ot the Miller Road rifle and pistol range are complete. The Winnipeg Skeet Club site has been landscaped. Steel work is going up now on the swimming pool. The stadium will be complete by the end of the year apart from underground service connections. The velodrome is nearly complete.

Docks have been built and markers placed in the three-mile section of the $67,000,000 Greater Winnipeg Floodway, site of rowing events. Naturally spring runoff water will be used to fill the course, as well as water pumped in from the Red River.

"Everything is going ahead smoothly and on time," Michener said.

"Hey, Mac, just how much farther is it to the top?"

Percival Sticking With Track Team

TORONTO (CP) — The Don Mills Track Club of Toronto has refused to sever its association with sports trainer Lloyd Percival, possibly at the expense of affiliation with the Central Ontario Branch of the Amateur Atheletic Union of Canada.

The Central Ontario Branch has demanded that the club specify in writing over the signature of its executive that Percival is not acting in an advisory capacity to the coaches and is not associated in any way with the club.

Vic Henderson, first deputy director of the club, said Tuesday night that he has informed the Central Ontario Branch by letter that the terms of affiliation have been refused.

The registration committee of the Central Ontario Branch ruled Percival ineligible to coach members of the Don Mills Club earlier this year on the grounds that he was a professional.

Percival resigned as head coach July 4.

"If the conditions (of affiliation) remain, we'll appeal to the national executive of the AAU, and take other means at our disposal," Henderson said.

Fleming Collects Angling Trophy

Roy Fleming showed the way for members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association last month, winning the club's November trophy with a 16-pound, 12-ounce salmon.

Mrs. Wyn Rusk earned the women's monthly trophy by reeling in a 12-pound, 14-ounce fish.

Winners of hidden-weight awards were D. Marsh, H. Grant, B. Acres and A. Joyce.

FOR CARL BREWER . . .

Final Obstacle Cleared Friday

TORONTO (CP) — Manager-coach George Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs said Tuesday he has signed Carl Brewer's release and the former Leaf defenceman should be clear to play for Canada's national hockey team by Friday.

The papers were delivered by Alan Eagleson of Toronto, Brewer's lawyer. John Anderson, Imlach's secretary, has mailed them to National Hockey League headquarters.

Brewer, seeking reinstatement as an amateur, had his plans delayed when the original set of release papers were mislaid.

"These are the first papers I've seen," Imlach said. "I don't know what happened to the first set."

Lion Charged

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Roger Kettlewell of the British Columbia Lions football team was remanded without plea on Tuesday, charged with two counts of assault and one of disturbing the peace.

The charges arose from a citizen's complaint he was kicked during an altercation in the parking lot of a suburban beer parlor last Thursday.

CONCERT TONIGHT

Carols in Candlelight

A Christmas concert, Carols in the Candlelight, will be presented tonight at 8:15 in First United Church.

Performing will be the church choir and soloists Allan Husband, Bernice Irwin, Paul Wharf, Betty Buchan, David Conrad and Alice Waddell.

W. H. Gregory will conduct the 19th annual carol service, and organist will be Mrs. Ursula Bunt.

ADJUSTING her beard for role as Santa Claus at London's Savory Theatre is actress Joan Crawford. She was guest at the Christmas luncheon of the Variety Club.

Christmas In Marketplace Begins Thursday

Christmas in the Market Place, a play set in Victoria's Centennial Square, will be presented in the YW-YMCA Building Thursday at 8 p.m.

It will be performed by the New World Players of First United Church in aid of the World Service Organization of the YW-YMCA.

"This is a French play, but we have changed the setting to Centennial Square," said Rob Nelson, one of the directors.

The story concerns a family of gypsies, recent immigrants to Canada, who are supposed to have set up camp in Centennial Square and are making a living by entertaining passers-by.

The play will be repeated in the Site and Sound Theatre of First United Church on Dec. 21, 22, 23 and 24.

Train Robbed

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters) — Grenade-throwing bandits held up a train six miles from here Tuesday and escaped with $30,000 in payrolls. After pounding the engine with grenades, the bandits shot one police guard to death and injured two other persons in a gun battle.

16 YEARS BEFORE FIRST SALE

Prison Tale His Personal Experience

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donn Pearce, a bit player in the current movie Cool Hand Luke, confesses to strange sensations as he watches Paul Newman portray the title role.

"There was a real Cool Hand Luke," said Pearce, "and I knew him. But there is also a lot of me in the character."

Pearce is the author of the book from which the Warner Brothers movie is being made, and he is serving as technical adviser as well as an actor. It is the story of a Florida prison gang, and he knows the subject well. A onetime safecracker, he served time in a rural prison camp.

The novelist now is a rangy 38, and he speaks with a quiet intensity about his past life.

"I got ambitious and wanted to knock off a Tampa theatre that was playing Hamlet; I saw oig lines at the place and decided the safe must have been full. My partner didn't like the layout and refused to go along. The cops grabbed me before I could pull it off. I found out later my girl friend tipped them off."

Pearce said he served two years in a Florida prison camp and had three years of his term suspended.

ALWAYS ON MOVE

"I had always been on the move, but in prison I couldn't travel," he remarked. "Somehow I managed to save my sanity and start thinking about what I wanted to do. I had vague yearnings to write, but I didn't know how to go about it. Another inmate, a graduate of Stanford, became my intellectual father and helped me to start."

After being released, Pearce went to sea, but he began writing in earnest. He served on ships long enough to earn time on the beach for his writing, then returned again. He wrote for 16 years before his first sale.

"I wrote Cool Hand Luke six times," he recalled. "and it was rejected everywhere. Finally I submitted . . . to Knox Burger at Gold Medal Books, the paperback house. He interested Scribner's in a hardcover edition, and the movie rights sold for $80,000."

AIRLINES WIN

Air traffic across the Atlantic Ocean has increased 88 per cent since 1962 while passenger liner traffic declined 17 per cent.

Pearce now lives with his wife and child—another due any moment—at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He has written 450 pages of his next novel, based on his sea experiences, and is anxious to return to work.

"There is nightmarish quality about acting in this picture," he said. "It all seems to be happening to me again."

IT WASN'T A BIG FISH TALE

SOUTHAMPTON, England (Reuters) — Angler John Frampton landed a live Nile crocodile while fishing the Itcheh Monday.

University zoological experts say the foot-long crocodile either escaped from a zoo or was put in the river by someone who tired of it as a pet.

It Was a Banner Year For Canadian Golfers

TORONTO (CP) — The big swingers in Canadian golf in 1966 were George Knudson, Gary Cowan and Marlene Stewart Streit, who won international championships and gave Canada its best year in world-class golf.

Knudson, 29, a bespectacled professional who started out in Winnipeg and now plays out of Toronto, captured the individual titles in the Canada Cup event in Tokyo in November.

Cowan, 27, an insurance salesman in his home town of Kitchener, won the United States amateur championship at Ardmore, Pa., in September.

UNOFFICIAL TITLE

Mrs. Streit, 32-year-old mother of two girls who learned her golf in Fonthill, Ont., and now lives in Toronto, won the unofficial world women's amateur title in October in Mexico City.

Wayne Vollmer, 21-year-old junior at Arizona State University who hails from Vancouver, won the Arizona state championship with a 2 and 1 victory over Terry Johnson of Phoenix this year. The win left Vollmer, 1963 Canadian junior champ, the hottest young prospect in the country.

Professional Frank Whibley of Kitchener joined Cowan to finish second in this year's U.S. pro-amateur best-ball tourney in Cincinnati. The title went to Bobby Nichols and amateur Jim Scholoss of Cincinnati with 128 over 36 holes. Whibley and Cowan were a stroke back.

Cowan's performance in the U.S. Amateur overshadowed a 13th-place finish by Nick Weslock of Burlington, Ont., who recovered from a first-round 76 for 292.

Another Kitchener golfer, pro Moe Norman, capped a string of victories on the Canadian summer tour with a third-place finish in the Mexican Open early in November.

Mrs. Streit took dead aim at the U.S. women's amateur title and came close in that one, losing to Joanne Gunderson Carner on the fifth extra hole of the final match at Sewickley, Pa., in August.

TAKES IT EASIER

Knudson, who in 1965 became Canada's biggest money winner by collecting nearly $47,000 on U.S. and Caribbean pro tours, has not been as active this year. But in November he finished the Canada Cup tournament tied with Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan at 272 and won on the second extra hole of the sudden-death playoff by sinking a seven-foot birdie putt.

Cowan also needed a playoff for his title, defeating favored Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., two-time U.S. amateur champ, to become the first Canadian to win the tournament since C. Ross Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., did it in 1932.

Polish Tied 2-2 By Penalty Shot

MOOSE JAW (CP)—A third-period penalty-shot goal by Don Duperreault gave Moose Jaw Pla-Mors of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League a 2-2 tie with the Polish nationals in exhibition hockey before 2,000 fans Tuesday night.

Duperreault, one of five players from Regina Caps bolstering the Pla-Mors, scored at 9:45 of the period after Polish defenceman Henryk Regula hooked him while the Canadian was on a breakaway.

The other Moose Jaw goal was scored by Pla-Mor coach George Hunchuk. Polish goals were scored by Ryszard Galezewski and Fadeusz Kilanowicz.

The Polish club led 1-0 at the end of the first period and the clubs split two second-period goals.

The Polish club plays in Swift Current tonight against an intermediate all-star team.

Look what Andres have been hiding in the cellar

A delicate, ruby Beaujolais — a charming Vin Rosé — a light, dry Moselle from the preferred late-bearing vine — and an extra-dry Cocktail Sherry, in the true Fino tradition.

Not 'new' wines (they've been aged in Andrés oak casks far too long to be called 'new'), but wines that are now making their debut under the aristocratic label: Andrés Regency Wines.

These superb wines have been hidden in the cool shadows of Andrés cellars, waiting for the moment their bouquets would be most tantalizing, their flavors most exquisite.

That moment is here. Discover Andrés Regency Wines tonight.

Sharp Turns Dief Down On Bankruptcy Probe Bid

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp Tuesday rejected repeated requests from Conservative Leader Diefenbaker for a federal inquiry into the ramifications of the bankruptcy of Prudential Finance.

Mr. Diefenbaker said federal intervention is needed because of the failure of the Ontario securites commission to protect investors and the Ontario government's refusal to hold open hearings into the collapse.

The Opposition leader told the Commons a full public investigation would restore confidence among investors. They would be assured their savings will be protected.

Mr. Sharp said he is surprised Mr. Diefenbaker would suggest an inquiry into the activities of the Ontario government, which is Conservative.

The testy answer brought a renewed request for an investigation from Mr. Diefenbaker, coupled with a claim that Mr. Sharp had caused unnecessary hurt to insurance companies.

This was an apparent reference to a television interview which Mr. Sharp said was partly cut. It wrongly left the impression that Mr. Sharp felt Canadian insurance companies were not as trustworthy as foreign firms, he said.

An insurance subsidiary of Prudential, North American General Insurance Company, suffered a $529,000 securities theft in advance of the Prudential collapse.

Replying to Mr. Diefenbaker's second question, Mr. Sharp said he did not think the federal government should "assume responsibility for the Ontario government."

MANUFACTURERS SAY:

Farm Products Force Costs Up

OTTAWA (CP)—The average Canadian family paid $2.67 more a week for groceries late in 1966 than early in 1965 and $2.09 of that was due to the higher cost of farm products, the Senate-Commons committee on living costs was told Tuesday.

Only 23 cents was due to price increases by producers of packaged groceries, the committee was told.

The presentation by the Grocery Products Manufacturers of Canada was the last in the current series of hearings into food prices.

DRAFT REPORT

The committee's steering group will consider a draft report today, with the prospect of turning out an interim report for presentation to the Commons and Senate Friday.

Using official survey figures, the average grocery bill for a Canadian family as $24.22 in January, 1965. The average family was taken to earn $2,000 to $7,600 a year, ranging in size from two adults to two adults and four children.

By September, 1966, the grocery bill was up to $26.89, an increase of $2.67.

MEAT, DAIRY

Of that difference, almost 80 per cent was accounted for by price changes for beef, pork, other meats, dairy products including butter, eggs, poultry and fresh fruits and vegetables.

Processed foods, including fats and oils, canned fruits, canned vegetables, cereal products, baked goods and miscellaneous groceries, accounted for only 8.6 per cent.

Said the grocery producers' brief:

"Processed foods, representing just over 30 per cent of the food expenditures in January, 1965, have contributed under 10 per cent of the rise in prices.

"We submit that these figures record the substantial achievement of packaged groceries in keeping prices stable through a period of strong inflationary pressures."

KITCHEN TIME CUT

Besides the portions of the $2.67 increase taken by farm products and processed foods, fish accounted for seven cents, restaurant meals for 24 cents and "other" foods for four cents.

In defence of convenience foods, the association's brief said they have reduced the housewife's time in the kitchen to 1½ hours a day from 5½ hours.

The manufacturers, who sell $1,500,000,000 worth of brand-name products a year, also extolled the virtues of promotions, stating competition at the retail level—"on the shelf"—is vital.

SPACE PROGRAMS CO-ORDINATED

PARIS (Reuters) — Ministers from six European countries — Belgium, Britain, France, Italy, The Netherlands and West Germany — decided Tuesday to make the first move towards co-ordinating their various space programs.

This was the outcome of a one-day European space conference, the first ever held, by members of Western Europe's three main space groups: The European Launcher Development Organization, the European Space Research Organization and the European Conference for Satellite Telecommunications (CETS).

$6 Billion Plan To Rebuild Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A sweeping plan to redesign and rebuild Chicago at a predicted cost of $6,000,000,000 in the next 15 years was made public Tuesday by Mayor Richard J. Daley. The plan recommends general areas for residential, industrial and commercial uses and proposes a network of transportation corridors to these areas.

LIVE BY TRADE

Thirty per cent of Britain's £5,763,000,000 imports in 1965 was food, drink and tobacco.

Firing of Landymore Lenient—Senator

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot has told Rear - Admiral William Landymore that Defence Minister Hellyer was "too lenient" when he fired him and that anyone else would have court-martialed him.

"In our college days, you and I have been taught the old Greek saying that 'before commanding, one shall learn to obey'," the Quebec Liberal senator adds in a letter to the admiral.

The letter, dated Dec. 12, was made public by Senator Pouliot. He was replying to a letter from Admiral Landymore of Dec. 1, accompanying briefs and documents opposing armed forces unification legislation now before the Commons.

Admiral Landymore was dismissed from the services last summer over his attitude on unification. At the time he was chief of Maritime Command. Since then he has waged a vigorous campaign against the program.

Senator Pouliot's letter says the admiral "is overlooking the fact that both world wars have been won by the allied armies under the united command of Marshal Foch and General Eisenhower."

The senator says he approved the dismissal of the admiral by Defence Minister Hellyer.

"My only regret was that he was too lenient. I wonder if you have realized that anyone else would have found it serious enough for a court martial."

Eskimo Becoming Bitter

TORONTO (CP) — The Eskimo is becoming a bitter man and is losing his sense of dignity and pride, the president of the Ontario division of the Canadian Indian-Eskimo Association said here.

Martin O'Connell told a United Nations seminar on human rights that conditions in the North are partially responsible for this attitude.

"You're not going to support people on carvings," he said of the soapstone carvings many Eskimos depend on as a source of income.

Mr. O'Connell also criticized the training given to teachers going to Indian reserves.

"In Ontario they are just shot out with no real training for this type of situation at all."

Indians have been "too tolerant, too patient" about their own situation, he said.

Foul-Mouthed Convicts Get Longer Terms

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three convicts were given long prison terms Monday for an escape attempt that failed and for shouting abuse at the judge during their trial.

"Heil, Hitler," Dominic Codispoti, 35, of Philadelphia, yelled at Judge Albert A. Fiok as the convict was led away after sentencing.

Herbert F. Langes, 26, of Lancaster County, Pa., renewed an earlier threat on the judge's life. "I intend to keep that promise," Langes said.

Richard Mayberry, 28, of Philadelphia was the quietest. "Wait a minute now..." he said, as the judge began sentencing him. Then his voice trailed off.

Mayberry got the longest sentence, 31 to 62 years, for contempt of court, prison breach and holding guards hostage. Codispoti drew 27 to 54 years and Langes 26 to 52 on the same charges.

The judge said they must serve the time after finishing their present sentences, ranging from five to 34 years, for armed robbery.

The trio was convicted Friday for a breakout attempt at Western State penitentiary in June, 1965.

NINE-YEAR "exercise in courage" paid dividends Tuesday when Goodwill Enterprises millionth wage dollar was presented to rehabilitation centre receptionist Louise Danard, 22, by Health Minister Wesley Black (left). Goodwill president-treasurer George Gray (left) forecast $2 million will be paid in 1970. This year's wage total, too, may reach $200,00, far cry from $900 figure that went to workers in Goodwill's founding year of 1957.

Doctor Denies Killing Neighbor

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP)—Dr. Carl Coppolino's defence rested at his murder trial today, after he took the witness stand to deny that he killed his friend and neighbor, Lt.-Col. William E. Farber, in 1963. He said instead he tried to save the victim's life.

Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill adjourned court for the day after the defence rested. The case is expected to reach the jury Thursday. The trial began Dec. 5.

Under cross-examination, Dr. Coppolino admitted he had been intimate with Farber's attractive widow, Marjorie, both before and after the retired U.S. Army officer's July 30, 1963, death.

Dr. Coppolino denied the story Mrs. Farber told from the witness stand that he had solicited her to kill her husband or that he did the job himself when she failed.

He said Farber was in the throes of a heart attack when he last saw him alive.

SUMMONED TO HOME

Dr. Coppolino, 34 - year - old anesthesiologist, said he was summoned to Farber's home by Mrs. Farber early on the morning of his death.

REACH OVERSEAS

The U.S.S.R. does $16,000,000,000 worth of foreign trade a year.

The doctor told his murder trial jury that Farber, 50, was pale, sweating and gasping for air.

After administering several emergency drugs, Dr. Coppolino said he pleaded with the Farbers to summon an ambulance to take the colonel to hospital.

But Mrs. Farber firmly refused, Dr. Coppolino said, adding:

"When she said no, he (Farber) went into a long harangue with Mrs. Farber, which wasn't complimentary."

A few minutes later, Dr. Coppolino went on, Farber himself refused hospital treatment.

Overtime Earns Cash —But Not Very Much

The provincial cabinet Tuesday broke its own appeal against overtime pay—but did it on the cheap.

Overtime compensation owing almost 30 public works building maintenance men and stationary engineers for extra hours put in this year will be paid in cash but "on a straight time basis," a cabinet order said.

Works Minister W. N. Chant said the bill will come to about $1,800. He said it was impossible to arrange time off.

Premier Bennett Sept. 28 said the government would ban overtime for its employees to set an example to industry as an anti-inflationary measure. But his signature endorsed Tuesday's order-in-council.

Gandhi Son Fined

CREWE, England (Reuters) — The teen-age son of Indian Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi was fined £5 ($15) Tuesday for being without a valid driver's licence. Sanjay, 19, is a trainee motor mechanic.

Scores Stranded by Duncan Flood

DUNCAN—Two families were evacuated and about 50 people were stranded in 12 homes by flood waters Tuesday.

Continual rain all month made the Koksilah and Cowichan Rivers burst their banks Monday night. The two families were evacuated Tuesday when flood waters invaded the yards of their homes near the Clem-Clem-Alutz Bridge.

This is where the Cowichan and Koksilah Rivers join before discharging into Cowichan Bay.

Huddled over an oil stove in Cowichan Indian Community Centre this morning, Mr. and Mrs. Francis James talked about going back to their reserve home.

Mrs. James said the water did not get into their house but was up over her knees when she went to gather wood for the fire.

Another family evacuated to the community centre near downtown Duncan was Mrs. Beatrice Daniels and her six children.

Mr. Daniels is in hospital.

The family home is on Cowichan Bay Road. Koksilah River had burst its banks to run several feet high through the field at the rear of the Daniels' house.

TAKE FURNITURE

Tuesday afternoon a truck had to wait for the water to recede before it could get in to evacuate the Daniels' furniture.

Abel Joe, deputy chairman of Cowichan Indian band flood control committee, organized the evacuation.

He advised nine other families to move but they decided to stay and risk this morning's high tide.

Tuesday's flooding was at its worst in the Clem-Clem area lying in the Koksilah flats between the two rivers.

Gil Ewen of Cowichan Indian Agency said today: "I was down there and don't know of any houses which actually had water inside them."

FLOOD CONTROL

He said some $2,000 work of flood control work was done in the area this past summer.

"We can only do so much and it's impossible to bank the river up or do much to control the rivers as they change course. And the fisheries department has a lot to say about taking gravel out of the river bed."

SERIES OF DAMS

He said there is provision for more control work next year but added: "The only way to really control the flooding is by a series of dams higher up the rivers and that would require a tremendous amount of money."

Menawhile, the rain stopped Tuesday morning and the flood waters have receded.

Mr. James said: "I'll have to buy a pair of high rubber boots and go back."

The Daniels' family will decide later today whether or not to return home. They spent the night in the community centre.

Meantime Ald. James Saunders assured city council the diking of the Cowichan River alongside the townsite is holding up well.

SAFETY MARGIN

He said: "There has been a little seepage but we have a good safety margin."

On the north side of Duncan, municipal works crews had two 600-gallon-a-minute capacity pumps working Monday night and Tuesday to keep Somenos Creek flood waters out of the houses on Beverly Street.

BEWARE OF FLOOD is what the signs should read on Beverly Street, on the edge of Duncan, as the Cowichan River overflowed to isolate homes in the subdivision. No dogs were seen, not even a water spaniel.

MLAs TOLD TO BEHAVE

COURTENAY — Thirty high school students from here will visit the legislature Jan. 27 — if MLAs promise to conduct themselves "in a suitable manner."

This was the provision set by Courtenay school board in a letter to Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell who has reserved the date for the student's visit.

School superintendent C. E. Ritchie was dubious about the 1967 visit, after accompanying the students to the legislature during the last session.

"Frankly, I found it disgusting," he said.

The trip was approved by the board on the provision that MLAs behave themselves Jan. 27.

There, that does it. Tree's all trimmed. Presents are wrapped. Anything else? Ah, yes – one thing. Here's wishing you a very merry old style Christmas from all the folks at Molson's!

Contract Near In School Arbitration

DUNCAN—In proposing a 5½ per cent salary increase for Cowichan district teachers on Tuesday, Carl Anshelm, for the school trustees told the arbitration board: "It is not as high as the settlement figure I'm convinced you will bring in.

"It is suggested as a guide."

S. B. Fulton for the teachers said 7.3 per cent was much more realistic in view of the general trends of wage increases in B.C.

He said: "Pay increases are an important factor in teacher recruitment."

The teachers' increase requests range from 9 per cent minimum for elementary basic teachers bringing them to a starting salary of $4,400, to a 7 per cent maximum for professional advance teachers giving them a salary after 14 years of $10,900.

JUST STARTING

Mr. Fulton said: "The salaries for teachers just staring out are deplorably low."

Mr. Anshelm argued if teachers insist on negotiation at the local level then local economics would be a determining factor in fixing salaries.

He said pulp workers received wage increases this year ranging from 3.5 to 6.3 per cent, and IWA members received a 6.26 per cent raise.

The teachers failed in a bid to reopen negotiations before the arbitratinon board on administrators' and supervisors' allowances.

Mr. Anshelm claimed the teachers waived their right to reopen when they signed an agreement lasting to December 1970.

Jack Taggart, board chairman, said in the absence of agreement between the parties as to what matters were before the hearing the board had no power to assume jurisdiction.

Mr. Fulton said later "we will keep under advisement" the question of seeking a ruling from the Supreme Court.

Navy League Cadets Best in District

DUNCAN — Cowichan Navy League cadets have been presented with a shield as the top corps of 1966 in the Vancouver Island division.

League president Peter Brand presented the shield to petty officer Richard Prideaux.

The Cowichan corps scored 90.3 per cent to top all the corps in B.C. and place 14th out of 76 across Canada.

ISLAND ROUNDUP

Death Ends Plane Dream

COMOX — Just three months after showing off his home-made plane to the world, Corporal Jean Roy died at its controls Tuesday.

The plane he loved apparently fell apart, plunging the 32-year-old metal worker into a field near here.

His body was pulled from the crumpled cockpit by his workmates — members of the search and rescue squadron at RCAF Comox.

So ended a dream which began more than a year ago when the father of three was stationed in Edmonton.

That was when he bagan work on his self-designed plane.

It was July 25 this year, after being posted to Comox, that the pilot proudly took his craft on its maiden flight.

On the side was painted: "This plane is designed as an ultra-light craft and is operating without a certificate of airworthiness."

★ ★ ★

This meant no passengers.

Eye-witnesses to Tuesday's crash said the plane appeared to nose down and the wings broke off.

Department of transport officials are investigating.

Municipal affairs department planners are going well beyond legal requirements to inform Metchosin and Langford residents about zoning proposals for their area according to J. Everett Brown, deputy municipal affairs minister.

Mr. Brown recalled that four hearings have already been held to get the reaction of residents to zoning proposals.

As a result of their representations, some changes in proposals were made and the amended draft plan is now on view for inspection in Room 446 of the Douglas Building on Government Street.

Mr. Brown said department officials have rented a store at 736 Goldstream, in Langford, in order to display their proposals to residents. The proposed plan will be on view there from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. this Friday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

And a public hearing is to be held at 8 p.m., December 19, in Belmont High School at which residents may voice their opinions on the proposed zoning.

Mr. Brown was replying to criticisms from some residents that the department is "cramming zoning down our throats." The area is a community planning zone although it is composed of unorgainzed territory. It is the municipal affairs department which decides zoning for such areas.

Island Tour Scheduled For Show

The Best of Barkerville show, hit of the British Columbia Centennial Year 1966, will go on the road again in 1967 as part of the province's contributions to Confederation centennial celebrations.

The high-stepping revue will tour 19 locations under the Provincial Centennial Committee in co-operation with local centennial committees.

The show features 10 members of the original cast of Ghost Town, Barkerville's revue in songs, dances and patter, looking back to gold rush days when the Cariboo country was bursting with adventure.

During the 1966 tour, The Best of Barkerville played to large audiences on a British Columbia tour, with a side trip to Alaska centres.

Island Schedule for the 1967 tour follows:

Jan. 13, 14 Campbell River; Jan, 16 Courtenay; Jan. 17 Courtenay; Jan. 18 Parksville; Jan. 19 Ucluelet; Jan. 20, 21 The Albernis; Jan. 23, 24 Nanaimo; Jan. 25 Ladysmith; Jan, 26 Salt Spring Island; Jan. 27 Duncan; Jan. 28 Sooke; Jan. 30 Langford; Jan. 31 Sidney. Feb. 1, 2 Victoria.

That small repair or renovation job can be done before Xmas.

In Her Words—'I Run the Joint'

BRITISHER DIRECTS PARIS SALON

By BETH RESLER

WASHINGTON — Mme. Ginette Spanier, as directress of couturier Pierre Balmain's Paris salon, supervises collection openings, daily showings and 600 employees. She says of her job, "I run the joint."

Mme. Spanier, who lapses into French when only that will express her thoughts, borrowed the word "joint" from Danny Kaye.

The first time "Danny, darling Danny" came into the salon, "he looked at me and said, 'what's a British broad like you doing in a joint like this,' and I've loved him ever since," she said.

Mme. Spanier has also loved the word "joint" ever since.

Guest speaker at a women's luncheon, she told the women she thought it was marvelous that they could get together for such a luncheon.

"The idea of a whole lot of French women laughing and talking together like this is perfectly ridiculous. French women loathe each other. You see two together sometimes, but three means a whole lot of trouble brewing."

Describing the French movie star Brigitte Bardot's fittings for a gown to wear at her presentation to Queen Elizabeth, the effervescent Mme. Spanier said, "I told Brigitte that she couldn't wear one of those low necklines. Why, we've all got . . . them. Brigitte thinks she's cornered the market."

Half of what makes a woman love a dress, said Mme. Spanier, can be that label, or la griffe, "that little warm spot on the back of your neck." That often means it costs more, and all the better, she said; it's good to sneak a bit of the household money into a dress. "Guilt does a great deal for any dress," she confided.

The expensive price tag on a Balmain dress, she explained, is largely for time, 100 hours on an average dress, or 80 hours on a "bread and butter" dress.

Why so much time? First, all work is done by hand. "And then, woman is not a symetrical animal. She's not the same on both sides," she said, "and I don't mean front and back. As long as there are ladies who have money to have both sides fitted, we're in business."

Mme. Spanier got her start selling during the depression when she and her sisters saw they would have to get jobs. Her first job was guarding — not selling — costume jewelry in Fortnum and Mason's in London, then selling at the gift counter.

In 1939, "I did a very stupid thing; I fell in love with a Frenchman, a tall handsome thing who can still melt me with that look men have like a wet, lost kitty," she said. "It wasn't stupid because he was a Frenchman, but because of the date. We went back to France and found ourselves in the middle of a war. We felt like hunted animals; I fainted in the street from hunger and nearly went blind from malnutrition."

When they heard the Americans had landed — "Oh, you wonderful people" — they bicycled for 12 hours through to the American lines, Mme. Spanier in rags, but with the two outfits she had saved for liberation day on the back of her bike. One was a little classic black suit, the other a frilly night dress. "After all, the Americans might come in the night, and I had visions of myself hanging out the window like a dramatic Jeannette Macdonald," she said.

After the war, they settled in Paris. It was a request from a friend to buy "two dresses from that new man, Pierre Balmain" that first got Mme. Spanier into Balmain's salon.

When she raised a furor with the vendeuse, Balmain's mother was so impressed with her, she announced, "we need a woman like you in this firm." Mme. Spanier started to work the next day.

Mme. Spanier is on a U.S. speaking tour through Dec. 23. She spent a night here with Mrs. Art Buchwald, a former employee and long-time friend. "Why, I held their hands at the wedding," she said. "Do you know they call me 'Mama'?"

"You must keep in mind that I handle the business, not the fashion side of the house, that I'm extremely conservative, and that I've been in the same job 19 years," she said. "I think I must lack imagination!"

VON MEETING

Nursing Director Reports On Work in the Community

Giving a report of the work load completed by Victorian Order of Nurses personnel during the past month, executive director Miss Elizabeth Riddell said that 203 patients had been admitted and 1,989 visits made. Speaking at the monthly board meeting, held in Spencerhouse, Miss Riddell told directors that three new staff members who had attended the regional institute on "Meeting the Needs of the Elderly" had found the information of great assistance.

In her report, Miss Riddell said that physiotherapist Mrs. K. Thomson had made 14 visits to assess patients and had had conferences with the attendant nurses, each of whom had been supplied with a new rehabilitation manual, issued from the national office. The book was reviewed with the nurses, each of whom practises the normal range of motion exercises under the therapist's guidance.

Miss Betty Short had given 10 counselling sessions at the Silver Threads Centre with an average attendance of 48. She had also given three classes for undergraduate students, these being on prenatal instruction and relaxation exercises for expectant mothers. In addition, four undergraduate students from the local schools of nursing had travelled with VON nurses in order to get an outline of the work carried out.

J. B. Barnum presided at the meeting and secretary was Mrs. G. A. Jones. A treasurer's report was given by A. J. M. Round. Motor committee chairman J. C. Cox reported on maintenance and insurance of the 10 staff cars. A discussion was also held on improving the telephone service for the VON office.

It was announced that more than $300 had been realized by the VON Auxiliary's Marche and Christmas luncheon, proceeds of which will be used to furnish equipment.

Miss Riddell and Miss Short had attended a luncheon at the Silver Threads Centre in order to meet 14 Ontario MLAs who were on a trans-Canada tour in order to observe what is being done for the aged in various areas.

Evening of Fun Enjoyed by Group

Miss Mattie Sater was the hostess when the Social Credit Dogwood Auxiliary held a Christmas party in the Roof Lounge of the El Mirador Apartments. Members exchanged gifts and served refreshments.

Mrs. E. Hawkins, one of the guests, played several selections on her accordion and received a white orchid from the hostess.

Others invited were Miss Molly Filmer, Mrs. Fred Schoor, Mrs. F. W. Harris, Mrs. Clarence Rhinehart, Mrs. J. R. Pipes, Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. D. Rodin.

Christmas carols were sung and Mrs. P. G. Rabey showed color slides of lighted houses in Victoria, taken during the holiday season, and a winter trip via Rogers Pass to Banff, Alta.

Adding to the color of the occasion, many of the women attended in centennial costumes.

Of Personal Interest

FETE VISITORS

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes will receive a group of 11 visitors from Mexico City on Thursday afternoon. Aged from 20 to 26 years, the visitors are a contingent that forms British Columbia's first experiment in the UNESCO-sponsored International Living project in which young people live in various countries, being billetted in private homes. This week's visitors arrived in Canada on December 8 and will stay here until January 18, living in both Vancouver and Prince George. They're headed by the owner of a tourist bus company. The party also includes primary teachers and students.

WED 50 YEARS

On Tuesday, December 27, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Paxton will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an "open house" from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. in their home at 150 Douglas Street. The couple was married on December 27, 1916, in North Battleford, Sask., and made their home in Maidstone, Sask., until coming to Victoria in 1947. They have five daughters: Mrs. Betty McLaren and Mrs. M. (Ethel) Stubbs, of Victoria; Mrs. Margaret Molyneux, Vancouver; Mrs. Esther Zworin, Calgary; Mrs. Harold (Wilma) Jolley, Kamloops, and two sons, Ian, Victoria, and Capt. A. Bruce Paxton, who is stationed with the Royal Canadian Army in Germany. They also have seven grandchildren. On Monday, December 26, the honor couple's family, except Bruce, will gather for a family dinner.

Entertain

The Oak Bay Place home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patton will be the scene of a holiday cocktail party, Thursday evening. Invitations have been sent to more than 35 guests.

Cocktail Party

There were 180 guests attending a cocktail party, Thursday evening, held in the Union Club. Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Allen hosted the affair. Guests were business associates and friends of Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation. Out-of-town guests attended from Nanaimo and Duncan.

Holiday Decor

Tinsel, bells and red candles, arranged by Mrs. Millard Lougheed, set a holiday motif in the dining room of Craigdarroch Castle when the Castle Society held its annual tea there on Saturday. Adding to the attractive candlelit setting were tintypes, pewter steins and a shocking pink mustache cup, complete with an inscribed picture of the Parliament Buildings on it. These and other antique bric-a-brac that graced the mantels of mahogany and stone, were arranged by Miss Inez Mitchell and Mrs. Gwaldys M. Welsh. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. A. Douglas Turnbull, Mrs. Naomi Woodburn, Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan and Mrs. J. Dimery Johnson.

RAISE $415

Holiday Theme Used At Esquimalt Bazaar

The sum of $415 was realized recently when the Mothers' Auxiliary to St. Paul's School held a Christmas bazaar and tea. The school was decorated in a gay holiday theme for the event which Mrs. R. A. Whyte convened.

The dads pitched in to help by selling a variety of Christmas decorations, novelties and mincemeat at the fathers' stall, supervised by Mr. and Mrs. David Barlow.

Especially for the youngsters was a Christmas tree which offered all sorts of small gifts to delight a child's heart. This was managed by Mrs. R. Dickinson. Other attractions for the "younger set" were a fish pond, supervised by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Darling, and soft drinks and cookies, handled by Mrs. Ed Barlow. Mr. Whyte showed films.

Tea arrangements were by Mrs. Stanley Horner. In charge of the various stalls were Mrs. L. Wilson, home cooking; Mrs. J. O'Malia, white elephants; Mrs. H. McIntosh, toys; and Mrs. T. S. Ward, sewing.

Pink and White

A basket gaily decorated in pink and white tones contained the gifts presented to bride-elect Miss Margaret Dawson when she entertained at a shower in the Hobbs Road home of Mrs. T. G. Heppell. Chrysanthemums en corsage were given to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. I. Dawson; the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. C. Tayler and his grandmother, Mrs. E. Heppell. Among those attending were Mrs. D. A. Neale, Mrs. E. Wagg, Mrs. W. Huxtable, Mrs. G. Mackintosh, Mrs. T. Dickenson, Mrs. F. Gilbert, Mrs. C. Sanson, Mrs. B. Sluggett, Mrs. M. E. Heppell, Mrs. M. Heppell Jr., Mrs. T. Henderson, Mrs. H. Oldfield, Mrs. L. Colby, the Misses Kathleen and Thelma Thompson, Maidie Cottingham and Cathy Dawson.

Any Party 'Stumbler' Needs These Tumblers

By Penny Saver

The main ingredient in the recipe for a successful party is the perfect hostess. This type of genius is one who has thought of everything well ahead of time. She isn't like me, for example, who may have loaned a set of party glasses to a friend and forgets about these until guests start arriving at the door! The party goes on with or without the missing set, but it doesn't at all make the hostess feel at ease. The one way to step around this problem is to stock shelves with all kinds of tumblers.

One set that I found is a boon to party fun. It contains eight party tumblers decorated in an exclusive pattern. Selling for $3.49 the set, this line comes in a 10-ounce heavy bottom tumbler, or a seven-ounce "old-fashioned" type. Plan parties well ahead of time. Pick up a set of these today.

Perfect go-along with the dinner-party set is a hand-carved salad bowl set of walnut. The polished finish hardwood makes a decorative table setting. A large 10-inch bowl plus four smaller individual salad bowls, along with a serving fork and spoon come with this set, priced at $9.66.

For one eager young seamstress on your list, pick up a sewing basket that sells in this shop for $5.98. The woven basket comes in an assortment of colors, with an alligator top. It has a tray inside for needles, threads and scissors. A handle makes it easy to carry.

My own sewing basket is a tangled mess of patterns, bits of material, half-finished sweaters and balls of wool. I did a "housecleaning" job and decided that the best thing for my wool and partly finished articles is another sewing basket.

Speaking of knitted items I found the ideal item for my young niece at Christmas time. It's a little frock that looks and feels wonderfully soft and warm. These hand-knitted dresses are accented with colorful ribbons at the waistline and sleeves. Price is $7.50.

Another item for baby is a set containing a sweater, bonnet and booties. These come in various sizes and prices range from $5.95 to $7.50. Colors are soft shades of blue, tangerine, pink and white. Each item is highlighted with ribbons. They're made of the finest English wools (and that's no yarn—if you'll pardon the pun!)

Give Penny a call at 382-3131. She'll tell you where she found these items.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Heads Group—Mrs. B. Austin was elected president of the Esquimalt Women's Institute at the group's recent meeting. Other new officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. A. McVie; second, Mrs. L. Hobday; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. M. Carver, and auditors, Mrs. McVie and Mrs. S. Hobday.

Smorgasbord—A smorgasbord supper was served when the Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club held its annual Christmas supper in the Dallas Road home of Miss Jessie Duff. President Evelyn Taylor chaired the meeting which followed. The evening concluded with a program of entertainment, during which the Christmas draw was made.

Plan Luncheon

The Welcome Wagon will hold a Christmas luncheon for newcomers to Victoria on Wednesday, December 21 at King Arthur's Round Table. Those interested in further particulars should phone Mrs. R. G. Wilson at 385-6958 before Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Weberg will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday with an "open house" in their home at 4325 Quadra Street. They were married on December 22, 1916, in Kelliher, Sask., and pioneered in that district. They moved to Victoria in 1946. Hosting the affair, from 2 to 4 p.m., will be their two sons, Arthur and Gordon, and four daughters, Mrs. F. (Tilly) Quick, Mrs. D. (Mabel) Wakeham; Mrs. T. (Grace) Walls, and Mrs. J. (Sylvia) Spoor.

Named Head of Tofino Auxiliary

Mrs. J. B. Partington was was named president of the Woman's Auxiliary to St. Columba Anglican Church, Tofino, recently, when the group held its annual meeting in the Tofino home of Mrs. William Silta. Also elected to the new executive were Mrs. M. T. Moore, vice-president; Mrs. Douglas Arnet, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. E. R. Hagelin, social and sick visiting convener.

Opening the meeting was Rev. H. Silvesters, rector of St. Columba and St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Ucluelet.

Following the meeting, a buffet supper was served and members enjoyed a social evening.

Nicholls-Howard Vows Exchanged In Ceremony at Esquimalt Base

An exquisite floor-length gown of white embossed brocade was worn by Joanne Elizabeth Howard when she became the bride of Ronald Gary Nicholls. The A-line gown featured an empire bodice styled with sleeves ending in lily points. Her cathedral train swept back from the shoulders. Pearls starred the wedding ring headpiece which held her five-tier, shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, and her only jewelry accent was a pearl necklace and earrings belonging to her mother.

Rev. A. G. Faraday officiated at the ceremony in St. Andrew's Chapel, Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt, uniting the daughter of Lt.-Cmdr. Arthur P. Howard and Mrs. Howard, 925 Parklands Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Nicholls, 1182 Colville Road. Lt.-Cmdr. Howard gave his daughter in marriage.

The church was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums at the altar.

The bride's attendants, maid of honor Miss Patricia Roskamp and bridesmaid, the groom's sister, Miss Judy Nicholls, were dressed in identical gowns of peau de soie in turquoise tone. The empire dresses were styled along A-lines. Headpieces were flowers of the same material, circled with net, and they carried bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums. Jewelry was the bride's gifts of pearl drop necklaces and earrings.

Robert Buie was best man, and guests were ushered to pews marked with white satin bows and wedding bells by Terry Marson and the bride's brother, Michael Howard.

The three-tier wedding cake was flanked with sweetheart roses and silver candelabra at the reception following in the wardroom, Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt. Lieut. George Green proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon to the United States, the new Mrs. Nicholls chose a two-piece suit of French silk brocade in winter white shade. She completed her ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

When they return, the couple will make their home at Willaim Fraser Tolmie Apartments, Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Travelling from Vancouver to attend the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Howard and Mr. and Mrs. A. Principe.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Varicose Veins Are Not One of Woman's Assets

I have just read this letter from a reader. I think her problem will interest many other readers.

"I am writing to you about varicose veins. I'm not very old; I am in my mid-twenties. Could you tell me, Mrs. Lowman, what kind of hose and what color I should wear in stockings so that my legs will not look so unattractive? Although I do not have many veins, they show. Maybe you could suggest something for me to do.

Lowman

"Sometimes I don't know what to do. I have friends my age, but I always feel older on account of my veins."

Somehow I feel that this young woman is exaggerating the situation in her own mind, although it is certainly possible to have varicose veins at her age. I wonder if the veins she mentions are really varicose or just a little prominent?

We would all be in a very bad fix if we didn't have veins in our legs although I must admit that they are not one of woman's beautiful assets. Even when varicosity is not present some women have much more noticeable veins than others. This depends on several factors.

Your weight affects this. The veins are more prominent in very thin people. Also the thickness of the skin plays a part. Naturally very thin skin does not hide the veins as well as thick skin. Heredity is also partly responsible, because it dictates the size of the veins and the way they are placed.

However, if you have the beginning of varicose veins preventative measures are most important. Don't wait until these blood vessels become large and knotty and until the blood that flows through them is inhibited. Try to avoid long periods of standing. Several times a day take short rest periods either lying down or sitting, but with your feet elevated.

Walking benefits varicose veins. Elastic stockings are helpful because they give veins support and prevent the swelling of your veins to some extent. Early treatment is essential. If you see your physician when you first notice the veins and follow his advice, it will probably be possible for you to delay or prevent the progress of this condition. Sometimes injections are used in the early stages.

The elastic stockings will help hide the veins and are not unattractive in appearance. Of course, the darker shades are best.

If you would like figure moulding exercises which take only a few seconds a day and get quick results you may want my "Isometric Exercises for Women." If so, send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for that booklet. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

THE BETTER HALF — By Bob Barnes

"You don't even put gas in this silly vehicle, but it costs more per hour to run than a diesel truck."

DEAR ABBY . . .

Friendship Ends At the Bus Stop

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please comment on people who can afford to buy a car, but prefer to spend their money on European vacations and other luxuries? Yet, they expect their friends to provide them with taxi service. These same people never offer to buy a gallon of gas, and should there be any accident, they would be the first to sue the owner of the car.

The driver has all the liability attached to safely transporting the passenger just the same as a taxi driver, but without the remuneration. How do you discourage people like this?

LA JOLLA.

DEAR LA JOLLA: You "discourage" them by refusing to transport them. But don't expect a cordial relationship to follow. And it is impossible to get rid of the boil without losing the patient.

DEAR ABBY: I am always getting blamed for the letters in your column written by women who hate cigaret smoke, so I thought I might as well get in my two cents and get the credit.

Is cigaret smoke as thick as fog in your home, ashes all over the place, and cigaret breath grounds for divorce? I know some taste good like a cigaret should, but my husband's kisses taste terrible. He wants kisses, and he knows how I feel about his cigaret breath, so why does he smoke?

HOLDING OUT.

DEAR HOLDING: Your husband smokes, poor slave, because he can't kick the habit. I don't recommend the "hold out" system. He might turn to something (or someone) else.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to my first prom, and my date has invited me out for dinner first. What should I order? Don't say to order whatever HE does because I have to order first. My date isn't exactly poor, but he's not rich either. Please suggest something.

OUT OF IDEAS.

DEAR OUT: Don't order the most expensive thing on the menu or you'll hurt his pocketbook. And don't order the cheapest thing on the menu or you'll hurt his feelings. Order a dinner because the salad, vegetable, beverage, and dessert usually come with it.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column of the girl who had been sent off to college with a whole new wardrobe, only to write home after two months that she needed more clothes because her boy friend had seen her in everything she owned. You advised her mother to tell her to get a new boy friend and start over. Good for you!

Now, may I tell you a true story: Once there was a struggling young law student who became very much attracted to a very pretty little co-ed, but he noticed that every time he dated her she was wearing a different outfit. He soon realized that he could never afford to keep that girl in clothes, so he quit dating her before he got too involved. I was that man.

PARTIES HERALD WEDDING OF MISS SHEILA HINCKS THIS SATURDAY

A round of parties heralds the marriage of Miss Sheila Hincks, whose marriage to Mr. Kenneth Pringle takes place this coming Saturday.

She received white carnations en corsage when Mrs. R. Matthias and Mrs. J. Osbourn gave a surprise shower in the Matthias' home on Dunford Road. Similar corsages of chrysanthemums were received by the honor guest's mother, Mrs. K. B. Hincks, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. D. W. Pringle. The gifts were in a decorated first-aid kit that was topped with a miniature bride and nurse, the latter honoring the bride-to-be's profession.

Also invited were Mrs. D. Gilman, Mrs. D. Smith, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. J. Mickelson, Mrs. V. Patzack, Mrs. V. Roberge, Mrs. I. Valleau, Mrs. M. Humphries, Mrs. M. Plumb, Mrs. Carswell, Mrs. P. Price, Mrs. G. McKay, Mrs. M. Powell, Mrs. D. Arthur, Mrs. R. Tucknott and Miss Gail Currie.

Pink and white streamers decorated the container that held the gifts when Mrs. E. Aspin gave a shower in her Brock Road home. Co-hostess was Mrs. O. Proudfoot. Carnations en corsage were received by the honor guest, her mother and the groom-elect's mother.

Others attending were Mrs. N. McCullock, Mrs. L. Lequesne, Mrs. K. Lequesne, Mrs. B. Charbonneau, Mrs. N. Fuller, Mrs. M. Powley, Mrs. C. Staverman, Mrs. L. Massie, Mrs. J. Hincks, Mrs. S. Hardisty and Mrs. D. Holmwood.

The bride-elect's godmother, Mrs. Edith Hebden, gave a shower in her Penshurst Road home, presenting Miss Hincks, her mother and the groom-elect's mother with blue and white Christmas corsages.

Yellow and green streamers decorated the honor guest's chair and the box which contained the gifts. A decorated shower cake centred the refreshment table.

Guests included Mrs. M. Hebden, Mrs. O. Lucas, Mrs. E. Fenwick, Mrs. D. Barber, Mrs. N. McCullock, Mrs. D. Crocker, the Misses Shari Lucas, Mary Lou McKay and Lynn Barber.

Ribbon rose corsages were presented to Miss Hincks, her mother and the groom-elect's mother when officers and members of Bethel No. 36, International Order of Job's Daughters, honored the bride-to-be, the group's past honored queen.

The many gifts were in a yellow laundry bin. Yellow and orange rosebuds decorated the shower cake which was a focal point of the refreshment table.

Gifts of china and saucepans were presented from several of the church's groups when members of St. Matthew's Anglican Church gathered in the church hall to fete Miss Hincks, who also received a white chrysanthemum and holly corsage. Corsages of spring flowers were presented to her mother and the groom-elect's mother. Mrs. R. Guyton presented the gifts after a sing-song and games had been enjoyed.

STUDENTS of St. Margaret's School got into the Christmas spirit Tuesday by presenting a $125 cheque to the Victoria Chapter of the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Beth Cole presents the donation to Peter King, fund raising chairman of the group. The money will assist local children stricken with the disease. The students also pledged to sell Centeninal tulips in order to raise money for CF research.

TINY TOTS TATOOED ON SKIN

Dress of Shiny Black Sequins And Its Trip Into Go-Go Land

By ELIZABETH FORBES

There's a rush on in various parts of the country right now to resurrect Grandma's silks and satins from attic trunks and to remake them in the dance frock image beloved by twinkle-toed chicks of today's generation.

Forbes

That's why the story I am about to tell you has in it more than a touch of coincidence as well as being true in all details.

It starts back in the '20s when Mrs. R. P. Rithet, then one of Victoria's outstanding hostesses, bought a dress made almost entirely of shiny black sequins. She wore it at a number of social events, then "retired" it to a big attic storeroom, where it was almost forgotten.

Some 10 years later when "Gisburn," the family home at the corner of Rockland Avenue and Moss Street, was being closed, Mrs. Rithet sent a trunk filled with gowns she had worn on various occasions to a rummage sale. The sequin dress was amongst them.

Sponsoring the sale was the junior IODE Daisy Chain Chapter with members from 17 to 20 years of age.

You can well imagine that those gowns had little chance of reaching the public. They were snapped up by the girls themselves who, like their present-day counterparts, saw possibilities in the lovely silks and satins.

★ ★ ★

The black sequin dress went to Miss Eleanor Dinsdale (now Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury) who immediately remodelled it with a wide black net ruching around the hem to make it floor-length.

She wore it for "several seasons" and each time she put it one it made her feel "very sophisticated and grown up." Finally it was relegated to her attic trunk.

★ ★ ★

Again there was a lapse of time. Then a letter came from a former Daisy Chain member, Miss Wilma Henderson, in San Francisco, asking if the black sequin frock was still in existence. If so, could she borrow it?

Off it went to California. Miss Henderson changed the net on the skirt for a wide black velvet band and added long velvet sleeves. And the frock was "on the road" for another couple of years.

When it returned to Victoria it was again "popped away" in a trunk — this time in the Spilsbury attic.

Years later, the senior class in Oak Bay High School decided to present the hilarious play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

★ ★ ★

Gail Manning and Gail Morrison (both married now and with children of their own) had the title roles of Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough.

You will remember that in the story they went off on a trip to Europe and while in Paris pooled their "mad money" to buy "one gorgeous gown."

You've guessed it! On the high school stage it was Mrs. Rithet's black sequin dress.

When the play was over the gown was again folded away in tissue paper and lavender sachet. And it stayed folded away until this year of 1966 when Mary, youngest daughter of the Spilsburys' trio of girls, returned to Victoria from a successful career in ballet that during the time she was overseas saw her perform in nearly all the capitals of Europe.

★ ★ ★

A few weeks ago she was invited to a "go-go" party hosted by a well-known young man about town.

She went rummaging in her mother's trunks to find "something" that could be made into a costume for the occasion. She found the black sequin dress.

Together, Mrs. Spilsbury and her daughter Mary ripped off the black velvet band on the skirt, took away the long velvet sleeves and remodelled what was left into a "go-go" creation of sequinned mini skirt, pop top and tiny jacket.

So, the dress that was young more than 40 years ago made the long hop to the far-out silhouette of today.

On the night of the party it shone, it simmered and it twinkled. It brought compliments galore to its wearer. It also gave her some moments of anxiety.

★ ★ ★

You see, in the day when the gown was first created, sequins were made of a gelatin-like material. And Mary soon discovered that gelatin doesn't stand up any too well under the accelerated movements and body warmth generated by the frug and the watusi.

The sequins began to melt. Beneath the pert mini skirt, the pop top and the tiny jacket, they stuck to her skin.

And by the end of the evening she was neatly tattooed in a pattern of tiny black dots that took the better part of the next day to scrub off.

NURSE from Uppsala, Margaretha Linden, 19, shows a smile as bright as her crown of candles after she was installed as Sweden's Light Queen. The coronation took place in Stockholm's Town Hall.

Snowball's Creation Keeps Tills Ringing

By MARILYN ARGUE

OTTAWA (CP) — Ookpik the sealskin owl has done some travelling and made some money since he was invented by an Eskimo at the Fort Chimo co-operative three years ago.

The Eskimo co-operative has made $17,500 from Ookpik's commercial royalties and he's gone home with almost every dignitary to hit Ottawa—from U Thant and Miss Japan-Canada Friendship to Tennessee Ernie Ford.

First introduced at a trade fair in Philadelphia, the Ookpik toy was the creation of Annie Snowball, an Eskimo woman in her 60s who still lives at Fort Chimo, near Ungava Bay in Northern Quebec. She's made about $4,200 out of the big-eyed owl.

Spokesmen for the northern development department say it's impossible to tell how much money has been made from the sale of genuine Ookpiks made from sealskin by 25 Eskimos in the community of 310.

This is because co-operative profits are made from hunting, fishing, sewing and other art work, and no breakdown of figures is made.

Some commercial royalties come from two companies mass-producing the little owls in plush and opposum fur.

Other companies pay to put the Ookpik image on everything from children's jewelry to sweatshirts. There have also records and a folk singing quartet has adopted the name.

Altogether, royalties add up to $50,000 but out of that promotion, marketing and legal fees reduce the actual profit to $17,500.

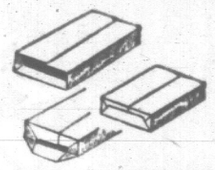
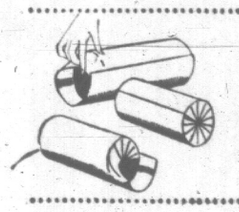
the Loveliest Gifts are TIE-TIE wrapped

The things you can do with Satintone* and Ribbonette† are limited only by your imagination.

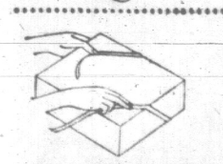
START WITH A PROPERLY WRAPPED AND TIED PACKAGE



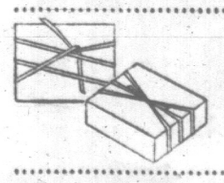
RECTANGULAR BOX Cut paper to fit around box with 2-inch overlap. Cut ends 1 inch longer than half the depth of box. Fold paper snugly around package, fasten with seal or rubber cement. Fold at ends, seal.



ROUND BOX. Roll one full turn on paper, cut to allow 2-inch overlap. At ends, cut so paper folds just to center. Fasten paper tight around box, then pleat at ends as shown. Cover center with seal, or disc cut from same paper.

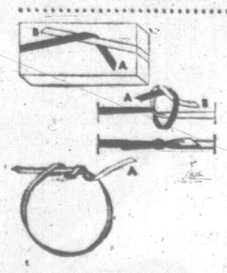


CROSS CORNER TIE. Start at upper left corner, draw tie slantwise to top of box, under upper right corner, up and over lower right, under lower left and back to starting point. Tie Square knot.



SUNBURST TIE Wind tie in parallel bands and cut, leaving long end. Cross this end over, then under, bands on face of box and draw bands together. Tie Square knot.

NO-KNOT TIE. Wonderful sticks-to-itself-when-moistened Satintone makes box band without tying. Put band around box, cut for 2-inch overlap, moisten and press.



SAFETY KNOTS. Square knots and Surgeons' knots are most dependable safeguards against slipping. In Square knot, put end A over end B and tighten, then again put A over B and tighten. In Surgeons' knot, put end A twice around other end, pull tight, then tie again.

$150,000 BUSINESS

Cheque Artists Paint Town Red

Christmas time is a season of gifts and local merchants are handing them out at a record rate this year, city detectives said today.

Not that the storekeepers mean to be so generous. The "gifts" in this case are cheques which are accepted by merchants without proper precautions.

An increasing number are turning out to be worth no more than the paper they are written on.

Detective Inspector William Andrews estimates fraudulent cheques are a $150,000 business in Victoria. And the increase has him worried.

256 CHARGES

Police investigated 132 cases of worthless cheques last year involving $15,316.73. Officers laid a total of 256 charges involving 46 men, seven women and a young girl.

The inspector estimates police only hear about 10 percent of the bad cheque incidents.

"People are embarrassed because they've been taken. Sometimes it's a small cheque and they'd just as soon write it off."

And Christmas time is the worst period for passing worthless cheques.

"Our total this year is going to be much greater than last. We're already well over last year's total."

POINTS TO CHECK

Here are some points to remember for those charged with cashing cheques. The inspector suggests you clip them out and keep them handy:

- Beware of clients who are indignant at requests for adequate identification.
- Beware of anyone who presents a cheque larger than required and wants the change in cash.
- Ask for at least two types of identification. Driver's licence alone is not conclusive. Remember to copy numbers, names and addresses.
- Don't let the client hurry you into acepting his cheque. Take all the time you need to examine his identification and get satisfactory answers to your questions.
- Beware of cheques presented on a holiday eve or weekend. With the banks closed it means extra days before you are notified the cheque was bad and more time for the crook to get out of reach.
- Beware of cashing youngsters' cheques. Juveniles are not legally responsible.
- Don't accept a cheque that shows signs of changes. Have the maker rewrite the cheque.
- If in doubt, note the description of the maker on the back of the cheque. Don't rely on memory — by the time you discover the cheque is bad you will have forgotten important details of the passer's appearance.
- Be extra wary of the client who tries to cash a second cheque within a day or two of the first.
- Don't fail to watch for other warning signs just because the client has identification. Many crooks provide themselves with ample identification material.

Women Lose Purses To Snatchers

Three more purse-snatching incidents took place in the Greater Victoria area Tuesday, raising the total to five in the past two days.

In the city, police reported a man grabbed the bag of a 68-year-old woman containing between $5 and $7, plus credit cards and a bank book.

The theft took place at 5:04 p.m. at Collinson and Cook.

At 5:22 p.m., two young men grabbed the purses of two women walking on Haultain near Roseberry. They fled west on Haultain.

One purse contained $5, the other $7.

At 6:10 p.m., Saanich police reported that Mrs. Joan Hunt, 420 Obed, was attacked by a youth in the 300-block Obed. He snatched her purse containing $20.

MONTREAL ROOMS AT PREMIUM

OTTAWA (CP) — A British Columbia MP wants an investigation into a report that the cost of rental accommodation in the Montreal area may skyrocket during Expo 67.

H. W. Herridge (NDP — Kootenay West) asked Trade Minister Winters in the Commons Tuesday to look into the situation.

Mr. Herridge said a friend had told him recently of staying at a room in the Montreal area that cost $9.50 a night. However, a sign in the room said that "after May 1, 1967" the tab will be $22.50 a night for single accommodation and $32.50 for a double.

The Speaker ruled the matter did not require an answer by the minister.

JANE'S SHIPS

U.S. 'Rules Waves' With Russia Second

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy, potent with nuclear submarines and aircraft carriers, unquestionably rules the waves, one of Britain's top naval experts said today.

But Britain's Royal Navy is swamped with "dejection" and "despondency," declared Raymond Blackman. He is editor of "Jane's Fighting Ships," the bible of fighting mariners.

The 69th annual issue of Jane's, published today, could be called a "submarine edition" Blackman said in his foreword.

Aircraft carriers still held top place in Jane's 1966-67 order of precedence, but nuclear powered submarines moved up to second ranking in naval weaponry.

Blackman said the Polaris submarine has become an underwater cruiser "supporting . . . the most devastating destructive power ever mounted in a warship."

70 SUBS

The United States will have 70 operational nuclear submarines by the end of 1967, Jane's said. The Soviet Union, although adding five, still lags with a total of 40. Britain has three and Communist China none.

Russia has maintained its top-heavy preponderance of conventional submarines, with an estimated 240 in all classes. America has 137, Britain 42 and France 21.

Blackman said Russia is "second only to the United States" in naval power although it has no aircraft carriers. But Soviet submarines plus a 2,000 ship merchant navy — sixth largest in the world — and conventional smaller craft support a Russian navy policy of "blatantly flaunting its numerical and intrinsic strength for all to see and playing it as on the checkered board."

STRONG INFLUENCE

According to Jane's, Russia's naval forces "now are deployed on a worldwide scale and are capable of exerting a strong maritime influence on world affairs."

The blue-bound volume said Russia has another 30 Polaris-type nuclear subs and nuclear "hunter" subs under construction.

It said the United States, now boasting a "potential world saturation of no fewer than 656 ballistic missiles" in its submarines, will have 103 nuclear powered vessels beneath the seas by 1971.

SECOND N-CARRIER

Jane's said there was "great satisfaction" in America that a second nuclear powered aricraft carrier, a sister ship to the giant Enterprise, was included in the 1967 construction program.

Blackman said that with the 64,000-ton John F. Kennedy carrier now under construction, plus three planned nuclear powered carriers and the conventional carriers now operating, the United States will achieve an "attack" carrier fleet of 15 — "considered to the the U.S. navy's minimum operational requirement and the target for the last 10 years."

Russia Developing Multiple N-Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources indicate that the Soviet Union apparently has decided to develop multiple nuclear warheads to bolster its growing arsenal of intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Soviet aim, sources said, is to neutralize or outweigh any offensive advantage the United States would gain by installing the multiple warheads of its new Minuteman III and Poseidon ICBMs now under development.

As envisioned by some sources, the new Soviet program apparently would consist of warheads—ranging up to one megaton in size— — carried aboard a mother vehicle and dispersed after re-entry. A complicated control system would enable the warheads to be ejected at prescribed velocity and altitude after the ICBM's last stage was spent.

Youth Sentenced To One Year

One of four Nanaimo youths who earlier pleaded guilty to breaking into a city tire store was jailed for a year Tuesday.

Edward Katona, was handed a one-year definite and six months indeterminate term in the young offenders unit after admitting breaking into Western OK Tire Store at 2968 Douglas twice in the space of a month.

Raymond and Richard Dunaway, who took part in the second break-in earlier this month were each given suspended sentences and placed on $350 good behavior bonds for two years.

A fourth youth, William Maluish, is scheduled for sentence today. The fifth Nanaimo boy, arrested after $170 worth of stolen goods was found in their car, appeared in juvenile court.

Brother Charged

ENDERBY (CP) — Lewis John Fleury, 28, appeared in magistrate's court Tuesday charged with capital murder and was remanded until Dec. 20 in the slaying of his brother. Roger Paul Fleury, 30, was found shot to death Saturday at their home in the Hupel area 18 miles east of Enderby.

CHECKING to make sure they've got his name right is Danny, a miniature podle owned by Mrs. Albert Cucco, of Mansfield, Ohio, who went with his mistress to apply for 1967 dog licence. (AP Wirephoto.)

MP Blasts Drug Manufacturer For 'Besmirching' Servants

OTTAWA (CP) — Jules R. Gilbert, a Toronto drug manufacturer, was challenged before the Commons drug prices inquiry Tuesday about statements described by an MP as an accusation that civil servants accept "payola" from brand name drug makers.

Bryce Mackasey (L — Montreal Verdun) told Mr. Gilbert that his brief to the committee makes "an awful accusation" against civil service integrity.

"This is an outright accusation that the civil service is accepting payola from the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of Canada," Mr. Mackasey said.

He demanded that Mr. Gilbert document his case. The brief said with reference to the federal food and drug directorates:

"It is understandable that at some future time they would like to get a higher paying position with greater possibilities in industry. We know of an instance where an individual achieved this position."

Mr. Mackasey, parliamentary secretary to the minister of labor, demanded the name of the individual referred to in the Gilbert brief.

"Where's Dr. Morrell now?" Mr. Gilbert asked in reply.

Mr. Mackasey retorted that Dr. C. A. Morrell, former head of the federal food and drug directorate, now is a director of a drug company.

"He retired, as he had a right to, at the age of 65 and he has a right to take a position in the field he knows best."

Mr. Mackasey said Mr. Gilbert implies Dr. Morrell was dishonest.

Mr. Gilbert replied that Dr. Morrell was quite "proper."

"Then, why besmirch his reputation," Mr. Mackasey demanded.

Mr. Mackasey asked whether Mr. Gilbert knows of other instances from which he infers the civil service is "good to the brand-name" manufacturers so they can work for them later.

"I said I know only one instance," Mr. Gilbert replied.

Amish Pilgrims Head for Jungle

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Out of step in a world they never made, a tiny band of pilgrims, unable to compromize their religious principles, are leaving the Ozarks for a new start in Central America.

Their minister, Harold Stoll, explained why his people had to move on.

"More and more we're out of line because of our simple way of living. We will fit in better in another country."

Although referred to as Mennonites by their neighbors in two North Arkansas counties, the colony of eight families is more akin to the Amish branch of the Mennonite church.

The Amish is a strict sect, which requires its members to eschew electricity, automobiles and any ornamentation in dress.

The men, with their beards and black suits and the women with their black bonnets and long skirts, have long been a familiar sight in Harrison, where they do their shopping.

Farm tools and household necessities will be trucked to New Orleans and shipped by boat. The people themselves will go to Mexico City by train, and by bus the rest of the way to the jungle which awaits them.

"We are thankful for the liberty we have had, but the government is gradually taking away our religious freedom," Stoll said, referring to a recent controversy in Iowa over the attendance by Amish children at public schools.

The neat farmlands here are proof of the industry of the Amish, who cleared the rocky hillsides using only their horse-drawn equipment (they own no machinery), and worked them by hand into such productive farms that all but 100 of their 1,200 acres have already been sold.

It was in 1949 that the group, fleeing what they felt was an engulfing tide of materialism and sophistication in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, came to Arkansas.

Each of the families bought 150 acres to farm, at $6 an acre. Hard work and thrift paid off this fall, when the same land sold for $50 an acre.

REAPPOINTED to the $19,000-a-year job of member of the restrictive practices commission is Albert S. Whiteley of Victoria, who held post from 1952 to 1962 and later became consul-general in Seattle.

U.S. To Free Wounded

MADRID (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman said Sunday night that the United States plans to send some sick or wounded North Vietnamese prisoners of war home.

Harriman indicated that the U.S. would like to have a prisoner exchange, but that the U.S. plan was not conditional on any reciprocal action from Hanoi.

The only North Vietnamese known to be held by the U.S. are 19 seamen pulled from the Gulf of Tonkin when their torpedo boats were sunk.

The Saigon government has custody of most North Vietnamese captured in fighting, including nearly 600 sezied by U.S. units.

CABINET SHUFFLE DUE AT EASTER?

Favreau's Political Future Remains Clouded

OTTAWA (CP) — Guy Favreau is out of hospital after a long illness, but the political future of the star-crossed federal cabinet minister is clouded in doubt.

Although an aide insists the former corporation lawyer will be back in harness next month, other informed Liberals think it unlikely.

Their view is that the political wars helped put him in hospital. Returning to the field would pose new dangers to his over-all health.

The 49-year-old Quebec Liberal leader spent nine weeks in Ottawa General Hospital suffering from pneumonia and exhaustion. He was released three weeks ago to complete his convalescence at his Ottawa home.

Mr. Favreau made his federal debut in 1963, winning the Papineau riding. At first a rising figure in the government, he soon ran into a succession of political difficulties climaxed by the health breakdown three months ago.

JUDGMENT QUERIED

Last year, the Dorion inquiry into the Lucien Rivard extradition scandal questioned his judgment, but not his integrity, in the handling of an alleged bribe offer by a cabinet minister's aide. Mr. Favreau was justice minister at the time.

Unused to the sometimes deadly cut-and-thrust of parliamentary debate, he became a regular victim of the barbed attacks of Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, the acknowledged master in that field.

Not noted as a speedy administrator, he was burdened at one stage with three big jobs: Quebec leader, House leader and the justice portfolio.

Prime Minister Pearson later eased the load. Mr. Favreau now is Privy Council president and registrar-general. He's still the party's Quebec leader, although that job is being handled by Manpower Minister Marchand in Mr. Favreau's absence.

FAVREAU . . . judgeship?

It's assumed Mr. Marchand would keep the job of Quebec leader if Mr. Favreau did not return. But Mr. Favreau's two cabinet posts wold have to be filled.

This has helped keep talk of an impending cabinet shuffle alive. The most likely time for it is the Easter recess next year, a quiet period when MPs will be back in their constituencies.

What political reward Mr. Favreau would receive is unknown. It's understood he has no wish to go to the Senate, a traditional prize for politicians who want to leave the firing line. Another alternative is an appointment as a judge.

And there is always the possibility he'll surprise the party insiders and return to action, considerably lighter than when he left. He took so much weight off his stout figure in hospital that casual acquaintances have to look twice to make sure it's him.

The rumor mill also has Labor Minister Nicholson headed out, possibly to the bench. Fisheries Minister Robichaud also is said to want out and could go to the Senate.

John Turner, minister without portfolio, appears destined to move up in the shuffle regardless of whether Mr. Favreau comes back.

As the cabinet's odd - jobs man, he's handling Mr. Favreau's registrar-general duties for the time being in addition to his more regular chore of helping Transport Minister Pickersgill.

The shuffle may also affect Mr. Pickersgill, who is said to want a change of portfolio. Justice Minister Cardin may also step down. Bryce Mackasey, parliamentary secretary to the labor minister, may get into the cabinet.

NAMED registrar of the College of Dental Surgeons of B.C. is Dr. Ross Upton of Vancouver. He succeeds Dr. Max Nacht. In addition to serving as registrar, Dr. Upton will continue as executive secretary of the college and of the B.C. Dental Association.

Lawyer Questions Radar Trap Use

TORONTO (CP) — Zoltan Szoboszloi won a traffic court case Tuesday night but failed in an attempt to have police radar traps declared illegal.

Mr. Szoboszloi, who offers legal counselling services free to traffic offenders, arrived at court armed with the Radio Act, the Broadcasting Act and some amendments.

"I intend to show that the transmitter part of a radar trap as used by the police requires a federal licence," he advised anyone who would listen outside the courtroom before the session.

"Since the police have no transmitter licence for their radar traps, they are using the apparatus illegally, and anyone caught by radar is not obliged to pay a fine."

Mr. Szobcszloi appeared on behalf of Arno Kles of Toronto, charged with driving 40 miles an hour in a 25 m.p.h. zone.

After a policeman gave evidence, Mr. Szoboszloi asked whether the radar equipment consisted of two basic parts—a transmitter and a receiver. He was told it did.

However, when he asked for an explanation of how the radar works he was ordered to refrain from pursuing this line of questioning.

The case against his client was eventually dismissed because Mr. Szoboszloi insisted on seeing a copy of the bylaw under which his client was charged. A copy of the bylaw could not be found.

LAYMEN TAKE OVER

There are 143 ministers and 191 laymen in overseas American Lutheran missions, compared with 107 clergymen and 85 laymen in 1960.

'Charming Rogue' Jailed for Theft Of Painting

Norman Derkson of 2914 Douglas was jailed for three months Tuesday when sentenced for stealing a painting from a Queens Avenue resident.

He was arrested after police chased him down Queens Avenue about 3 a.m. Dec. 3. Evidence indicated he had been drinking.

"I think you're a charming rogue," said Magistrate Ostler in passing sentence. "This lady invited you to her flat to see her paintings and you responded by taking off with one."

The complainant, who was also the artist, valued her stolen painting at $300.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CBC-TV's new wrinkle in filling the period of time following Saturday night hockey telecasts will be "In Person."

The network bills it as a new color variety show. With a different host each week, the new program will be, in the words of producer Mark Warren — "a showcase for established Canadian performers and newcomers, with occasional guests from outside Canada."

Stephen

Warren says the show format will be deliberately loose, allowing for acts ranging from stand-up comics to popular singers, from instrumental groups to top dance sets.

Frankly, this corner sees nothing new in the promised format. Juliette fashioned it in her 10 years of post-hockey entertainment before being unceremoniously dumped at the end of last season.

The network then tried to fill the slot with night club and concert folk-singers, Malko and Joso. Though they may have delighted some Canadians, they represented only a minute segment of the viewing audience. The network got the message, rather quickly I thought for the corporation, and swung the axe.

Now it's "In Person" with the first show this coming Saturday. It will have Al Hamel as host with comedian Jack Duffy, some pop singers, a jazz flute, saxophonist and a comedy jug-band.

One week later, Tommy Common will host the show.

It all bears that "seen it before" air. Does nothing change within the program dreamers offices of the CBC?

One big change getting off to a nervous start is Stanley Burke in place of staid, old reliable Earl Cameron on the late night news.

Burke began his new role this week and is transmitting his nervousness to the viewer by several gestures. The most blatant is looking quickly to his lower left upon introducing a sound-on-film news story.

It is presumed Burke is looking down at the monitor screen to catch the SOF. Nevertheless, it's an action which distracts immensely from the news body.

The National, as it is billed, was also to feature a new set specially designed by Edgar Krumins of CBC Toronto, whose credits it is said include numerous set designs for the "prestige CBC-TV series Festival."

There was nothing new seen from this end of the nation. Burke was highlighted against a black background, in limbo as they say in the trade.

Maybe he'll grow on the viewer after awhile. But there was also a lot said for Earl Cameron's no-nonsense style of delivery that gave the CBC news a solid, substantial heft.

Bennett Grabs Initiative With Pay Hike

A civil servants' union spokesman today accused Premier Bennett of "pulling the carpet out from under" this year's wage negotiations.

Derek R. Green, of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said this was the effect of Premier Bennett's announcement Tuesday that all civil servants would receive pay increases and the boost would be "at least equal" to last year's average of 5 per cent.

Mr. Green said it showed Mr. Bennett had made up his mind an hour before BCGEA Secretary-Manager E. B. O'Connor was to meet with the Civil Service Commission to discuss wage requests.

"This completely negates the discussions even before they had started," he said.

FIRST SESSION

Mr. Green reported that Mr. O'Connor came back from the first bargaining session "with the feeling that any possible initiative has been taken away from the commission by Mr. Bennett's announcement."

He said another meeting with the commission will be held, probably in February, to discuss the BCGEA request for increases of 5 to 30 per cent in some 150 work categories which are that far behind wages for comparable positions in private firms.

Mr. Green said the association would canvass its 7,500 members regarding the premier's announcement before the next meeting.

NEXT BUDGET

The premier's statement indicated the government may provide about $5 million in the next budget for general wage increases starting April 1.

The BCGEA had estimated its requests as totalling $10 million.

Last year, the wage increases averaged about 5 per cent although individual boosts ranged from 2 to 14 per cent as a result of a major job reclassification program.

WAGE BILL

The raises added $4.3 million to the previous government wage bill of $90.5 million.

A similar increase of about 5 per cent for the present 22,000 government employees would boost the coming fiscal year's wage bill to almost $99 million.

Mr. Bennett made his announcement — the fifth consecutive promise of general wage increases — at the cabinet's annual dinner in the Empress Hotel for long-service employees.

CERTIFICATES

All told, 35 civil servants qualified for 25-year certificates this year.

After Premier Bennett presented the individual certificates, Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, broke tradition by presenting Mr. Bennett with an illuminated scroll commemorating his 25 years of service as an elected public servant.

Mr. Bennett was first elected an MLA in 1941.

MONSTER? No. Just a patrol (air cushion) vehicle searching for Viet Cong in South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta. Viet Cong screamed "quai vat" (monster) when one of the vehicles approached them during a recent operation. Based on the British hovercraft, it rides on a four-and-a-half-foot cushion of air and can travel 65 miles an hour. (CP Wirephoto.)

NEW CHANCELLOR

Pushes French Relations

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN (AP)—Under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the West German government can be expected to show a lot more interest in good relations with French President de Gaulle and the Soviet bloc and less in reunification with East Germany and Berlin.

This is the picture that emerges from Kiesinger's first statement Tuesday to the Bundestag, traditionally a pains-taking product of pulling and hauling within a new government. This one was even harder to produce since Foreign Minister Willy Brandt and his Social Democrats were taking part for the first time with Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

The changes from former chancellor Ludwig Erhard's statement of policy 13 months ago are marked.

Erhard limited himself to a brief and mild statement on France.

Kiesinger's message came out loud and clear.

"The decisive role for the future of Europe revolves on the development of German-French relations, he said. "Peace and order in Europe, hoped for by both East and West, is unthinkable without a close and confidential relationship between Germany and France."

Erhard set reunification as the main goal of his government's policy. He put the blame for failure to achieve this on the Soviet Union and its "threats and ultimatums."

Kiesinger put the will to peace and understanding among peoples as the basis of West German policy. Reunification, he said mildly, had been prevented by "political conditions" and there was no foreseeing when it would come about.

He had no reproaches for the Russians, such as have been prominent in most past West German speeches on foreign policy. Kiesinger said he wanted to "maintain relations with all peoples, based on understanding, mutual trust and the will to co-operation."

Kiesinger promised more boldly to establish diplomatic relations, too, "where circumstances make it possible."

Both said Germany's borders could be settled only in a Second World War peace treaty, but Kiesinger took note of Poland's desire for a "state with guaranteed borders."

Where Erhard failed to mention Munich agreement of 1938, under which Hitler seized the Sudetenland, Kiesinger said more boldly: "The federal republic condemns Hitler's policy of destroying the bonds of the Czechoslovak state. It agrees that the Munich accord, drawn up under the threat of force, is no longer valid."

Slim Hopes Fading For Opening of Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany Tuesday demanded diplomatic recognition as the price for opening the Berlin wall for family reunions over the Christmas holidays.

The demand dashed the slim hopes still held that German families split by the wall might be able to meet again this Christmas as they did the last three Christmases.

The West steadfastly has refused to sign any new wall pass agreement that would grant the Soviet zone state recognition.

The east-west deadlock meant the wall would remain closed for Berliners over the holidays as it is the rest of the year.

The East German position on holiday passes was outlined by Gerhard Kegel, foreign office official with the rank of minister, in a commentary in the East Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung:

"We must insist on correct and legal agreements of the sort that are concluded all over the world by two partners who want something from each other."

'Terrible' Bloodletting Feared

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court told the Yale senior class Tuesday that the United States is arming dictators to "make revolution impossible."

Douglas, a member of the Yale law school faculty in the 1930s, said he is opposed to what he said was a tendency in Washington to support dictatorships in various parts of the world.

"There's very little democracy in the world," he said. "We've been arming the dictators of the world and there will be a terrible, terrible bloodletting.

"There are not enough guns, not enough bombs to put all future revolutions down."

Appeal Planned Against Loss Of CIA Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Erik Heine of Toronto will meet with his counsel in New York this weekend to shape an appeal against dismissal of a $110,000 slander suit he launched against an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

His counsel said Monday the appeal may be launched next Monday.

District Judge Roszel Thomsen of Baltimore dismissed Heine's suit against Juri Raus, an acknowledged CIA agent last Thursday.

Heine had sued Raus on the grounds that Raus told some members of the North American Estonian community in a New York meeting in 1963 that Heine was a Soviet agent.

Heine and Raus are both Estonian-born and active in the affairs of the emigre community.

Raust, the CIA and the U.S. justice department successfully argued that Raus' role as a CIA agent made him immune to the slander action — that he had called Heine a Communist agent on CIA orders.

Sews Arm Back On

LUCERNE, Switzerland (Reuters)—A doctor has successfully sewed back in position a youth's left arm which was chopped off in an accident last Wednesday. The accident happened last Wednesday when the youth was operating a cutting machine in a factory. He was taken to hospital but in the flurry his arm was forgotten and the operation had to be delayed an hour while it was brought.

SWEEP WIN

Heirs Must Pay Tax, Board Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—In a judgment that might have extended Scrooge, the tax appeal board Tuesday upheld a federal claim to $9,875.66 in succession duties resulting from a sweepstakes win on Santa Claus.

Gordon Moore Andrews, the Ottawa man who held the Irish Sweepstakes ticket, became fatally ill shortly after the $150,000 win in 1964 and died five months later.

His son and two daughters argued that it had been a family tradition to contribute four ways to a ticket marked Luck of the Irish, which was drawn in 1964 on a horse called Santa Claus.

The unwritten understanding was that any amount won would be divided among the father and his three children.

WERE A GIFT

However, federal revenuers argued successfully that the shares that went to the children were a gift within three years of death and thus taxable as an inheritance.

The board was told that the late Mr. Andrews, about to enter hospital, assigned to his son Eric all rights to the winning $3.50 ticket.

On his father's instructions, Eric later distributed quarter shares of $37,287.52 to his father, two sisters and himself.

Federal lawyers argued that "in the absence of documentary evidence, the allegation of an old and continuing declaration of trust had not been established."

The tax appeal board found it "an inescapable fact" that the father "voluntarily transferred" 75 per cent of his interest to the children as a gift.

That made them heirs rather than winners of $37,287.52 each and opened the way for succession duties.

'Dead' Woman Found Alive To Foil Insurance Fraud

NEW YORK (AP—A 27-year-old woman research analyst, reported dead five months ago, has been found alive in what authorities describe as a bizarre plot by her and two male companions to defraud two insurance companies by staging her accidental drowning.

Miriam Lindenmaier, who was employed as a $5,500-a-year analyst for a Manhattan firm for more than six years before she disappeared, was found working as a waitress in a restaurant in White Plains, N.Y.

She was arrested Tuesday in her hotel room where she was registered under the name of Elizabeth Pangborn, authorities said.

One of the accused men, Alvin Brodie, 34, a construction worker named by authorities as the father of Miss Lindenmaier's unborn child, was alleged to have promised her that they could go to Spain with the $36,000 in insurance money.

Miss Lindenmaier, Brodie, and a second man, Thomas Martin, 26, a New York elevator operator, were arraigned Tuesday night in Bronx criminal court.

CHARGES LAID

They were charged with attempted grand larceny and conspiracy by "staging the accidental death" of Miss Lindenmaier in Long Island Sound.

Burton B. Roberts, chief assistant Bronx district attorney, said that last July 9 the trio rented a dory with an outboard motor. About two hours later, Roberts continued, the two men told police that the boat had capsized and that Miss Lindenmaier had drowned.

Roberts said two insurance policies, with Brodie as beneficiary, aroused his suspicion. In addition, the girl was reported to be an excellent swimmer.

The policies, one for $10,000 and the other for $8,000, provided a double indemnity, or a total of $36,000 in case of accidental death.

Roberts said that Brodie had made claims for the insurance proceeds to both companies but neither had paid off.

NEW WARNING

'Axeman' Changes Clothing

LONDON (AP)—Prison garb believed worn by Britain's "mad axeman" was found today 24 miles from Dartmoor prison.

Frank Mitchell, 37, who escaped into the mists of Dartmoor two nights ago, apparently had eluded two police cordons and Royal Marine commandos who joined in the manhunt.

A senior police officer said a prison jacket, dungarees, shirt and gumboots were found on the main trunk road from London to the west country.

"We are reasonably sure that it's Mitchell's clothing," the officer said.

New warnings went out in the entire area to keep homes locked. Mitchell has a record of violence with hatchets or axes which put him behind bars for life in 1958.

Police were investigating a report that shortly after his escape, Mitchell had a quiet drink at an inn on the moor. Bob Roberts, proprietor of the Peter Tavy Inn, said he saw "a huge man dressed in green denims having a chat and a quiet drink" at the bar.

VIOLENT RAGES

Mitchell, a man of massive strength and violent rages, had served eight years of a life sentence for robbery with violence. He slipped away from a working party on the moor eight miles from the prison at dusk Monday.

Criticism mounted in Parliament over the decision to allow Mitchell to join the working party outside. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins bore the brunt of the attacks.

Five Conservative members tabled a motion in the House of Commons demanding an immediate inquiry into why Mitchell—with his fearsome record of violence—was allowed to leave the prison in a working party escorted by only one warder.

Pieces of Skin Took Space Ride In Radiation Test

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia tested the effects of outer space on human skin prior to launching the first cosmonaut by sending up skin samples from three doctors in an unmanned satellite, the Soviet labor newspaper Trud disclosed today.

Trud said small pieces of skin were taken from the shoulders and legs of three Soviet doctors, placed in sterilized glass bottles and launched into space Aug. 19, 1960, to test the effects of cosmic rays.

Three days later, the article said, the skin was returned to the laboratory of the experimental biology institute in Moscow and grafted back on the doctors, along with other tissues which had not been exposed to space.

The skin which has been in space took root eight days after the test samples which had been kept in the laboratory, Trud said, showing that men could fly in space without fear of damage to their skin.

Yuri Gagarin, the first cosmonaut, made his historic flight in April, 1961.

BRIEF PRESENTED

Labor Asks Law Ban Injunctions

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The 126,000-member B.C. Federation of Labour today asked for legislation outlawing all injunctions in industrial disputes.

The request was made in a 13-page brief on injunctions given to Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black at a 70-minute meeting this morning.

Federation president E. T. Staley of Victoria led a five-man delegation representing both the federation and the Canadian Labour Congress.

One month ago, the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association mailed a six-page letter and statement to Premier Bennett urging retention of injunctions in industrial disputes.

Mr. Staley said the delegation was given an "attentive audience" and the cabinet ministers were interested in labor legislation in other countries, where injunctions are almost unknown.

"We are hopeful there will be serious attention by the government to these problems," he said.

HEARINGS

"We would be extremely hopeful that after the last several years the government will see fit to have the standing committee on labor (of the legislature) act to hold hearings this session and it might be able to bring in recommendations."

This year, 14 union officials in B.C. have received jail terms for offences against injunctions.

Federation secretary Ray Haynes told reporters this always seems to have to happen before "people realized how serious the situation is."

Attorney-General Bonner said "it was a good brief" but it did not bring out any new points and was faulty in several places.

"But the brief, naturally, will be studied further. I've only read it once so far."

UNFORTUNATE

Mr. Bonner thought it "unfortunate that judges and courts were singled out" by the brief and he said its claim that men had been sent to jail for protesting the injunction law "in my humble opinion was not a statement of fact.

"People have run afoul of the court on contempt proceedings which involved a court order."

He was not aware of any joint discussion by provincial governments regarding injunctions "although the plain fact is that injunction law is just about the same all across Canada.

"If anything, B.C. has moved away from ex-parte injunctions by limiting them to four days (duration)."

He added that the brief's statement there are no injunctions used in labor disputes in Great Britain because collective bargaining agreements have no legal status raised an interesting question whether B.C. labor wants legal status removed from its agreements.

"There was brief discussion on this but no conclusion was reached," he said.

The federation's brief said Canada is the only country in the western world "beset by the problem of labor injunctions.

"There is no basis whatsoever, therefore, for the assertion that there is no alternative to the labor injunction as experience in all other countries proves," the brief said.

"In Britain there is a singular lack of labor law (e.g., no legal collective agreement) and, therefore, few grounds for the granting of injunctions.

LAST RESORT

"In the United States the matter was finally resolved by the Norris-La Guardia Act of 1932 which so limits the applicability of the injunction that it remains what it was originally intended to be, a last resort, used only under extraordinary conditions."

The number of applications for injunctions in B.C. has jumped from 70 between 1946 and 1955 to 280 between 1956 and 1965.

Of the latest 280 applications, 224 were for ex-parte injunctions — court orders issued on the application of one side without the other being heard.

The vast majority of injunctions were in the Vancouver area with particular emphasis on such industries as construction and shipping.

The brief concluded there has been "a purposeful resort to the use of injunctions as a weapon against labor, encouraged by the ease with which these are granted, particularly those on affidavit evidence (ex-parte) where there exists no right of cross-examination by the defendant."

It also said the injunction "decidedly favors management" with 85 per cent of court orders directed against picketing, without which "there can be no effective strike."

The B.C. Federation of Labour recalled it has presented briefs since 1960 "but the request fell on deaf ears."

Picketing was described as an exercise of the rights of freedom of speech and of association and "judges should be a great deal more cautious than they are about issuing orders that curtail or even deny completely these fundamental rights."

Judges were appointed by Liberal and Conservative governments "and the appointments go to lawyers who have served in the Liberal and Conservative parties."

At the same time, about one-third of the people of B.C. vote for the New Democratic Party in federal and provincial elections and these people "are by and large made up of working people who are part of the trade union movement.

"So long as the courts continue to intervene in labor disputes ex-parte, they will be open to the charge they are biased against labor, owing to the political background of the judges."

$2.8 Million Paid Out From Fund

VANCOUVER (CP) — The traffic victims' indemnity fund has paid out $419,933 on 47 claims it settled in the three months ending March 31, the royal commission on automobile insurance was told Tuesday.

The commission was told that since the fund's inception in 1961, 990 claims have been settled, with a payout of $2,890,135.

Purpose of the fund is to compensate persons injured in traffic accidents involving offending drivers who are uninsured, who have no assets or who can not be found.

Costs of the fund are paid for out of insurance premiums collected from motorists. Each of the 200 companies in B.C. is assessed by the fund in proportion to the company's premium income, with the largest amounts to the fund.

Ken F. V. Malthouse, B.C. manager of the All-Canada Insurance Federation, told the commission the protection provided by the fund is up to $50,000 for claims arising out of bodily injury or death and up $5,000 for property damage.

MSA Members Climb

VANCOUVER (CP)—Medical Services Association Monday reported a substantial increase in membership in 1966. "The total number of persons covered by MSA as of Aug. 31, 1966, was 657,735, an increase of 43,133 persons during the year," the directors' annual report said.

Safeway Expansion Contract Awarded

DUNCAN — The contract for Duncan's new Safeway store has been awarded to Manson Bros. Construction, Vancouver.

Construction of the $400,000 store will commence in early January.

The new store will be directly behind the present location.

Manager Mel Massey said today: "Car parking capacity will be increased to over 250 cars.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 23-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Warren Davis, age 13, of Flushing, N.Y., for his question:

On what basis were the five eras of the earth decided?

An era is a period of time with features of its own that make it different from previous and following eras. It can be a period of human history, such as the Christian Era that began some 2,000 years ago. The eras of the earth's history may span millions of years.

We do not know the exact age of our planet, but certainly it has travelled more than four billion yearly orbits around the sun. Throughout this immense span of time its restless surface has been changing continuously. Each long, patient geological event was followed by another, perhaps on this or another side of the globe. The story of these major events is recorded in the rocky formations of the earth's crust. Scientists pieced these records together to form an over-all picture of our planet's immense and staggering history.

The formation of massive mountain chains spanned ages of time, and for ages the seas submerged vast areas of the continents. Each of these major geological events, however, had an end and a beginning. They occupied a chapter of epoch of the earth's history. We call these immense epochs the geological eras. Each era has a natural beginning and end and dramatic features that make it unique.

The story of life on our planet began ages ago and paralleled the dramatic geological events. This story, too, falls into natural divisions, and fossil records show that many living things perished at the close of each geological era. It was decided to name the eras for chapters in the story of life rather than for the dramatic geological events of the time.

Dinosaurs Disappear

The Archeozoic Era means the early beginning of life. It spans billions of years when the earth was forming its first crust. Massive ranges rose in eastern Canada, and much later the earliest life forms may have appeared, though they left no fossil records.

The Proterozoic Era suffered an Ice Age and uplifted mountains in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Simple life forms struggled in its seas. The Paleozoic Era spanned more than 300 million years. It uplifted the massive Appalachians and brought an Ice Age to the tropics. The story of life advanced from the trilobites to salamanders and land forests. The Mesozoic Era spanned 125 million years and covered the rise and fall of the fabulous dinosaurs. It created our western mountains and lifted the Panama Ridge to join the two Americas.

The fifth chapter opened a mere 60 million years ago and began to unfold the story of the mammals. So far, it has lifted the Alps, the Himalayas and our Coast ranges, brought a series of Ice Ages and no one knows what other dramatic events it has in store.

A major mountain formation lasts millions of years and after the dramatic event the earth seems to rest. The pause that follows is often the end of a chapter of life and geological history. These pauses between chapters mark natural divisions in the earth's long history. They were used as a basis for dividing the story of our planet into five geological eras.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Gayle Martin, age 15, of Cumming, Ga., for her question:

What happens to animals that fall into bogs?

A few animals manage to scramble out of a soupy bog and escape. Many, however, are trapped and soon sink out of sight. Sometimes their bodies decompose. But very often the remains of animals are preserved in bogs for centuries and even longer. Swamps and bogs are often stagnant mixtures with little oxygen. The bacteria that cause decay must have oxygen and few exist in stagnant mire or water.

Animal remains trapped in such bogs often become fossils. When the swampy mud dries out, these fossils are found in the solid layers of rocky ground. The fossil remains of animals also are found in quicksands that have become dry and in the tacky quagmires of tar that ooze from surface deposits of petroleum.

Controlled Temper Means Better Life

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

For years, people with a bad temper have been telling me that their psychoanalyst urges them to blow their top whenever they feel like it, and thus to get rid of their feelings of aggression. The trouble with this is that it is very distressing for the person who gets stormed at — perhaps by his or her boss. I don't see how a boss can storm at a secretary unless he is so tough and unfeeling and unsympathetic that he doesn't mind seeing the poor girl crying at intervals for the rest of the day. How can a kindly man stand such a situation?

Alvarez

Also, I am sure it is bad for the person to blow his top, and especially to get into the habit of blowing his top. I have seen many a person who in a tantrum pushed his blood pressure up from perhaps 170 to 240 mm. — not a safe thing to do.

★ ★ ★

I'll never forget the old millionaire who in San Francisco was famous for his terrible temper. One day he came into my office and said, "I'm scared; lately, when I blow my top, my face gets fiery red and I feel as if I were going to have a stroke or a heart attack. For goodness sake, help me."

After examining him a while, I said, "There is just one thing that I must ask of you, and that is that you quit blowing your top."

And he said, "Oh, doctor, that's a big order."

"Yes, I know it is," I said, "but you are a man of an iron will, and so, if you make up your mind to quit, you can quit."

After thinking a while, he said, "All right, doctor, I'll do it."

★ ★ ★

Six weeks later his secretary dropped in to tell me that the old man had behaved wonderfully well until that morning when two men came in to try to sell him a ship. When he found out why they were trying to unload it onto him, he got up and started to go for them; then all of a sudden he stopped, and said, "Quick, get out of here; I can't afford to get mad at you." And that was so true; he couldn't afford to get angry, as he had been doing for so many years.

Like many an old curmudgeon, that man had a sweet side to him — way down deep. I found that side, and as a result, he and I became good friends. We stayed good friends for the next 10 years, until at 76 he died. I am sure his life was prolonged 10 years because he did not blow his top.

There is a good reason for not blowing one's top, and this is that a bad temper can ruin a person's life.

102 Whales Commit Suicide

MANILA (AP) — One hundred and two whales have died on beaches on the central Philippine island of Palawan in the last few days, the Philippine news service has reported. It said inhabitants of the island reported the last such suicide landing of whales took place in 1926.

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Big grey whales from the Arctic have begun their annual 5,000-mile swim to find romance in the warm gulf waters of Baja, Calif. The first of several hundred migrating whales have been spotted splashing off La Jolla and nearby Ocean Beach. After bearing their young they will return to the frigid Arctic waters.

Double Tax Averted

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian and British governments signed an income tax agreement Monday that would eliminate double taxation of the income received by individuals and corporations of one of the countries from sources in the other country.

Bennett Grabs Initiative With Pay Hike

A civil servants' union spokesman today accused Premier Bennett of "pulling the carpet out from under" this year's wage negotiations.

Derek R. Green, of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said this was the effect of Premier Bennett's announcement Tuesday that all civil servants would receive pay increases and the boost would be "at least equal" to last year's average of 5 per cent.

Mr. Green said it showed Mr. Bennett had made up his mind an hour before BCGEA Secretary-Manager E. B. O'Connor was to meet with the Civil Service Commission to discuss wage requests.

"This completely negates the discussions even before they had started," he said.

FIRST SESSION

Mr. Green reported that Mr. O'Connor came back from the first bargaining session "with the feeling that any possible initiative has been taken away from the commission by Mr. Bennett's announcement."

He said another meeting with the commission will be held, probably in February, to discuss the BCGEA request for increases of 5 to 30 per cent in some 150 work categories which are that far behind wages for comparable positions in private firms.

Mr. Green said the association would canvass its 7,500 members regarding the premier's announcement before the next meeting.

NEXT BUDGET

The premier's statement indicated the government may provide about $5 million in the next budget for general wage increases starting April 1.

The BCGEA had estimated its requests as totalling $10 million.

Last year, the wage increases averaged about 5 per cent although individual boosts ranged from 2 to 14 per cent as a result of a major job reclassification program.

WAGE BILL

The raises added $4.3 million to the previous government wage bill of $90.5 million.

A similar increase of about 5 per cent for the present 22,000 government employees would boost the coming fiscal year's wage bill to almost $99 million.

Mr. Bennett made his announcement — the fifth consecutive promise of general wage increases — at the cabinet's annual dinner in the Empress Hotel for long-service employees.

CERTIFICATES

All told, 35 civil servants qualified for 25-year certificates this year.

After Premier Bennett presented the individual certificates, Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, broke tradition by presenting Mr. Bennett with an illuminated scroll commemorating his 25 years of service as an elected public servant.

Mr. Bennett was first elected an MLA in 1941.

MONSTER? No. Just a patrol (air cushion) vehicle searching for Viet Cong in South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta. NEW CHANCELLOR

Pushes French Relations

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN (AP)—Under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the West German government can be expected to show a lot more interest in good relations with French President de Gaulle and the Soviet bloc and less in reunification with East Germany and Berlin.

This is the picture that emerges from Kiesinger's first statement Tuesday to the Bundestag, traditionally a painstaking product of pulling and hauling within a new government. This one was even harder to produce since Foreign Minister Willy Brandt and his Social Democrats were taking part for the first time with Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

The changes from former chancellor Ludwig Erhard's statement of policy 13 months ago are marked.

Erhard limited himself to a brief and mild statement on France.

Kiesinger's message came out loud and clear.

"The decisive role for the future of Europe revolves on the development of German-French relations, he said. "Peace and order in Europe, hoped for by both East and West, is unthinkable without a close and confidential relationship between Germany and France."

Erhard set reunification as the main goal of his government's policy. He put the blame for failure to achieve this on the Soviet Union and its "threats and ultimatums."

Kiesinger put the will to peace and understanding among peoples as the basis of West German policy. Reunification, he said mildly, had been prevented by "political conditions" and there was no foreseeing when it would come about.

He had no reproaches for the Russians, such as have been prominent in most past West German speeches on foreign policy. Kiesinger said he wanted to "maintain relations with all peoples, based on understanding, mutual trust and the will to co-operation."

Kiesinger promised more boldly to establish diplomatic relations, too, "where circumstances make it possible."

Both said Germany's borders could be settled only in a Second World War peace treaty, but Kiesinger took note of Poland's desire for a "state with guaranteed borders."

Where Erhard failed to mention Munich agreement of 1938, under which Hitler seized the Sudetenland, Kiesinger said more boldly: "The federal republic condemns Hitler's policy of destroying the bonds of the Czechoslovak state. It agrees that the Munich accord, drawn up under the threat of force, is no longer valid."

Slim Hopes Fading For Opening of Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany Tuesday demanded diplomatic recognition as the price for opening the Berlin wall for family reunions over the Christmas holidays.

The demand dashed the slim hopes still held that German families split by the wall might be able to meet again this Christmas as they did the last three Christmases.

The West steadfastly has refused to sign any new wall pass agreement that would grant the Soviet zone state recognition.

The east-west deadlock meant the wall would remain closed for Berliners over the holidays as it is the rest of the year.

The East German position on holiday passes was outlined by Gerhard Kegel, foreign office official with the rank of minister, in a commentary in the East Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung:

"We must insist on correct and legal agreements of the sort that are concluded all over the world by two partners who want something from each other."

'Terrible' Bloodletting Feared

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court told the Yale senior class Tuesday that the United States is arming dictators to "make revolution impossible."

Douglas, a member of the Yale law school faculty in the 1930s, said he is opposed to what he said was a tendency in Washington to support dictatorships in various parts of the world.

"There's very little democracy in the world," he said. "We've been arming the dictators of the world and there will be a terrible, terrible bloodletting.

"There are not enough guns, not enough bombs to put all future revolutions down."

Appeal Planned Against Loss Of CIA Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Erik Heine of Toronto will meet with his counsel in New York this weekend to shape an appeal against dismissal of a $110,000 slander suit he launched against an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

His counsel said Monday the appeal may be launched next Monday.

District Judge Roszel Thomsen of Baltimore dismissed Heine's suit against Juri Raus, an acknowledged CIA agent last Thursday.

Heine had sued Raus on the grounds that Raus told some members of the North American Estonian community in a New York meeting in 1963 that Heine was a Soviet agent.

Heine and Raus are both Estonian-born and active in the affairs of the emigre community.

Raust, the CIA and the U.S. justice department successfully argued that Raus' role as a CIA agent made him immune to the slander action — that he had called Heine a Communist agent on CIA orders.

Sews Arm Back On

LUCERNE, Switzerland (Reuters)—A doctor has successfully sewed back in position a youth's left arm which was chopped off in an accident last Wednesday. The accident happened last Wednesday when the youth was operating a cutting machine in a factory. He was taken to hospital but in the flurry his arm was forgotten and the operation had to be delayed an hour while it was brought.

SWEEP WIN

Heirs Must Pay Tax, Board Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—In a judgment that might have extended Scrooge, the tax appeal board Tuesday upheld a federal claim to $9,875.66 in succession duties resulting from a sweepstakes win on Santa Claus.

Gordon Moore Andrews, the Ottawa man who held the Irish Sweepstakes ticket, became fatally ill shortly after the $150,000 win in 1964 and died five months later.

His son and two daughters argued that it had been a family tradition to contribute four ways to a ticket marked Luck of the Irish, which was drawn in 1964 on a horse called Santa Claus.

The unwritten understanding was that any amount won would be divided among the father and his three children.

WERE A GIFT

However, federal revenuers argued successfully that the shares that went to the children were a gift within three years of death and thus taxable as an inheritance.

The board was told that the late Mr. Andrews, about to enter hospital, assigned to his son Eric all rights to the winning $3.50 ticket.

On his father's instructions, Eric later distributed quarter shares of $37,287.52 to his father, two sisters and himself.

Federal lawyers argued that "in the absence of documentary evidence, the allegation of an old and continuing declaration of trust had not been established."

The tax appeal board found it "an inescapable fact" that the father "voluntarily transferred" 75 per cent of his interest to the children as a gift.

That made them heirs rather than winners of $37,287.52 each and opened the way for succession duties.

'Dead' Woman Found Alive To Foil Insurance Fraud

NEW YORK (AP—A 27-year-old woman research analyst, reported dead five months ago, has been found alive in what authorities describe as a bizarre plot by her and two male companions to defraud two insurance companies by staging her accidental drowning.

Miriam Lindenmaier, who was employed as a $5,500-a-year analyst for a Manhattan firm for more than six years before she disappeared, was found working as a waitress in a restaurant in White Plains, N.Y.

She was arrested Tuesday in her hotel room where she was registered under the name of Elizabeth Pangborn, authorities said.

One of the accused men, Alvin Brodie, 34, a construction worker named by authorities as the father of Miss Lindenmaier's unborn child, was alleged to have promised her that they could go to Spain with the $36,000 in insurance money.

Miss Lindenmaier, Brodie, and a second man, Thomas Martin, 26, a New York elevator operator, were arraigned Tuesday night in Bronx criminal court.

CHARGES LAID

They were charged with attempted grand larceny and conspiracy by "staging the accidental death" of Miss Linden maier in Long Island Sound.

Burton B. Roberts, chief assistant Bronx district attorney, said that last July 9 the trio rented a dory with an outboard motor. About two hours later, Roberts continued, the two men told police that the boat had capsized and that Miss Lindenmaier had drowned.

Roberts said two insurance policies, with Brodie as beneficiary, aroused his suspicion. In addition, the girl was reported to be an excellent swimmer.

The policies, one for $10,000 and the other for $8,000, provided a double indemnity, or a total of $36,000 in case of accidental death.

Roberts said that Brodie had made claims for the insurance proceeds to both companies but neither had paid off.

Barbara M. Shields, 5029 57th Street, Ladner, from James Shields of Port Alberni. They were married at Bellingham, Washington, in 1959.

NEW WARNING

'Axeman' Changes Clothing

LONDON (AP)—Prison garb believed worn by Britain's "mad axeman" was found today 24 miles from Dartmoor prison.

Frank Mitchell, 37, who escaped into the mists of Dartmoor two nights ago, apparently had eluded two police cordons and Royal Marine commandos who joined in the manhunt.

A senior police officer said a prison jacket, dungarees, shirt and gumboots were found on the main trunk road from London to the west country.

"We are reasonably sure that it's Mitchell's clothing," the officer said.

New warnings went out in the entire area to keep homes locked. Mitchell has a record of violence with hatchets or axes which put him behind bars for life in 1958.

Police were investigating a report that shortly after his escape, Mitchell had a quiet drink at an inn on the moor. Bob Roberts, proprietor of the Peter Tavy Inn, said he saw "a huge man dressed in green denims having a chat and a quiet drink" at the bar.

VIOLENT RAGES

Mitchell, a man of massive strength and violent rages, had served eight years of a life sentence for robbery with violence. He slipped away from a working party on the moor eight miles from the prison at dusk Monday.

Criticism mounted in Parliament over the decision to allow Mitchell to join the working party outside. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins bore the brunt of the attacks.

Five Conservative members tabled a motion in the House of Commons demanding an immediate inquiry into why Mitchell—with his fearsome record of violence—was allowed to leave the prison in a working party escorted by only one warder.

Pieces of Skin Took Space Ride In Radiation Test

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia tested the effects of outer space on human skin prior to launching the first cosmonaut by sending up skin samples from three doctors in an unmanned satellite, the Soviet labor newspaper Trud disclosed today.

Trud said small pieces of skin were taken from the shoulders and legs of three Soviet doctors, placed in sterilized glass bottles and launched into space Aug. 19, 1960, to test the effects of cosmic rays.

Three days later, the article said, the skin was returned to the laboratory of the experimental biology institute in Moscow and grafted back on the doctors, along with other tissues which had not been exposed to space.

The skin which has been in space took root eight days after the test samples which had been kept in the laboratory, Trud said, showing that men could fly in space without fear of damage to their skin.

Yuri Gagarin, the first cosmonaut, made his historic flight in April, 1961.

BRIEF PRESENTED

Labor Asks Law Ban Injunctions

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The 126,000-member B.C. Federation of Labour today asked for legislation outlawing all injunctions in industrial disputes.

The request was made in a 13-page brief on injunctions given to Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black at a 70-minute meeting this morning.

Federation president E. T. Staley of Victoria led a five-man delegation representing both the federation and the Canadian Labour Congress.

One month ago, the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association mailed a six-page letter and statement to Premier Bennett urging retention of injunctions in industrial disputes.

Mr. Staley said the delegation was given an "attentive audience" and the cabinet ministers were interested in labor legislation in other countries, where injunctions are almost unknown.

"We are hopeful there will be serious attention by the government to these problems," he said.

HEARINGS

"We would be extremely hopeful that after the last several years the government will see fit to have the standing committee on labor (of the legislature) act to hold hearings this session and it might be able to bring in recommendations."

This year, 14 union officials in B.C. have received jail terms for offences against injunctions.

Federation secretary Ray Haynes told reporters this always seems to have to happen before "people realized how serious the situation is."

Attorney-General Bonner said "it was a good brief" but it did not bring out any new points and was faulty in several places.

"But the brief, naturally, will be studied further. I've only read it once so far."

UNFORTUNATE

Mr. Bonner thought it "unfortunate that judges and courts were singled out" by the brief and he said its claim that men had been sent to jail for protesting the injunction law "in my humble opinion was not a statement of fact.

"People have run afoul of the court on contempt proceedings which involved a court order."

He was not aware of any joint discussion by provincial governments regarding injunctions "although the plain fact is that injunction law is just about the same all across Canada.

"If anything, B.C. has moved away from ex-parte injunctions by limiting them to four days (duration)."

He added that the brief's statement there are no injunctions used in labor disputes in Great Britain because collective bargaining agreements have no legal status raised an interesting question whether B.C. labor wants legal status removed from its agreements.

"There was brief discussion on this but no conclusion was reached," he said.

The federation's brief said Canada is the only country in the western world "beset by the problem of labor injunctions.

"There is no basis whatsoever, therefore, for the assertion that there is no alternative to the labor injunction as experience in all other countries proves," the brief said.

"In Britain there is a singular lack of labor law (e.g., no legal collective agreement) and, therefore, few grounds for the granting of injunctions.

LAST RESORT

"In the United States the matter was finally resolved by the Norris-La Guardia Act of 1932 which so limits the applicability of the injunction that it remains what it was originally intended to be, a last resort, used only under extraordinary conditions."

The number of applications for injunctions in B.C. has jumped from 70 between 1946 and 1955 to 280 between 1956 and 1965.

Of the latest 280 applications, 224 were for ex-parte injunctions — court orders issued on the application of one side without the other being heard.

The vast majority of injunctions were in the Vancouver area with particular emphasis on such industries as construction and shipping.

The brief concluded there has been "a purposeful resort to the use of injunctions as a weapon against labor, encouraged by the ease with which these are granted, particularly those on affidavit evidence (ex-parte) where there exists no right of cross-examination by the defendant."

It also said the injunction "decidedly favors management" with 85 per cent of court orders directed against picketing, without which "there can be no effective strike."

The B.C. Federation of Labour recalled it has presented briefs since 1960 "but the request fell on deaf ears."

Picketing was described as an exercise of the rights of freedom of speech and of association and "judges should be a great deal more cautious than they are about issuing orders that curtail or even deny completely these fundamental rights."

Judges were appointed by Liberal and Conservative governments "and the appointments go to lawyers who have served in the Liberal and Conservative parties."

At the same time, about one-third of the people of B.C. vote for the New Democratic Party in federal and provincial elections and these people "are by and large made up of working people who are part of the trade union movement.

"So long as the courts continue to intervene in labor disputes ex-parte, they will be open to the charge they are biased against labor, owing to the political background of the judges."

$2.8 Million Paid Out From Fund

VANCOUVER (CP) — The traffic victims' indemnity fund has paid out $419,933 on 47 claims it settled in the three months ending March 31, the royal commission on automobile insurance was told Tuesday.

The commission was told that since the fund's inception in 1961, 990 claims have been settled, with a payout of $2,890,135.

Purpose of the fund is to compensate persons injured in traffic accidents involving offending drivers who are uninsured, who have no assets or who can not be found.

Costs of the fund are paid for out of insurance premiums collected from motorists. Each of the 200 companies in B.C. is assessed by the fund in proportion to the company's premium income, with the largest amounts to the fund.

Ken F. V. Malthouse, B.C. manager of the All-Canada Insurance Federation, told the commission the protection provided by the fund is up to $50,000 for claims arising out of bodily injury or death and up $5,000 for property damage.

MSA Members Climb

VANCOUVER (CP)—Medical Services Association Monday reported a substantial increase in membership in 1966. "The total number of persons covered by MSA as of Aug. 31, 1966, was 657,735, an increase of 43,135 persons during the year," the directors' annual report said.

Safeway Expansion Contract Awarded

DUNCAN — The contract for Duncan's new Safeway store has been awarded to Manson Bros. Construction, Vancouver.

Construction of the $400,000 store will commence in early January.

The new store will be directly behind the present location.

Manager Mel Massey said today: "Car parking capacity will be increased to over 250 cars.

Conference On Marxist Unity Proposed

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Kremlin Tuesday night called on the world's Communist parties to prepare for an international conference on Marxist unity.

But a declaration issued at the end of a two-day meeting of the Soviet Communist party's ruling central committee stressed that a Marxist conference should be well prepared for by consultations among the various Communist parties.

Observers said the emphasis on the need for preparation was a gesture to allay doubts about the conference expressed by many influential European parties, especially that of Romania.

Informed sources said the meeting probably will take place next summer. It would be the first such international gathering since 1960.

The 195-member policy-making committee also denounced Chinese Leader Mao Tse-tung for taking China into a "new dangerous phase" of policy.

The declaration was the first official party statement in more than two years to personally attack the Chinese party chairman.

It said China's present policies had "nothing in common with Marxism-Leninism" and accused China's leaders of action which assisted imperialism.

The committee said the "great power, anti-Soviet policy of Mao Tse-tung and his group has entered a new, dangerous phase" and it was "necessary to expose resolutely the anti - Leninist views and the great power nationalistic course of the present Chinese leaders."

Tass news agency said the central committee voted full approval for Kremlin policy toward China and on Vietnam after hearing a foreign policy statement by Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev. The Brezhnev statement was delivered Monday but not made public.

Non-Red Polish Chief Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, 65, last non-Communist premier of Poland, died at his home in Maryland Tuesday.

The death of the former leader of the Polish Peasant party was attributed tentatively to a heart attack.

Mikolajczyk came into prominence during the Second World War as acting president and then as president of the Polish Parliament in exile.

When the refugee regime moved to London, after the fall of France, he became vice-premier and interior minister in the Polish exile government. In that capacity he directed activities of the Polish underground other German-controlled areas in his native country and in of Eastern Europe.

After succeeding to the premiership in 1944, Mikolajczyk came to Washington to seek President Franklin D. Roosevelt's intervention against Soviet domination of Poland.

Fearing for his safety in 1947, Mikolajczyk secretly left Poland and came to the United States after a short stay in London.

Since 1948 Mikolajczyk has lived in Chevy Chase, Md., a Washington suburb.

'HORRIBLE METHOD' OF MURDER, SUICIDE

Airline Pilots Want Airport Insurance Sales Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale of trip insurance at airports should be banned to stop the "horrible method" of murder or suicide by aircraft sabotage, a pilots group told a Commons committee Tuesday.

The Canadian Air Line Pilots Association presented a brief to the Commons committee on justice and legal affairs detailing 11 crashes since 1949 which it said represent "the majority of the 18 known or suspected" cases of aircraft sabotage.

"Eight of the 11 definitely involved air travel insurance," the brief added.

Two of the crashes detailed were in Canada.

The first was in 1949 near Quebec City. Albert Guay was subsequently convicted and executed for planting a bomb on the plane to kill his wife.

The other was a crash near 100 Mile House, B.C., in 1965 of a CPA plane after an explosion that blew off the tail. There has been intensive investigation but no charges have as yet resulted.

ELIMINATE ALL SALES

P. C. Hamilton, president of the group that represents 1,100 pilots on five scheduled Canadian carriers, said the pilots want to see all sales of trip insurance at airports eliminated. This included both coin-operated vending machines and counter operations where information is taken down by a clerk.

Air travel had become commonplace and safer than some forms of transport.

But railway and bus terminals didn't install trip insurance machines or counters.

"And gas stations don't sell highway insurance," added Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon), a private pilot.

Mr. Hamilton said the pilots aren't trying to prevent people from buying travel insurance. But they should do it through regular agents who would be sure to make checks into the purchaser's background.

Discussion was on a motion made by Ron Basford (L—Vancouver - Burrard) in the Commons that the government consider banning insurance vending machines.

PUBLIC WANTS INSURANCE

Earlier, the committee heard from transport department officials.

Deputy Minister J. R. Baldwin said his department is neither "strongly for nor strongly against" insurance sales at the airports. It had allowed such services to be provided because there had been a public demand for them.

Last year, because of public concern over a possible link between insurance sales and sabotage, the department studied the available information and found no apparent connection between vending machines and sabotage.

He and department officials emphasized that data was difficult to put together in such matters and that there had been only one proved case—the 1949 Quebec crash—in Canada when the study was carried out.

Department figures for 1965 showed some 67,596 policies were sold through machines, 321,304 across airport counters and 9,148 were handled by the airlines themselves. This amounted to about eight per cent of the 5,447,440 passengers boarding at Canadian airports during the year.

Canada Abstains

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The special political committee of the General Assembly said Monday that South Africa's apartheid racial policy is a threat to peace and must be met by universal and mandatory economic sanctions. Canada was among 12 countries abstaining on the Afro-Asian resolution, which passed by 87 to 1.

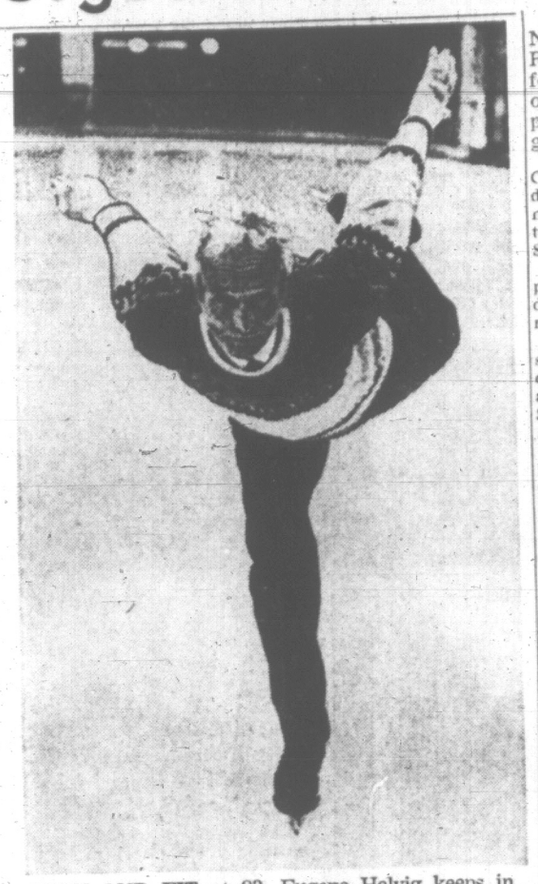
Joint Police Force Urged for Peninsula



SPRY AND FIT at 83, Eugene Helvig keeps in shape by ice skating three times a week at a Philadelphia rink. Helvig started skating 72 years ago in his native Wolferdingen, Germany, when he got first pair of skates from his brother. He is now a retired trolley motorman. (AP Wirephoto.)

Establishment of a joint North Saanich - Sidney RCMP police department for policing the north end of the Saanich Peninsula, is proposed by the attorney-general's department.

North Saanich Reeve J. B. Cumming said Tuesday the department has proposed a nine-man detachment with headquarters in the business section of Sidney.

The two municipalities are presently policed by a four-man detachment operating from Sidney.

The reeve said RCMP consider the present force inadequate for policing the two areas and has proposed that North Saanich pay for five additional men and their equipment.

Under the proposed scheme, North Saanich would be responsible for the salaries of five men and half the rental in a joint police headquarters.

(Cost of Sidney's police detachment—four men—is paid by the government. Under the Municipal Act policing of a village or town is under the jurisdiction of the attorney-general.)

Sidney's only obligation would be to provide adequate office space to accommodate the joint force, which in turn would be rented by the government and North Saanich.

LOCATED IN HALL

This would mean expanding the present headquarters of the Sidney detachment to provide room for the increased number of men. The present office and cells is located in the village municipal hall.

Cost of expanding the headquarters would be at least $11,000.

Reeve Cumming said he is in favor of a joint RCMP centre, if Sidney provides the additional office space.

"We would pay 50 per cent of the office and auxiliary costs," he said. "The remainder would be paid by the attorney-general's department."

Village chairman Arthur Freeman was not available for comment, but has indicated in the past he is in favor of a joint police force.

Reeve Cumming said if Sidney isn't able to increase the office space, North Saanich will have no other alternative but to build its own police headquarters.

JEWS FEAR RIGHT-WING

LONDON (Reuters) — The governing council of the World Jewish Congress today called on the West German government to defeat the "threat to German democracy and to the peace of Europe" posed by growng right-wing forces in the country.

It also urged support for forces inside West Germany fighting against this threat. The council made its appeal after two-day talks here on recent right-wing election gains in West Germany.

Flu Clues Sought in China

GENEVA (AP) — International experts are examining a new theory that influenza epidemics which periodically sweep through the world may be caused by animals. The answer may lie in China.

Scientists are still baffled over the origin of flu epidemics, such as the "Asian flu" outbreak of 1957 and the First World War epidemic which killed 20,000,000 people.

A World Health Organization special committee, comprising experts from nine countries, is studying clues which suggest that animals — particularly pigs — may be responsible.

Dr. Martin Kaplan of the United States, chief of the organization's veterinary public health section, told a press conference that the vital clue may be found in China.

The origins of major flu epidemics during the last century have all been traced to central Asia. It is known that the 1957 outbreak started in Yunnan province in southwest China — a big pig-breeding area.

But China is barred from the United Nations and experts have been unable to get any information. However, scientists know that outbreaks of influenza reappear like clockwork every year among the world's pig populations. Laboratory tests have shown that the virus is similar to the human flu virus. But there is still a "missing link" positively connecting the two.

We believe that the virus isolated from pigs suffering from flu in the United States may well be the same one present in the First World War epidemic," Kaplan said. "But at that time it was not known how to isolate flu viruses so we have no proof."

Horses have given further clues to the experts. Last year's outbreak of equine influenza which hit racehorses throughout the world provided important new evidence.

The fact that there is such a mysterious marked shift in human viruses after each epidemic has led experts to intensify their study of the theory that different animals and birds may be responsible.

The experts also are studying a theory that man and animals "swap" influenza. It is possible that humans catch the disease from animals and then transmit it back to them.

Top B.C. Artist On Display Here

By DESMOND BILL

A retrospective showing of selections from the last 10 years of work by Gordon Smith, one of Canada's most prominent painters, will be on display at the Art Gallery until Dec. 22.

Professor Tony Emery, in an introduction to the exhibition, recalls a famous statement that when an artist has learned his trade, he usually no longer has anything to say. Adds Prof. Emery, "That this has not happened in case of Gordon Smith you may see from the evidence before you."

Many of the paintings on view are on loan from the private collections of such celebrities as Walter Gordon and Pierre Berton. Others are borrowed from the Beaverbrook Art Gallery, the National Art Gallery and other institutions.

Smith, now 47, is on the staff of the University of British Columbia. He has exhibited in Europe, Australia and the United States and represented Canada at the Sao Paulo Exhibition 1961 and at the Guggenheim International Exhibition 1957.

CHRONOLOGICAL

His paintings are arranged in a generally chronological order so that viewers can see his development. His works range from the early yellowish paintings into cooler blues and reds and then, in an abrupt break, to hard-edged paintings in geometric style. In this latest period he uses lines and colors to create optical illusions.

The show displays the way in which Smith has swung from a rich, loosely-painted style to cleverly worked-out precision in painting.

Tony Emery says the common denominator of Smith's progress is "his love for and skill with color in general and certain colors in particular." He notes a "grouping of blue, orange-reds and greens that establishes a characteristic Smith chord."

The exhibition also contains a sampling of prints done recently by Smith. They are done in bright poster-type colors, some of which have an almost neon effect.

The exhibition was organized by the UBC fine arts gallery and will go on tour of Western Canada after it closes here.

Milk Firm On Trial In Price War

CALGARY (CP) — A former executive of Central Alberta Dairy Pool said Monday Carnation Milk Co. cut Alberta and British Columbia wholesale prices $1 a case after the pool entered the B.C. milk market in 1960.

Ellis Alvin Johnstone, former general manager of the Pool, testified a Carnation official said earlier in 1960 Carnation would undercut Alberta prices if the Pool entered the B.C. market.

He was testifying at the Alberta Supreme Court trial of Carnation, charged with a policy of selling evaporated milk cheaper in Alberta and British Columbia than in Ontario.

The charge, under the Criminal Code of Canada, alleges Carnation aimed to reduce competition in Alberta and B.C. The charge covers the period from Dec. 10, 1959 to Aug. 1, 1960.

'TWO-CENTS-OFF'

Mr. Johnstone testified the Dairy Pool planned in 1959 to introduce its Alpha brand milk to B.C. with a "two-cents-off" label promotion and discussed the plan with Carnation in Toronto.

Chief crown counsel Neil German said Monday the Crown will attempt to prove Carnation worked a "financial pressure play" on Alpha Milk Co. Ltd. of Red Deer and Pacific Milk Co. Ltd. of Vancouver.

Another Plea Heard For Hansard

The B.C. and Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday asked the provincial government to provide a Hansard record of debates in the legislature.

The young businessmen added their voice to a growing list of organizations — including the B.C. Social Credit League and Young Socreds Association — that have asked for a Hansard in recent weeks.

A Jaycee brief to the cabinet said a verbatim record of speeches would enable the public to assess their political representatives more accurately.

Opposition MLAs have demanded a verbatim account of debates which could be bought by the public for several years but successive resolutions for consideration have failed to produce government legislation.

The B.C. legislature is one of the few parliaments which do not have some record of debates.

The Jaycee brief to the provincial cabinet also urged permission for municipalities to build indoor swimming pools in existing and planned high schools with costs shared between civic councils and school boards.

The brief also asked for a royal commission to "study both the traffic safety conditions and the philosophy or principles of traffic responsibilities" and amendments to the Municipal Act to permit resident-electors to run for civic office.

1,350 Votes Wasted In Victoria

Victoria voters managed to spoil 1,350 ballots when they went to the polls last Saturday.

Fortunately the wasted votes were scattered throughout the four election categories and, except in the vote for school trustee, were not enough to affect final results.

In the school trustee vote 598 ballots were rejected, more than enough to have changed the picture between first candidate Ted Wood with 2,656 votes and Daphne Temple, a close second with 2,535.

Mayoralty candidates fared the best in voters' memories with only 21 ballots rejected.

In the two-way race for a one-year term as alderman 469 ballots were rejected and in the nine-way struggle for four two-year terms on council 246 ballots were rendered useless.

Only 16 complete ballot books were entirely spoiled by voters who scribbled words on the ballots or used their own pens or pencils to mark their decisions. In such cases all votes are cancelled.

LEFT BLANK

The majority of ballots for school trustee and aldermen were spoiled by voters who, apparently unable to make a decision, left the particular ballot paper blank.

Returning officer Morran Waller said the rejected ballots were "about average for Victoria."

"The vast majority of rejected ballots for school trustee just came in blank," he said. "It would appear that people not knowing which way to vote just didn't vote at all."

Other ballots were spoiled by voters who insisted on voting for more candidates than were called for on individual ballots. In other words people who voted for more than one school trustee when only one seat was vacant destroyed their vote.

But even had all the spoiled ballots gone to Frank Hunter, Charles Kingsfield or Mrs. Evelyn MacKenzie they could not have resulted in victory.

Mr. Hunter trailed Mayor Hugh Stephen by 1,494 votes, Mr. Kingsfield, seeking a two-year term as alderman, was 1,105 behind his nearest rival Lloyd Clarkson, and Mrs. MacKenzie trailed Ian Stewart by 2,184 votes in the one-year term battle.

HOME GARDEN

How About A Load Of Manure?

By HILDA BEASTALL

No gardener "has everything" as the saying goes — for a garden is an ever changing thing. It consumes supplies in its way even as we consume food.

Hilda

A bag of bonemeal for a neighbor's gift, or a bag of complete balanced fertilizer is sure of a pleased reception.

Outdoor weather pencils and plant labels, row markers, plant ties and peat pots — all of these are things the gardener needs to make his hobby more interesting.

If you know of a special plant your gardener friend or relative has always wanted, now is the time to see that he gets it — either a week ahead of The Day so that it can be properly cared for, or a gift certificate with the suggestion that it be used for the particular plant you know is wanted.

FURNITURE

For some friends a piece of garden furniture is ideal, a chair, table or a trellis or archway. For others, you may stretch the budget to an all-purpose garden cart with two wheels for easy handling, a set of small-sized garden tools, or a hose and sprinkler set.

A real bang-up Christmas present guaranteed to be the talk of the season is the load of barnyard or stable manure, delivered with your best wishes for a wonderful gardening year ahead, after due pre-arrangements for its accommodation.

For the friend who grows a bed or two of acid loving plants you could substitute a colossal bale of peat moss, secure in the knowledge that he will need it and use it with good results.

Theft Sentence Suspended

Arthur Porter of 527 Esquimalt Rd., earlier convicted of theft of goods worth less than $50, was given a suspended sentence when he appeared in central court Tuesday.

He was caught taking $16.05 worth of groceries from a Simcoe Street grocery store Dec. 2 without paying for them.

Magistrate Ostler ordered Porter to sign a $250 good behavior bond covering the next year.

SMALL BOY and his father are dead and more than 300 people evacuated from their homes near Pickering, Ont., when a sand truck and a CPR freight train collided Tuesday. Among the derailed cars is the white propane tank car which developed a leak and threatened the nearby area.

CHILD, FATHER KILLED

70 Families Evacuated After Truck-Train Crash

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — More than 70 families, numbering some 300 persons, remained away from their homes north of here today after a level crossing accident which killed a small boy and his father.

The families were evacuated Tuesday night by police, who feared possible explosion of 2,600 gallons of liquid propane, leaking slowly from a railway tank car wrecked in the crash of a loaded five-ton sand truck and a 115-car CPR freight train.

The crash piled railway cars as high as 80 feet, derailing two diesel locomotives and 22 cars. Two train men suffered minor injuries.

Police said they believe the dead are Allen Feeney, 30, of Pickering and son Stephen, 4.

While experts gingerly pumped the propane into tank trucks today, police said it will probably be late Thursday before the residents are allowed to return home.

Some jammed nearby motels but most found shelter with friends or relatives. Two public schools in the area were closed until the risk passes.

The boy's body was found at the side of the tracks. The man's body was not found because the tangled mass of wreckage cannot be cleared until the propane is dissipated.

Extra provincial police were brought into the area 20 miles east of Toronto to notify residents that homes must be evacuated over a three-square-mile area.

Railway officials said they expect the main line to Montreal will be blocked for at least 48 hours. Wrecker trains stood by, waiting for word it was safe to move into the scene.

Britain Resists Blockade on Oil

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Britain sought today to dissuade African members of the UN Security Council from pressing for a tight oil embargo of Rhodesia which could only be enforced by a naval blockade of all southern Africa.

Britain's Lord Caradon asked for urgent consultation with the Africans after Uganda introduced amendments Tuesday to a British resolution calling for mandatory sanctions against 12 Rhodesian exports.

The amendments call on Britain to "prevent by all means the transport to Southern Rhodesia of oil or oil products."

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 15-nation council last week his government would consider applying a limited oil embargo. Britain had in mind, however, a ban that would affect only Rhodesia and not involve a confrontation with Portugal and South Africa, Britain's fourth biggest trading partner.

The Africans said that an oil ban only on Rhodesia would be meaningless since both Portugal and South Africa have said they would continue supplying the rebel regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith. Both ship by overland routes.

British sources said the only way to stop this trade would be to bomb the land routes or to stretch a naval blockade from

Strike Killing Bill Set

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave notice in the Commons today of emergency legislation to block a threatened strike of air traffic controllers next Tuesday and immediately ran into opposition criticism.

Conservative House Leader Michael Starr said he would press for an emergency debate on the affair—a move denied Tuesday by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

"They're using a club," Opposition Leader Diefenbaker interjected at one point just after Revenue Minister Benson announced the plan to introduce legislation that would outlaw the strike.

Mr. Starr said the government didn't have to resort to legislation. It could end the dispute at once by agreeing to accept wage recommendations made in an inquiry report by J. B. Robinson.

The former Conservative labor minister referred to Judge Robinson as a "conciliator."

Mr. Benson leaped to his feet in protest. The judge had not been appointed to conciliate the wage dispute.

Mr. Starr said Judge Robinson "certainly was an arbitrator." Anybody with knowledge of labor matters knew exactly what the judge's job had been.

He said there has been "an aura of mystery" in the government's approach. It kept insisting that negotiations were going well at the same time as it threatened legislative action.

It was "pretended progress."

HOPES ARE HIGH

Mr. Benson reported that negotiations Wednesday morning indicated both sides were prepared to show greater flexibility and hope remained high for a voluntary agreement.

There would be further talks with representatives of the 800 airport controllers. These would go on today and Friday "as long as there is any hope of a settlement."

Mr. Benson said the anti-strike legislation would be introduced as soon as the rules permit. The government has also proposed overtime sittings Friday night and Saturday to deal with it.

He emphasized that he hoped this action would not be needed.

A strike deadline of 8 a.m. local times Tuesday Dec. 20, was set after the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association reported that members voted 578 to 33 in favor of strike action.

However, J. D. Lyon, president of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association, told reporters that no significant progress could be reported.

CAN'T SAY

Was the situation hopeful?

"At this stage, I couldn't say either way," Mr. Lyon said.

The union is demanding that the government adopt wage recommendations made by Judge J. B. Robinson in a report he handed to the cabinet

RED THREAT REDUCED

NATO Eyes Peace Role

By HAROLD MORRISON

PARIS (CP)—A Canadian official said today the first morning session of the NATO ministerial conference produced a strong consensus that vast political changes in Europe had reduced the nature of the Soviet military threat, thus opening the way for a sweeping East-West peace offensive.

The official also said that virtual unanimity on the decline of the Soviet threat led to agreement that "realistic" military goals can be adopted from the alliance—an indication that the so called force goals may be reduced.

Aside from the formal exchange of views in the NATO council chamber, the official reported that corridor talk indicated gathering opinion that Canada should become a member of the planned NATO nuclear strategy group which likely will be nailed down in the afternoon session.

He said this feeling that Canada should become one of the rotating members of the group appears to be based on arguments that Canada has a nuclear operational role, that she has displayed a commonsense approach and s capable of imposing a "moderating" influence on the Western nuclear trigger.

MARTIN AND RUSK TALK

While External Affairs Minister Paul Martin did not speak at the morning session, he held private talks with State Secretary Dean Rusk of the U.S., following up conversations during

'Can't Confirm Or Deny'—U.S.

(Times News Services)

The Communists charged that United States jets raided Hanoi and its suburbs today for the second day in a row. Radio Hanoi declared eight American aircraft, including a pilotless reconnaissance plane, were shot down.

There was no immediate comment from the U.S. command, which earlier said it could not confirm or deny the Communist claim that American bombs fell inside the North Vietnamese capital Tuesday and that women and children were killed.

North Vietnam called on its army and the Viet Cong today to retaliate for the U.S. air raids.

In Washington, the State Department said today American policy was to bomb only "military or military-associated targets" in North Vietnam.

But it still left unclear whether any U.S. bombs may have fallen on civilians or homes on the edges of Hanoi.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said in a Hanoi dispatch relayed from Moscow that American planes raided the city today for about 90 minutes.

"As yesterday," the Tass correspondent said, "they bombed the right and left banks of the Red River, the embankment and the area of the bridge linking Hanoi with its suburb Zyalam.

'Pirates Met by Dense A-A Fire'

"The air pirates were met with dense anti-aircraft fire. Numerous bursts clouded the clear sky. A rocket soared up, leaving a white trail behind. I saw a U.S. plane catch fire and parachute detach from the plane."

Agence France-Presse in a Hanoi dispatch from its correspondent, Jacques Moalic, said U.S. planes carried out their largest and heaviest raid yet on Hanoi. He quoted Hanoi radio as saying that eight planes were shot down and more damaged. Moalic quoted the North Vietnamese foreign ministry as saying that more than 100 persons were killed or injured in the raid Tuesday and today.

The Hanoi correspondent for the Italian Communist party organ l'Unita said that U.S. planes dropped bombs and napalm (jellied gasoline) on two populated districts only 1,200 yards from the centre of Hanoi. The correspondent in what was claimed to be an eyewitness account said "there was a massacre" among the 500 families living in the area.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported that American bombers attacked a rail yard six miles northeast of Hanoi Tuesday and a truck depot five miles south of the capital.

Targets in Swamp, Rice Paddy

He said both targets were in swamp and rice paddy areas well outside the city proper.

The North Vietnamese charged that U.S. pilots bombed and strafed "many quarters inside and near Hanoi" and said the raids constituted "an extremely dangerous step of war escalation."

Nhan Dan, organ of the North Vietnamese Communist party, called on its army and the Viet Cong to "avenge the people of Hanoi." Following the last American raids near Hanoi early in December, the Viet Cong attacked Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base.

Viet Cong guerrillas inflicted heavy casualties on a detachment of U.S. marines and South Vietnamese troops at separate outposts before dawn today.

One target was a post manned by a platoon from a company of the 3rd Battalion, U.S. 5th Marine Regiment, on the perimeter of the big marine base at Chu Lai, 52 miles south of Da Nang.

The other was the headquarters of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Regiment of South Vietnam's 2nd Division, about 70 miles south of Da Nang.

No figures were announced on specific losses.

WE SHOULD QUIT NATO, SAYS GREEN

VANCOUVER (CP)— Howard Green, former minister of external affairs, said Tuesday Canada should consider dropping out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization when the present treaty expires in 1969.

"Canada is overplaying her hand trying to help run Europe," he told a service club.

Mr. Green said that during his term of office as external affairs minister, 1959 to 1963, there was "a terrible tension" between the United States and Russia.

But he said the reduction in tension between the U.S. and Russia has downgraded the position of many of the middle - power nations, including Canada.

FOUR BLOCKS CLOSED OFF

Tanker Truck Crash Dumps Gas on Ice

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Police blocked off four downtown blocks today while firemen spread non-inflammable foam over a tanker and 400 gallons of gasoline that spilled when the truck crashed through the wall of a building.

The truck skidded on an icy curve, rolled down a 12-foot embankment and crashed rear-end-first through the wall of the Kamloops Curling Club.

About 400 gallons of the truck's 1,000-gallon load splashed onto a sheet of ice inside the curling club.

Fire Chief Tom Slater said 34-degree temperatures may have made the gasoline less volatile. Buildings in the area were not evacuated but pedestrian and motor traffic in the immediate vicinity was prohibited.

The driver of the truck escaped without serious injury.

JACKIE THREATENS ACTION TO STOP MAGAZINE PRESSES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite a threat of immediate court action by Mrs. John F. Kennedy, officials of Harper and Row and Cowles Communications said today William Manchester's "Death of The President" will be published as scheduled.

The former first lady is reportedly concerned about publication of intimate things she told Manchester in the belief that nothing would be published without her approval.

Mrs. Kennedy told Manchester about such things as personal letters she wrote to her husband from Greece a month before he was killed.

The late president's widow had a summons served on both publishing companies Tuesday notifying them of imminent court action to block publication of the book and its serialization in Look Magazine.

The book is scheduled to be published in hard cover next April 7. Look plans to begin publication of the serial version in the Jan. 21 issue, which goes on newsstands Jan. 10.

JACKIE
. . . story too personal

Ironically, Manchester was hand-picked by the Kennedy family to do the definitive writing on the assassination to prevent distortion and sensationalism.

Close associates say that Mrs. Kennedy bared her innermost personal feelings to Manchester in about 10 hours of tape recording sessions. But Mrs. Kennedy believes she had an understanding that the book would not be published until Nov. 22, 1968, and that nothing would be printed without her approval.

It has also been reported that the Kennedy family, notably Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D—N.Y., the late president's brother, was disturbed about the political implications in the book, which reportedly contains an indelicate portrait of President Johnson immediately following the assassination.

"We're going ahead," said William Atwood, vice-president of Cowles. "The presses are already rolling. I don't see any way it can be stopped. There is nothing to interfere with our right to publish. This summons is just a piece of paper. It doesn't say anything."

Atwood said he was "very puzzled" by Mrs. Kennedy's objections to the book. He said it was "hard to say" what she found objectionable about it.

CHILDREN OF ASIA FUND

A SPECIAL WAY OF CHRISTMAS GIVING

By CANDIDE TEMPLE

For one Victoria aunt, Christmas is a special way of giving.

No toys and dolls and ice-skates for her to shop for and wrap with loving care.

Her seven nieces and nephews, ranging from six years old to near adults, get a very special present each Christmastime.

It's a contribution, in their names, to the Times' annual fund to help Dr. Lotta Hitschmanov's Unitarian Service Committee in its worldwide relief work.

And for their aunt, a retired teacher and a widow who lives in Victoria, it's the best way she knows to wish the youngsters a happy Christmas, and teach them a little kindly concern for less fortunate children overseas.

Three of the children, Carol-Anne, David and Janet, live not too far away, in Seattle.

Two more, Gregg and Scott, live in Minneapolis, and two others, six-year-old twins Patricia and Pamela, live in New Brunswick.

That is a long way away—at least "it is for me," says their aunt with a smile.

For 13 years now she has been wishing them happy holidays through the Times USC fund.

And every year to let them know of their present, she sends the Times clipping about her contribution to each of the families.

Other contributions to the Share with Asian Children Fund may be sent care of the newspaper or made at the main branch, Bank of Montreal, 1225 Douglas St.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, DEC. 14, 1966—PAGE 17

Arthur Mayse

Until only the other day, I entertained no more Christmas spirit than old Scrooge did before his reformation. Something was missing, or, more correctly, had not yet taken place; and to be honest, I kind of hoped it wouldn't for yet a while.

Once the spirit strikes, I pontificated to my wife in her busy kitchen, we enter upon a period of mass insanity. The prudent resolves made in November are abandoned. Before we fully realize what's happened, we are being swept into the tinsel glitter, the fuss and bother, the crass commercialism of yet another modern Christmas.

Win, while I held forth along these lines, kept right on with her work. This consisted of kneading and balling a flour-powdered mass of dough.

Now she rolled the dough flat, and, reaching for a cutter, began to trim the sheet into little circles.

"Cookies?" I asked; and Win said, "No, mince tarts."

"Kind of early for those," I suggested.

My dear one looked up from greasing a compartmented pan. "Do you realize," she asked, with more patience than a kibitzing husband deserves, "that Christmas is only about two weeks away?"

★

I hadn't, but a check of the calendar thumb-tacked behind a cupboard door made the fact uncomfortable, plain. Even so, I still didn't feel in the least Christmasy. Some states of mind you can force, but not that one. You feel it or you don't and there's no middle ground.

By this time Win had lined the compartments with dough, filled them with mincemeat, and crimped the double row of tops in place. She brushed past me where I lounged nibbling a pilfered scrap, took a fork from the cutlery drawer, and with a dainty touch, began to print a row of squirrel-tracks on each tart.

It was a casual minor operation and one I had watched many times before. But all of a sudden, the seasonal preparations took on extreme importance.

Before the oven swallowed the pan, I was into jacket and rubber boots and off to search our wild acre for a likely Christmas tree.

I hadn't been down that way for too long a time. The rain, a nuisance elsewhere, was a familiar and friendly part of the soft grey December afternoon.

From somewhere down the line, a cock pheasant cut loose with a noisy crowing. Our dog Lancer put up a quail covey where the trail forks; the birds were plump and not much alarmed; they buzzed up from cover like brown projectiles, but landed only yards distant.

We followed them in through the sopping tangle of Pacific willow and leafless ocean spray and came on an unsuspected little Christmas tree.

★

It was too small by far; so after time out to check on the snowberry crop, we pushed on toward a maple clump that still carries the floor of a tree-house abandoned by its young builders when they ran out of nails and enthusiasm.

Our Christmas tree, that year had for once pleased all four of us. It had come from just beyond the maples.

I blundered into the pit which is the sole remaining trace of the underground fort that succeeded the tree-house and blinked up from hands and knees at a promising evergreen.

We'd axed that Christmas tree of years ago high on its trunk so it would fit the space between stand and living room ceiling. As sometimes happens, a bough below the cut had bent up to form a well-shaped new top!

I went to tell Win about my find but a wife with mince pies in her oven and shortbread cookies soon to follow has scant time for idle chatter.

She paused just long enough to let me inform her that Christmas has much to commend it in spite of all, then sent me off, whistling "Good King Wenceslas" through a mince tart, with the cards I'd forgotten to mail that morning.

COUNCIL SPARE THAT TREE

CITIZENS PROTEST CHOPPING

Will They Strip Victoria of Her Leafy Beauty?

By PETE LOUDON

A battle to save more boulevard trees from the axe is warming up in Oak Bay.

A number of acacias have been removed from Dunedin Street in Victoria.

And lopping and trimming of leafy boughs along Cook between Fort and Dallas—and the removal of one beautiful giant on Cook near May—has engendered another protest.

Is Greater Victoria to be denuded of the beauties that make it famous, ask the conservationists.

The need for wider streets and protection of power lines must be served, the tree-cutters reply.

●

And one of the community's lengthiest controversies is building again.

Residents of Victoria Avenue in Oak Bay have won the first round. Protests against gradual removal of large old trees there and their replacement by smaller varieties of boulevard trees have come to council.

Council has dropped the proposal. But a municipal committee is eyeing more trees bordering Monterey between Oak Bay and St. Ann. Councillors however, will tour the site before coming to any decision.

Works superintendent R. A. Futcher wants removal of an old flowering crab apple, a laburnum and several flowering ash—and let the chips fall where they may. They are disfigured or aged, he says.

Local homeowners are disagreed on whether the trees should go. In some cases it depends on who must rake the leaves.

●

Edward J. Symons, 1231 Victoria Avenus, says such people "should retire to the Sahara." Mrs. Nita O. Forrest, an artist, told council the large old trees give Oak Bay individuality.

In Victoria, the Cook Street protesters who dislike the generous pruning of boughs which touch power lines have shouted "desecration".

But city parks administrator Herb Warren says he has inspected the trees and he says, "We have to provide clearance (for hydro lines) and that's it."

He said one tree is being removed entirely because it had become dangerous. But where pruning is being done for hydro lines, it is being kept to a minimum.

"At this time of year it may stand out like a sore thumb, but come spring and it won't even be noticed."

●

He regretted the loss of the Dunedin Street acacias. The trees were lost to a road widening project demanded by local industry to accommodate truck traffic.

The cloud had a small silver lining. The wood, coveted by wood carvers, is freely available to them, first come, first served, at Beacon Hill Nursery. Carvers must come during working hours and take it away themselves.)

Mr. Warren wanted it understood the city is planting more trees than it removes. He says, however, the community generally is not as tree conscious as it should be.

●

He said contractors involved in building projects remove many trees which could be preserved. Or else they will damage trees by lashing cables about them and tearing off the bark, or they will dump construction materials at their bases, injuring them.

Victoria's Garry Oaks are being removed faster than they are being regenerated, he added.

This is a sore point, too, with Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist. He fears this area will soon lose its native arbutus, oaks and dogwood.

"We are introducing too many things in replacing the trees which grow here naturally." He said many of the foreign species being planted are beautiful. But do they belong here? he asked.

The Saanich peninsula and Victoria area form the northern boundary of a region of Garry Oak, arbutus and dogwood.

"They occur nowhere else in Canada but here. We should be more conscious of this," he stated. These are the trees visitors come here to see. A Japanese tourist isn't going to be thrilled by Japanese cherries, he added.

●

A glance through the Times files shows numerous pictures of trees which were local landmarks which are just a memory today. Conservationists annually have called for action.

CAROL SINGERS from the Victoria West intermediate choir entertained City Hall staffers and members of the general public at City Hall this morning. The Vic West youngsters were followed by the Monterey School choir. Both choirs were participating in a week-long program which sees the first 30 minutes of the City Hall working day devoted to Christmas singing. Members of the public are invited to join in the singing Thursday and Friday morning at 8:30. (Times photo.)

Teachers to Get 8 Per Cent Hike

Arbitration Terms Effective Jan. 1

An 8.02 per cent average salary increase for Greater Victoria's 1,000 public school teachers awarded today will add $629,080 to the district's wage bill.

The arbitration award concludes 1966 salary negotiations between Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and trustees of School District 61. Its terms go into effect Jan. 1, 1967, for 12 months.

Trustees were taken somewhat by surprise by the basic salary increase granted by arbitration.

They had been expecting about a 7 per cent award as being closer to the average handed down in other parts of the province.

HIGHER RATE

But higher increases have been granted elsewhere—8.9 per cent at Merritt, for example.

Last year Greater Victoria teachers won a 5.412 per cent increase that added $378,830 to the salary bill.

The new award means an increase of 2.27 mills on current assessed values.

Average salary under the new scale is calculated at $7,749. But officials point out that Victoria probably has more teachers at maximum levels of salary than any other district in the province, which weights the balance.

PRINCIPAL PAY

The new scale for principals requires time to be worked out, but the top salary here will be for the principal of Victoria Secondary, the district's largest school, who will get $16,399 including allowances.

He is now paid $15,333, including his special allowances. After three years' experience in the post he will be paid $16,864, according to the new scale.

New basic minimum salary for new teachers ranges from $4,400 to $6,500, depending on qualifications.

TOP CATEGORY

Those in the top category, with 14 years' experience, will be paid $10,840 and with a master's degree they will be eligible for a bonus of $200.

The bonus for the professional category was accepted by arbiters Dr. R. A. Shearer and Gerald Sullivan, but rejected by the third member, Kenneth Murphy, who argued that it represents a double payment.

About 44 teachers in the district are eligible for the top salary of $11,040 including bonus.

The board rejected a teacher bid for special leave with pay.

Dominion Theatre Being Torn Down

One of Victoria's earliest movie theatres—the Dominion on Yates Street—is being torn down to make way for a parking lot.

The roof has gone, the seats and fixtures are being taken out and, by the end of January, there will be no trace left of a building which has graced the 800 block since 1912.

Last to go will be the massive brick walls, ranging in thickness from two to four feet.

Up for sale are the theatre's 831 steel seats, its doors, windows, toilet fixtures and lights.

The property was acquired recently by the Park and Lot Parking System, operated by Jack Robbins, Paul Arsens and Emerson Calwell. It will be replaced by a ground-level asphalt parking lot with 50-cent meters to be opened to the public next March.

SILENT MOVIES

The Dominion Theatre was built in the early days of the silent movies and was specially designed for the purpose. It replaced Victoria's first steam laundry, founded and operated by the late Harry Bickerdike.

Until recently the theatre was owned by members of the Bickerdike family, but for a number of years it was leased to Famous Players Ltd. When the lease expired in 1955, the property reverted to the family.

"Many famous bands played on the stage of the Dominion during the 20s and 30s," said Martin Cave, one of the theatre's former managers, now with the Royal.

"It was a really fine theatre — one of the most solid buildings in the city — and at one time it was crowded almost every night."

COMPETITION

Due to competition from TV, the Dominion closed its doors to the public in 1961 and has been idle ever since.

But it has not been uninhabited. A large number of bats have taken up residence between the ceiling and the roof.

SHOT YOUNGSTER LOSES FIGHT TO STAY ALIVE

Schoolboy Kevin King died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday afternoon, three days after being shot through the head.

For the last two days, the youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, 1903 Maple, Sooke, had been kept alive by a respirator.

He was rushed to hospital Saturday afternoon after being shot in the forehead while he and a younger brother were using .22 rifles to shoot at tin cans in the backyard.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until an inquest has been set.

Surviving Kevin are the parents, two brothers, two sisters and grandparents.

ACUTE CASES EXEMPT

Most School Building Halted by Cabinet

The provincial government has halted all school construction in the province except in areas where overcrowding is already acute.

The almost total ban on school building means the department of education will not approve construction of Newton elementary and Christie Point elementary schools.

Greater Victoria school board has warned that failure to have these schools ready by this fall will mean a shift system of classes in the areas they were intended to serve.

The cutback also means that Sooke school board will not be able to proceed with the building program approved by voters in last Saturday's election.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said this morning that "school construction is being authorized only on a priority basis and for classrooms only."

He refused to say what constitutes "a priority basis" but it apparently means that construction will be approved only for areas where overcrowding is already acute.

NORMAL PACE

Dr. Neil Perry, deputy minister of education, confirmed that "the normal pace of school construction is much slowed down."

When asked how long the cutback will continue he replied, "Your guess is as good as mine. It is not possible to proceed with new school construction until the extraordinarily tight money market improves."

Mr. Peterson, when asked when approval would be given for construction of Christie Point and Newton schools, replied, "Where is Christie Point?"

APPLICATIONS

He said his department will handle applications for construction of these schools "in the usual way. I'm not going to interfere."

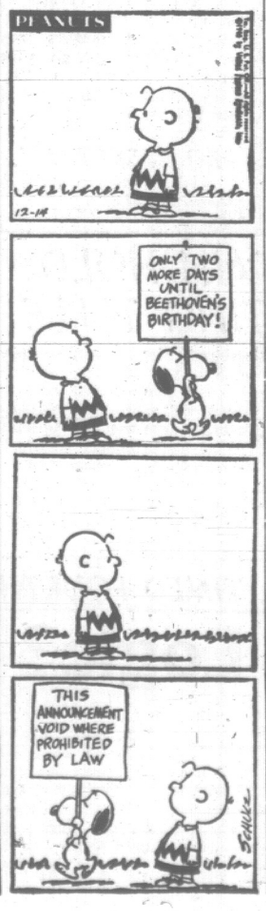
Mr. Peterson said it is not true to say that the government will not approve any school construction but he refused to go into details. He said, "I'll be reporting fully on this matter to the Legislature."

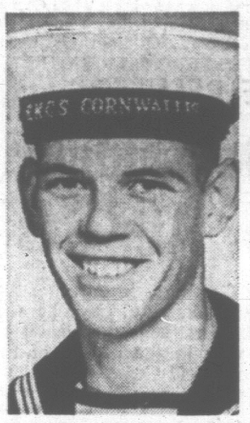
He said all applications for approval of school construction "are being looked at in the light of the needs of the province as a whole."

WITHOUT SHARE

He added, "If they like, school districts can proceed on their own with school construction without the government sharing any of the costs.

Sooke school board only recently learned of the cutback officially although Mr. Peterson warned B.C. school trustees what to expect when he spoke to their annual convention several months ago.





FORMER VICTORIA HIGH school student, Ordinary seaman, Ronald Boughton, has been named best all - round student of the new entry division at Canadian Forces Base, Cornwallis, N.S. The 17-year-old, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boughton live at 1045 Vista Heights, joined the navy last summer.

Health Board Issue High On Black List

B.C.s new Health Minister Wesley Black today said he will delve in the suspended state of the Greater Victoria Health Board "as soon as I possibly can."

A formal break-up of the irregularly-constituted board, which supervises a loose pooling of public health staffs here, was due this month but the city, Oak Bay and Esquimalt apparently have agreed to continue on a month - to - month basis at the urging of the provincial health department.

The department indicated that a new cost-sharing formula, the chief bone of contention among the components, could be worked out after a replacement was announced for retiring health minister Eric Martin.

Mr. Black, who got the job Monday night, today said there "are 1,001 things for me to catch up on and I just can't do them all at once.

"But I will try to get around to this (Metro Health Board) as soon as I possibly can.

New Bonding For Salesmen In New Year

New bonding requirements for realtors, car dealers, private detectives and collection agents will begin Jan. 1.

A cabinet order Tuesday proclaimed several sections of the two-year-old Security Bonding Act to be effective on that date, supplanting requirements scattered through a number of statutes.

The securities must be posted with the provincial superintendent of insurance as guarantees against dishonest or illegal practices by licence holders or their employees.

Real estate licence holders must post a $5,000 bond for himself and one employee; $10,000 if there are two to 10 employees; $20,000 for 11 to 20 employees; $30,000 for 21 to 30; $40,000 for 31 to 40; and $50,000 for 41 or more.

Vehicle dealers must post $5,000 security and licensed collection agents at least $2,500 or more depending on the gross volume of their collections.

Licensed private detectives must post a $2,500 bond plus $500 security for each of their employees up to a maximum of $10,500.

Band To Play At Prison

Christmas is coming a bit early to William Head Institution this year.

Tonight, members of the Mount Douglas Senior Secondary School band and their bandmaster, John Boel, are paying their own way and hiring a bus to play a special concert of Christmas carols for inmates at the institution. The concert begins at 8 p.m.

UN-SHIPLIKE, but useful, is this bulky piece of equipment aboard the oceanographic research vessel Onar. The 60-foot University of Washington-owned vessel put into Victoria today en route to Nitinat Lake on the west coast of Vancouver Island. the jumbo-type apparatus is used to lower and raise water-testing devices to the ocean depths. Dr. Michael Healy (right) displays one of the temperature guages, while Fred Palmer (left) and David Robare look on. All being well, the Onar will enter the tricky passage into the lake Thursday, returning to Seattle early nex week. It is the second such research program carried out at the unusual lake, which has a top layer of fresh water and a lower layer of stagnant salt water. (Times photo.)

Thieves Grab Movie Camera

Thieves broke into the 841 Victoria Ave. home of Victor Hemming early Tuesday night and stole a Zeiss Ikon movie camera, and 8-mm movie projector, four bottles of liquor and four Centennial silver dollars.

Value of the goods is estimated at $280.

Mr. Hemming is covered by insurance. It is the second time his home has been robbed, he said.

Ask The Times

Q. Will the men who paddled down the Fraser in a centennial race this year repeat the venture in 1967? H.K.

A. The provincial centennial office reports the same team of six paddlers and two spares will paddle and portage from Northern B.C. to Quebec between May and September, 1967.

An error crept into Tuesday's reply to the question asking what grants are made by the city to trade and industry. Although the total of $64,725 was correct, the breakdown was not. It should have read: Victoria Visitors' Bureau $50,075, V.I. Publicity Bureau $7,150, Chamber of Commerce $2,500 and Spring Flower Festival $5,000.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problmes. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

STUDENTS of St. Margaret's School got into the Christmas spirit Tuesday by presenting a $125 cheque to the Victoria Chapter of the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Beth Cole presents the donation to Peter King, fund raising chairman of the group. The money will assist local children stricken with the disease. The students also pledged to sell Centeninal tulips in order to raise money for CF research.

TINY TOTS TATOOED ON SKIN

Dress of Shiny Black Sequins And Its Trip Into Go-Go Land

By ELIZABETH FORBES

There's a rush on in various parts of the country right now to resurrect Grandma's silks and satins from attic trunks and to remake them in the dance frock image beloved by twinkle-toed chicks of today's generation.

Forbes

That's why the story I am about to tell you has in it more than a touch of coincidence as well as being true in all details.

It starts back in the '20s when Mrs. R. P. Rithet, then one of Victoria's outstanding hostesses, bought a dress made almost entirely of shiny black sequins. She wore it at a number of social events, then "retired" it to a big attic storeroom, where it was almost forgotten.

Some 10 years later when "Gisburn," the family home at the corner of Rockland Avenue and Moss Street, was being closed. Mrs. Rithet sent a trunk filled with gowns she had worn on various occasions to a rummage sale. The sequin dress was amongst them.

Sponsoring the sale was the junior IODE Daisy Chain Chapter with members from 17 to 20 years of age.

You can well imagine that those gowns had little chance of reaching the public. They were snapped up by the girls themselves who, like their present-day counterparts, saw possibilities in the lovely silks and satins.

★ ★ ★

The black sequin dress went to Miss Eleanor Dinsdale (now Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury) who immediately remodelled it with a wide black net ruching around the hem to make it floor-length.

She wore it for "several seasons" and each time she put it one it made her feel "very sophisticated and grown up." Finally it was relegated to her attic trunk.

★ ★ ★

Again there was a lapse of time. Then a letter came from a former Daisy Chain member, Miss Wilma Henderson, in San Francisco, asking if the black sequin frock was still in existence. If so, could she borrow it?

Off it went to California. Miss Henderson changed the net on the skirt for a wide black velvet band and added long velvet sleeves. And the frock was "on the road" for another couple of years.

When it returned to Victoria it was again "popped away" in a trunk — this time in the Spilsbury attic.

Years later, the senior class in Oak Bay High School decided to present the hilarious play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

★ ★ ★

Gail Manning and Gail Morrison (both married now and with children of their own) had the title roles of Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough.

You will remember that in the story they went off on a trip to Europe and while in Paris pooled their "mad money" to buy "one gorgeous gown."

You've guessed it! On the high school stage it was Mrs. Rithet's black sequin dress.

When the play was over the gown was again folded away in tissue paper and lavender sachet. And it stayed folded away until this year of 1966 when Mary, youngest daughter of the Spilsburys' trio of girls, returned to Victoria from a successful career in ballet that during the time she was overseas saw her perform in nearly all the capitals of Europe.

★ ★ ★

A few weeks ago she was invited to a "go-go" party hosted by a well-known young man about town.

She went rummaging in her mother's trunks to find "something" that could be made into a costume for the occasion. She found the black sequin dress.

Together, Mrs. Spilsbury and her daughter Mary ripped off the black velvet band on the skirt, took away the long velvet sleeves and remodelled what was left into a "go-go" creation of sequinned mini skirt, pop top and tiny jacket.

So, the dress that was young more than 40 years ago made the long hop to the far-out silhouette of today.

On the night of the party it shone, it simmered and it twinkled. It brought compliments galore to its wearer. It also gave her some moments of anxiety.

★ ★ ★

You see, in the day when the gown was first created, sequins were made of a gelatin-like material. And Mary soon discovered that gelatin doesn't stand up any too well under the accelerated movements and body warmth generated by the frug and the watusi.

The sequins began to melt. Beneath the pert mini skirt, the pop top and the tiny jacket, they stuck to her skin.

And by the end of the evening she was neatly tattooed in a pattern of tiny black dots that took the better part of the next day to scrub off.

NURSE from Uppsala, Margarettha Linden, 19, shows a smile as bright as her crown of candles after she was installed as Sweden's Light Queen. The coronation took place in Stockholm's Town Hall.

'U.S. Involved'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Daily News reported Monday the United States is becoming involved, perhaps militarily, in the struggle between the Guatemalan government and Communist guerrillas.

Snowball's Creation Keeps Tills Ringing

By MARILYN ARGUE

OTTAWA (CP) — Ookpik the sealskin owl has done some travelling and made some money since he was invented by an Eskimo at the Fort Chimo co-operative three years ago.

The Eskimo co-operative has made $17,500 from Ookpik's commercial royalties and he's gone home with almost every dignitary to hit Ottawa from U Thant and Miss Japan-Canada Friendship to Tennessee Ernie Ford.

First introduced at a trade fair in Philadelphia, the Ookpik toy was the creation of Annie Snowball, an Eskimo woman in her 60s who still lives at Fort Chimo, near Ungava Bay in Northern Quebec. She's made about $4,200 out of the big-eyed owl.

Spokesmen for the northern development department say it's impossible to tell how much money has been made from the sale of genuine Ookpiks made from sealskin by 25 Eskimos in the community of 310.

This is because co-operative profits are made from hunting, fishing, sewing and other art work, and no breakdown of figures is made.

Some commercial royalties come from two companies mass-producing the little owls in plush and opposum fur.

Other companies pay to put the Ookpik image on everything from children's jewelry to sweatshirts. There have also records and a folk singing quartet has adopted the name.

Altogether, royalties add up to $50,000 but out of that promotion, marketing and legal fees reduce the actual profit to $17,500.

Conference On Marxist Unity Proposed

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Kremlin Tuesday night called on the world's Communist parties to prepare for an international conference on Marxist unity.

But a declaration issued at the end of a two-day meeting of the Soviet Communist party's ruling central committee stressed that a Marxist conference should be well prepared for by consultations among the various Communist parties.

Observers said the emphasis on the need for preparation was a gesture to allay doubts about the conference expressed by many influential European parties, especially that of Romania.

Informed sources said the meeting probably will take plaee next summer. It would be the first such international gathering since 1960.

The 195-member policy-making committee also denounced Chinese Leader Mao Tse-tung for taking China into a "new dangerous phase" of policy.

The declaration was the first official party statement in more than two years to personally attack the Chinese party chairman.

It said China's present policies had "nothing in common with Marxism-Leninism" and accused China's leaders of action which assisted imperialism.

The committee said the "great power, anti-Soviet policy of Mao Tse-tung and his group has entered a new, dangerous phase" and it was "necessary to expose resolutely the anti - Leninist views and the great power nationalistic course of the present Chinese leaders."

Tass news agency said the central committee voted full approval for Kremlin policy toward China and on Vietnam after hearing a foreign policy statement by Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev. The Brezhnev statement was delivered Monday but not made public.

Non-Red Polish Chief Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, 65, last non-Communist premier of Poland, died at his home in Maryland Tuesday.

The death of the former leader of the Polish Peasant party was attributed tentatively to a heart attack.

Mikolajczyk came into prominence during the Second World War as acting president and then as president of the Polish Parliament in exile.

When the refugee regime moved to London, after the fall of France, he became vice-premier and interior minister in the Polish exile government. In that capacity he directed activities of the Polish underground other German-controlled areas in his native country and in of Eastern Europe.

After succeeding to the premiership in 1944, Mikolajczyk came to Washington to seek President Franklin D. Roosevelt's intervention against Soviet domination of Poland.

Fearing for his safety in 1947, Mikolajczyk secretly left Poland and came to the United States after a short stay in London.

Since 1948 Mikolajczyk has lived in Chevy Chase, Md., a Washington suburb.

'HORRIBLE METHOD' OF MURDER, SUICIDE

Airline Pilots Want Airport Insurance Sales Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale of trip insurance at airports should be banned to stop the "horrible method" of murder or suicide by aircraft sabotage, a pilots group told a Commons committee Tuesday.

The Canadian Air Line Pilots Association presented a brief to the Commons committee on justice and legal affairs detailing 11 crashes since 1949 which it said represent "the majority of the 18 known or suspected" cases of aircraft sabotage.

"Eight of the 11 definitely involved air travel insurance," the brief added.

Two of the crashes detailed were in Canada.

The first was in 1949 near Quebec City. Albert Guay was subsequently convicted and executed for planting a bomb on the plane to kill his wife.

The other was a crash near 100 Mile House, B.C., in 1965 of a CPA plane after an explosion that blew off the tail. There has been intensive investigation but no charges have as yet resulted.

ELIMINATE ALL SALES

P. C. Hamilton, president of the group that represents 1,100 pilots on five scheduled Canadian carriers, said the pilots want to see all sales of trip insurance at airports eliminated. This included both coin-operated vending machines and counter operations where information is taken down by a clerk.

Air travel had become commonplace and safer than some forms of transport.

But railway and bus terminals didn't install trip insurance machines or counters.

"And gas stations don't sell highway insurance," added Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon), a private pilot.

Mr. Hamilton said the pilots aren't trying to prevent people from buying travel insurance. But they should do it through regular agents who would be sure to make checks into the purchaser's background.

Discussion was on a motion made by Ron Basford (L—Vancouver - Burrard) in the Commons that the government consider banning insurance vending machines.

PUBLIC WANTS INSURANCE

Earlier, the committee heard from transport department officials.

Deputy Minister J. R. Baldwin said his department is neither "strongly for nor strongly against" insurance sales at the airports. It had allowed such services to be provided because there had been a public demand for them.

Last year, because of public concern over a possible link between insurance sales and sabotage, the department studied the available information and found no apparent connection between vending machines and sabotage.

He and department officials emphasized that data was difficult to put together in such matters and that there had been only one proved case—the 1949 Quebec crash—in Canada when the study was carried out.

Department figures for 1965 showed some 67,596 policies were sold through machines, 321,304 across airport counters and 9,148 were handled by the airlines themselves. This amounted to about eight per cent of the 5,447,440 passengers boarding at Canadian airports during the year.

Canada Abstains

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The special political committee of the General Assembly said Monday that South Africa's apartheid racial policy is a threat to peace and must be met by universal and mandatory economic sanctions. Canada was among 12 countries abstaining on the Afro-Asian resolution, which passed by 87 to 1.

Pair Acquitted of Robbery Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia Supreme Court jury today found two men charged in connection with Vancouver's $1,200,000 mutilated money robbery not guilty of robbery.

The verdict was directed by Mr. Justice Victor Dryer, on behalf of Joseph Percival, 37, and James McDougall, 32, at the conclusion of arguments by prosecution and defence lawyers.

The two men are also charged with possession of more than $1,000,000 of the money. The jury was to consider the possesion charges late today following further arguments.

B.C. Mineral Output Soars

British Columbia's mineral production zoomed $51 million this year to break its previous record for the eighth year running, Mines and Petroleum Minister Donald Brothers said today.

He placed the total value of 1966 production at $331.7 million according to the preliminary estimates.

U.S. Offers To 'Discuss' Truce

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States would be "willing to discuss" an extended ceasefire beyond the Christmas and New Year holidays in Vietnam, the White House said today.

AIRPORT WORKERS

Strike Killing Bill Set

OTTAWA (CP)—An aroused opposition demanded, and got, an emergency Commons debate today on the threatened strike of air traffic controllers.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave notice in the Commons today of emergency legislation to block a threatened strike of air traffic controllers next Tuesday and immediately ran into opposition criticism.

"They're using a club," Opposition Leader Diefenbaker interjected at one point just after Revenue Minister Benson announced the plan to introduce legislation that would outlaw the strike.

Michael Starr said the government didn't have to resort to legislation. It could end the dispute at once by agreeing to accept wage recommendations made in an inquiry report by I. B Robinson.

The former Conservative labor minister referred to Judge Robinson as a "conciliator."

Mr. Benson leaped to his feet in protest. The judge had not been appointed to conciliate the wage dispute.

Mr. Starr said Judge Robinson "certainly was an arbitrator." Anybody with knowledge of labor matters knew exactly what the judge's job had been.

He said there has been "an aura of mystery" in the government's approach. It kept insisting that negotiations were going well at the same time as it threatened legislative action.

It was "pretended progress."

HOPES ARE HIGH

Mr. Benson reported that negotiations Wednesday morning indicated both sides were prepared to show greater flexibility and hope remained high for a voluntary agreement.

There would be further talks with representatives of the 800 airport controllers. These would go on today and Friday "as long as there is any hope of a settlement."

Mr. Benson said the anti-strike legislation would be introduced as soon as the rules permit. The government has also proposed overtime sittings Friday night and Saturday to deal with it.

He emphasized that he hoped this action would not be needed.

A strike deadline of 8 a.m. local times Tuesday Dec. 20, was set after the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association reported that members voted 578 to 33 in favor of strike action.

However, J. D. Lyon, president of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association, told reporters that no significant progress could be reported.

Was the situation hopeful?

"At this stage, I couldn't say either way," Mr. Lyon said.

The union is demanding that the government adopt wage recommendations made by Judge J. B. Robinson in a report he handed to the cabinet

Retaliation Cry By North Viet

(Times News Services)

The Communists charged that United States jets raided Hanoi and its suburbs today for the second day in a row. Radio Hanoi declared eight American aircraft, including a pilotless reconnaissance plane, were shot down.

There was no immediate comment from the U.S. command, which earlier said it could not confirm or deny the Communist claim that American bombs fell inside the North Vietnamese capital Tuesday and that women and children were killed.

North Vietnam called on its army and the Viet Cong today to retaliate for the U.S. air raids.

In Washington, the State Department said today American policy was to bomb only "military or military-associated targets" in North Vietnam.

But it still left unclear whether any U.S. bombs may have fallen on civilians or homes on the edges of Hanoi.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said in a Hanoi dispatch relayed from Moscow that American planes raided the city today for about 90 minutes.

"As yesterday," the Tass correspondent said, "they bombed the right and left banks of the Red River, the embankment and the area of the bridge linking Hanoi with its suburb Zyalam.

'Pirates Met by Dense A-A Fire'

"The air pirates were met with dense anti-aircraft fire. Numerous bursts clouded the clear sky. A rocket soared up, leaving a white trail behind. I saw a U.S. plane catch fire and parachute detach from the plane."

Agence France-Presse in a Hanoi dispatch from its correspondent, Jacques Moalic, said U.S. planes carried out their largest and heaviest raid yet on Hanoi. He quoted Hanoi radio as saying that eight planes were shot down and more damaged. Moalic quoted the North Vietnamese foreign ministry as saying that more than 100 persons were killed or injured in the raid Tuesday and today.

The Hanoi correspondent for the Italian Communist party organ l'Unita said that U.S. planes dropped bombs and napalm (jellied gasoline) on two populated districts only 1,200 yards from the centre of Hanoi. The correspondent in what was claimed to be an eyewitness account said "there was a massacre" among the 500 families living in the area.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported that American bombers attacked a rail yard six miles northeast of Hanoi Tuesday and a truck depot five miles south of the capital.

He said both targets were in swamp and rice paddy areas well outside the city proper.

The North Vietnamese charged that U.S. pilots bombed and strafed "many quarters inside and near Hanoi" and said the raids constituted "an extremely dangerous step of war escalation."

RED THREAT REDUCED

NATO Eyes Peace Role

By HAROLD MORRISON

PARIS (CP)—A Canadian official said today the first morning session of the NATO ministerial conference produced a strong consensus that vast political changes in Europe had reduced the nature of the Soviet military threat, thus opening the way for a sweeping East-West peace offensive.

The official also said that virtual unanimity on the decline of the Soviet threat led to agreement that "realistic" military goals can be adopted from the alliance—an indication that the so called force goals may be reduced.

Aside from the formal exchange of views in the NATO council chamber, the official reported that corridor talk indicated gathering opinion that Canada should become a member of the planned NATO nuclear strategy group which likely will be nailed down in the afternoon session.

He said this feeling that Canada should become one of the rotating members of the group appears to be based on arguments that Canada has a nuclear operational role, that she has displayed a commonsense approach and is capable of imposing a "moderating" influence on the Western nuclear trigger.

MARTIN AND RUSK TALK

Britain Resists Oil Blockade

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Britain sought today to dissuade African members of the UN Security Council from pressing for a tight oil embargo of Rhodesia which could only be enforced by a naval blockade of all southern Africa.

Britain's Lord Caradon asked for urgent consultation with the Africans after Uganda introduced amendments Tuesday to a British resolution calling for mandatory sanctions against 12 Rhodesian exports.

The amendments call on Britain to "prevent by all means the transport to Southern Rhodesia of oil or oil products."

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 15-nation council last week his government would consider applying a limited oil embargo. Britain had in mind, however, a ban that would affect only Rhodesia and not involve a confrontation with Portugal and South Africa, Britain's fourth biggest trading partner.

The Africans said that an oil ban only on Rhodesia would be meaningless since both Portugal and South Africa have said they would continue supplying the rebel regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith. Both ship by overland routes.

British sources said the only way to stop this trade would be to bomb the land routes or to stretch a naval blockade from

CHILD, FATHER KILLED

70 Families Evacuated After Truck-Train Crash

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — More than 70 families, numbering some 300 persons, remained away from their homes north of here today after a level crossing accident which killed a small boy and his father.

The families were evacuated Tuesday night by police, who feared possible explosion of 2,600 gallons of liquid propane, leaking slowly from a railway tank car wrecked in the crash of a loaded five-ton sand truck and a 115-car CPR freight train.

The crash piled railway cars as high as 80 feet, derailing two diesel locomotives and 22 cars. Two train men suffered minor injuries.

Police said they believe the dead are Allen Feeney, 30, of Pickering and son Stephen, 4.

While experts gingerly pumped the propane into tank trucks today, police said it will probably be late Thursday before the residents are allowed to return home.

Some jammed nearby motels but most found shelter with friends or relatives. Two public schools in the area were closed until the risk passes.

The boy's body was found at the side of the tracks. The man's body was not found because the tangled mass of wreckage cannot be cleared until the propane is dissipated.

Extra provincial police were brought into the area 20 miles east of Toronto to notify residents that homes must be evacuated over a three-square-mile area.

Railway officials said they expect the main line to Montreal will be blocked for at least 48 hours. Wrecker trains stood by, waiting for word it was safe to move into the scene.

FOUR BLOCKS CLOSED OFF

Tanker Truck Crash Dumps Gas on Ice

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Police blocked off four downtown blocks today while firemen spread non-inflammable foam over a tanker and 400 gallons of gasoline that spilled when the truck crashed through the wall of a building.

The truck skidded on an icy curve, rolled down a 12-foot embankment and crashed rear-end-first through the wall of the Kamloops Curling Club.

About 400 gallons of the truck's 1,000-gallon load splashed onto a sheet of ice inside the curling club.

Fire Chief Tom Slater said 34-degree temperatures may have made the gasoline less volatile. Buildings in the area were not evacuated but pedestrian and motor traffic in the immediate vicinity was prohibited.

The driver of the truck escaped without serious injury.

JACKIE THREATENS ACTION TO STOP MAGAZINE PRESSES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy said today she will go to court and endure a "horrible" trial to prevent publication of William Manchester's "Death of the President" until "the minimum limits of my family's privacy can be protected".

In a rare public statement, issued at her Manhattan office, the former first lady accused the author and his publishers, Harper & Row and Look Magazine, of disregarding "accepted standards of propriety and good faith".

"I am shocked that Mr. Manchester would exploit the emotional state in which I recounted my recollections to him early in 1964 and I am equally shocked that reputable publishers would take commercial advantage of his failure to keep his word," she said. "To the author and publishers this book will be just another transient chapter in their work, but my children and I will have to live with it the rest of our lives."

The late president's widow had a summons served on both publishing companies Tuesday notifying them of imminent court action to block publication of the book and its serialization in Look Magazine.

The book is scheduled to be published in hard cover next April 7. Look plans to begin publication of the serial version in the Jan. 21 issue, which goes on newsstands Jan. 10.

JACKIE
. . . story too personal

Ironically, Manchester was hand-picked by the Kennedy family to do the definitive writing on the assassination to prevent distortion and sensationalism.

Close associates say that Mrs. Kennedy bared her innermost personal feelings to Manchester in about 10 hours of tape recording sessions. But Mrs. Kennedy believes she had an understanding that the book would not be published until Nov. 22, 1968, and that nothing would be printed without her approval.

It has also been reported that the Kennedy family, notably Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D—N.Y., the late president's brother, was disturbed about the political implications in the book, which reportedly contains an indelicate portrait of President Johnson immediately following the assassination.

"We're going ahead," said William Atwood, vice-president of Cowles. "The presses are already rolling. I don't see any way it can be stopped. There is nothing to interfere with our right to publish. This summons is just a piece of paper. It doesn't say anything."

Atwood said he was "very puzzled" by Mrs. Kennedy's objections to the book. He said it was "hard to say" what she found objectionable about it.

CHILDREN OF ASIA FUND

A SPECIAL WAY OF CHRISTMAS GIVING

By CANDIDE TEMPLE

For one Victoria aunt, Christmas is a special way of giving.

No toys and dolls and ice-skates for her to shop for and wrap with loving care.

Her seven nieces and nephews, ranging from six years old to near adults, get a very special present each Christmastime.

It's a contribution, in their names, to the Times' annual fund to help Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova's Unitarian Service Committee in its worldwide relief work.

And for their aunt, a retired teacher and a widow who lives in Victoria, it's the best way she knows to wish the youngsters a happy Christmas and teach them a little kindly concern for less fortunate children overseas.

Three of the children, Carol-Anne, David and Janet, live not too far away, in Seattle.

Two more, Gregg and Scott, live in Minneapolis, and two others, six-year-old twins Patricia and Pamela, live in New Brunswick.

That is a long way away—at least "it is for me," says their aunt with a smile.

For 13 years now she has been wishing them happy holidays through the Times USC fund.

And every year to let them know of their present, she sends the Times clipping about her contribution to each of the families.

Other contributions to the Share with Asian Children Fund may be sent care of the newspaper or made at the main branch, Bank of Montreal, 1225 Douglas St.

'Terrible' Bloodletting Feared

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court told the Yale senior class Tuesday that the United States is arming dictators to "make revolution impossible."

Douglas, a member of the Yale law school faculty in the 1930s, said he is opposed to what he said was a tendency in Washington to support dictatorships in various parts of the world.

"There's very little democracy in the world," he said. "We've been arming the dictators of the world and there will be a terrible, terrible bloodletting.

"There are not enough guns, not enough bombs to put all future revolutions down."

Appeal Planned Against Loss Of CIA Lawsuit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Erik Heine of Toronto will meet with his counsel in New York this weekend to shape an appeal against dismissal of a $110,000 slander suit he launched against an agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

His counsel said Monday the appeal may be launched next Monday.

District Judge Roszel Thomsen of Baltimore dismissed Heine's suit against Juri Raus, an acknowledged CIA agent last Thursday.

Heine had sued Raus on the grounds that Raus told some members of the North American Estonian community in a New York meeting in 1963 that Heine was a Soviet agent.

Heine and Raus are both Estonian-born and active in the affairs of the emigre community.

Raust, the CIA and the U.S. justice department successfully argued that Raus' role as a CIA agent made him immune to the slander action — that he had called Heine a Communist agent on CIA orders.

Sews Arm Back On

LUCERNE, Switzerland (Reuters)—A doctor has successfully sewed back in position a youth's left arm which was chopped off in an accident last Wednesday. The accident happened last Wednesday when the youth was operating a cutting machine in a factory. He was taken to hospital but in the flurry his arm was forgotten and the operation had to be delayed an hour while it was brought.

Vietnamese Communist party, called on its army and the Viet Cong to "avenge the people of Hanoi." Following the last American raids near Hanoi early in December, the Viet Cong attacked Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base.

Viet Cong guerrillas inflicted heavy casualties on a detachment of U.S. marines and South Vietnamese troops at separate outposts before dawn today.

One target was a post manned by a platoon from a company of the 3rd Battalion, U.S. 5th Marine Regiment, on the perimeter of the big marine base at Chu Lai, 52 miles south of Da Nang.

The othef was the headquarters of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Regiment of South Vietnam's 2nd Division, about 70 miles south of Da Nang.

No figures were announced on specific losses.

WE SHOULD QUIT NATO, SAYS GREEN

VANCOUVER (CP)— Howard Green, former minister of external affairs, said Tuesday Canada should consider dropping out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization when the present treaty expires in 1969.

"Canada is overplaying her hand trying to help run Europe," he told a service club.

Mr. Green said that during his term of office as external affairs minister, 1959 to 1963, there was "a terrible tension" between the United States and Russia.

But he said the reduction in tension between the U.S. and Russia has downgraded the position of many of the middle-power nations, including Canada.

MONSTER? No. Just a patrol (air cushion) vehicle searching for Viet Cong in South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta. Viet Cong screamed "quai vat" (monster) when one of the vehicles approached them during a recent operation. Based on the British hovercraft, it rides on a four-and-a-half-foot cushion of air and can travel 65 miles an hour. (CP Wirephoto.)

NEW CHANCELLOR

Pushes French Relations

By CARL HARTMAN

BONN (AP)—Under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the West German government can be expected to show a lot more interest in good relations with French President de Gaulle and the Soviet bloc and less in reunification with East Germany and Berlin.

This is the picture that emerges from Kiesinger's first statement Tuesday to the Bundestag, traditionally a painstaking product of pulling and hauling within a new government. This one was even harder to produce since Foreign Minister Willy Brandt and his Social Democrats were taking part for the first time with Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

The changes from former chancellor Ludwig Erhard's statement of policy 13 months ago are marked.

Erhard limited himself to a brief and mild statement on France.

Kiesinger's message came out loud and clear.

"The decisive role for the future of Europe revolves on the development of German-French relations, he said. "Peace and order in Europe, hoped for by both East and West, is unthinkable without a close and confidential relationship between Germany and France."

Erhard set reunification as the main goal of his government's policy. He put the blame for failure to achieve this on the Soviet Union and its "threats and ultimatums."

Kiesinger put the will to peace and understanding among peoples as the basis of West German policy. Reunification, he said mildly, had been prevented by "political conditions" and there was no foreseeing when it would come about.

He had no reproaches for the Russians, such as have been prominent in most past West German speeches on foreign policy. Kiesinger said he wanted to "maintain relations with all peoples, based on understanding, mutual trust and the will to co-operation."

Kiesinger promised more boldly to establish diplomatic relations, too, "where circumstances make it possible."

Both said Germany's borders could be settled only in a Second World War peace treaty, but Kiesinger took note of Poland's desire for a "state with guaranteed borders."

Where Erhard failed to mention Munich agreement of 1938, under which Hitler seized the Sudetenland, Kiesinger said more boldly: "The federal republic condemns Hitler's policy of destroying the bonds of the Czechoslovak state. It agrees that the Munich accord, drawn up under the threat of force, is no longer valid."

Slim Hopes Fading For Opening of Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany Tuesday demanded diplomatic recognition as the price for opening the Berlin wall for family reunions over the Christmas holidays.

The demand dashed the slim hopes still held that German families split by the wall might be able to meet again this Christmas as they did the last three Christmases.

The West steadfastly has refused to sign any new wall pass agreement that would grant the Soviet zone state recognition.

The east-west deadlock meant the wall would remain closed for Berliners over the holidays as it is the rest of the year.

The East German position on holiday passes was outlined by Gerhard Kegel, foreign office official with the rank of minister, in a commentary in the East Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung:

"We must insist on correct and legal agreements of the sort that are concluded all over the world by two partners who want something from each other."

'Dead' Woman Found Alive To Foil Insurance Fraud

NEW YORK (AP—A 27-year-old woman research analyst, reported dead five months ago, has been found alive in what authorities describe as a bizarre plot by her and two male companions to defraud two insurance companies by staging her accidental drowning.

Miriam Lindenmaier, who was employed as a $5,500-a-year analyst for a Manhattan firm for more than six years before she disappeared, was found working as a waitress in a restaurant in White Plains, N.Y.

She was arrested Tuesday in her hotel room where she was registered under the name of Elizabeth Pangborn, authorities said.

One of the accused men, Alvin Brodie, 34, a construction worker named by authorities as the father of Miss Lindenmaier's unborn child, was alleged to have promised her that they could go to Spain with the $36,000 in insurance money.

Miss Lindenmaier, Brodie, and a second man, Thomas Martin, 26, a New York elevator operator, were arraigned Tuesday night in Bronx criminal court.

CHARGES LAID

They were charged with attempted grand larceny and conspiracy by "staging the accidental death" of Miss Lindenmaier in Long Island Sound.

Burton B. Roberts, chief assistant Bronx district attorney, said that last July 9 the trio rented a dory with an outboard motor. About two hours later, Roberts continued, the two men told police that the boat had capsized and that Miss Lindenmaier had drowned.

Roberts said two insurance policies, with Brodie as beneficiary, aroused his suspicion. In addition, the girl was reported to be an excellent swimmer.

The policies, one for $10,000 and the other for $8,000, provided a double indemnity, or a total of $36,000 in case of accidental death.

Roberts said that Brodie had made claims for the insurance proceeds to both companies but neither had paid off.

NEW WARNING

'Axeman' Changes Clothing

LONDON (AP)—Prison garb believed worn by Britain's "mad axeman" was found today 24 miles from Dartmoor prison.

Frank Mitchell, 37, who escaped into the mists of Dartmoor two nights ago, apparently had eluded two police cordons and Royal Marine commandos who joined in the manhunt.

A senior police officer said a prison jacket, dungarees, shirt and gumboots were found on the main trunk road from London to the west country.

"We are reasonably sure that it's Mitchell's clothing," the officer said.

New warnings went out in the entire area to keep homes locked. Mitchell has a record of violence with hatchets or axes which put him behind bars for life in 1958.

Police were investigating a report that shortly after his escape, Mitchell had a quiet drink at an inn on the moor. Bob Roberts, proprietor of the Peter Tavy Inn, said he saw "a huge man dressed in green denims having a chat and a quiet drink" at the bar.

VIOLENT RAGES

Mitchell, a man of massive strength and violent rages, had served eight years of a life sentence for robbery with violence. He slipped away from a working party on the moor eight miles from the prison at dusk Monday.

Criticism mounted in Parliament over the decision to allow Mitchell to join the working party outside. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins bore the brunt of the attacks.

Five Conservative members tabled a motion in the House of Commons demanding an immediate inquiry into why Mitchell—with his fearsome record of violence—was allowed to leave the prison in a working party escorted by only one warder.

Pieces of Skin Took Space Ride In Radiation Test

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia tested the effects of outer space on human skin prior to launching the first cosmonaut by sending up skin samples from three doctors in an unmanned satellite, the Soviet labor newspaper Trud disclosed today.

Trud said small pieces of skin were taken from the shoulders and legs of three Soviet doctors, placed in sterilized glass bottles and launched into space Aug. 19, 1960, to test the effects of cosmic rays.

Three days later, the article said, the skin was returned to the laboratory of the experimental biology institute in Moscow and grafted back on the doctors, along with other tissues which had not been exposed to space.

The skin which has been in space took root eight days after the test samples which had been kept in the laboratory, Trud said, showing that men could fly in space without fear of damage to their skin.

Yuri Gagarin, the first cosmonaut, made his historic flight in April, 1961.

BRIEF PRESENTED

Labor Asks Law Ban Injunctions

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The 126,000-member B.C. Federation of Labour today asked for legislation outlawing all injunctions in industrial disputes.

The request was made in a 13-page brief on injunctions given to Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black at a 70-minute meeting this morning.

Federation president E. T. Staley of Victoria led a five-man delegation representing both the federation and the Canadian Labour Congress.

One month ago, the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association mailed a six-page letter and statement to Premier Bennett urging retention of injunctions in industrial disputes.

Mr. Staley said the delegation was given an "attentive audience" and the cabinet ministers were interested in labor legislation in other countries, where injunctions are almost unknown.

"We are hopeful there will be serious attention by the government to these problems," he said.

HEARINGS

"We would be extremely hopeful that after the last several years the government will see fit to have the standing committee on labor (of the legislature) act to hold hearings this session and it might be able to bring in recommendations."

This year, 14 union officials in B.C. have received jail terms for offences against injunctions.

Federation secretary Ray Haynes told reporters this always seems to have to happen before "people realized how serious the situation is."

Attorney-General Bonner said "it was a good brief" but it did not bring out any new points and was faulty in several places.

"But the brief, naturally, will be studied further. I've only read it once so far."

UNFORTUNATE

Mr. Bonner thought it "unfortunate that judges and courts were singled out" by the brief and he said its claim that men had been sent to jail for protesting the injunction law "in my humble opinion was not a statement of fact.

"People have run afoul of the court on contempt proceedings which involved a court order."

He was not aware of any joint discussion by provincial governments regarding injunctions "although the plain fact is that injunction law is just about the same all across Canada.

"If anything, B.C. has moved away from ex-parte injunctions by limiting them to four days (duration)."

He added that the brief's statement there are no injunctions used in labor disputes in Great Britain because collective bargaining agreements have no legal status raised an interesting question whether B.C. labor wants legal status removed from its agreements.

"There was brief discussion on this but no conclusion was reached," he said.

The federation's brief said Canada is the only country in the western world "beset by the problem of labor injunctions.

"There is no basis whatsoever, therefore, for the assertion that there is no alternative to the labor injunction as experience in all other countries proves," the brief said.

"In Britain there is a singular lack of labor law (e.g., no legal collective agreement) and, therefore, few grounds for the granting of injunctions.

LAST RESORT

"In the United States the matter was finally resolved by the Norris-La Guardia Act of 1932 which so limits the applicability of the injunction that it remains what it was originally intended to be, a last resort, used only under extraordinary conditions."

The number of applications for injunctions in B.C. has jumped from 70 between 1946 and 1955 to 280 between 1956 and 1965.

Of the latest 280 applications, 224 were for ex-parte injunctions — court orders issued on the application of one side without the other being heard.

The vast majority of injunctions were in the Vancouver area with particular emphasis on such industries as construction and shipping.

The brief concluded there has been "a purposeful resort to the use of injunctions as a weapon against labor, encouraged by the ease with which these are granted, particularly those on affidavit evidence (ex-parte) where there exists no right of cross-examination by the defendant."

It also said the injunction "decidedly favors management" with 85 per cent of court orders directed against picketing, without which "there can be no effective strike."

The B.C. Federation of Labour recalled it has presented briefs since 1960 "but the request fell on deaf ears."

Picketing was described as an exercise of the rights of freedom of speech and of association and "judges should be a great deal more cautious than they are about issuing orders that curtail or even deny completely these fundamental rights."

Judges were appointed by Liberal and Conservative governments "and the appointments go to lawyers who have served in the Liberal and Conservative parties."

At the same time, about one-third of the people of B.C. vote for the New Democratic Party in federal and provincial elections and these people "are by and large made up of working people who are part of the trade union movement.

"So long as the courts continue to intervene in labor disputes ex-parte, they will be open to the charge they are biased against labor, owing to the political background of the judges."

$2.8 Million Paid Out From Fund

VANCOUVER (CP) — The traffic victims' indemnity fund has paid out $419,933 on 47 claims it settled in the three months ending March 31, the royal commission on automobile insurance was told Tuesday.

The commission was told that since the fund's inception in 1961, 990 claims have been settled, with a payout of $2,890,135.

Purpose of the fund is to compensate persons injured in traffic accidents involving offending drivers who are uninsured, who have no assets or who can not be found.

Costs of the fund are paid for out of insurance premiums collected from motorists. Each of the 200 companies in B.C. is assessed by the fund in proportion to the company's premium income, with the largest amounts to the fund.

Ken F. V. Malthouse, B.C. manager of the All-Canada Insurance Federation, told the commission the protection provided by the fund is up to $50,000 for claims arising out of bodily injury or death and up $5,000 for property damage.

MSA Members Climb

VANCOUVER (CP)—Medical Services Association Monday reported a substantial increase in membership in 1966. "The total number of persons covered by MSA as of Aug. 31, 1966, was 657,735, an increase of 43,133 persons during the year," the directors' annual report said.
